Kennedy Chooses Cox To Be Solicitor General

Zuckert Named Air Secretary

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Harvard man John F. Kennedy reached into the Harvard Law School Wednesday and tapped Prof. Archibald Cox, a close political ally, to be solicitor general of the United States. Cox will be the government's chief advocate before the U.S. Supreme Court.

President-elect Kennedy also named Washington attorney Eugene Zuckert, once assistant dean of the Harvard Business School, to be secretary of the air force in the new administration.

Both Cox and Zuckert have broad backgrounds of prior service in the government. Each served for a time in the office he now will head.

Cox, 48, was coordinator during the presidential campaign of a team of professors who supplied Kennedy with background material for statements and speeches.

Arbitrated Labor Disputes

He did stints in the government with the National Defense Mediation Board and the State and Labor Departments, as well as in the office of solicitor general, as an attorney from 1941 to 1943.

In 1958 and 1959, Cox advised Kennedy on the handling of labor reform legislation. He also has arbitrated numerous labor disputes.

As solicitor general of the United States, Cox will argue personally before the Supreme Court major cases in which the government is involved. The office of the solicitor general also passes on what cases should be appealed when they are lost by the government in lower courts.

Zuckert was assistant secretary of the air force from 1947 to 1952. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., held then the post Zuckert will take over.

Army Post Still Unfilled

Kennedy now has chosen two of three of the civilian heads of the military service. The appointment for the Army is yet to come.

John B. Connally Jr., Fort Worth, Tex., attorney and close associate of Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, was given the Navy post Tuesday.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, was asked whether an appointment is contemplated for Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. as assistant secretary of the navy—a position the late President Roosevelt held during World War I.

"I wouldn't make a comment on that," Salinger replied.

A former House member who now is an automobile dealer in Washington, Roosevelt is coming here to confer with Kennedy Friday—for an unannounced purpose.

U.S. Plane Hit By Laos Rebel Or Russ Fire

Aircraft Attacked While Observing Soviet Supply Drop

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—An attack on an unarmed U.S. plane north of Vientiane focused attention Wednesday on a valley where Soviet airdrops are building up rebel forces.

The plane was hit Tuesday as it flew over the valley to observe a Soviet transport plane dropping supplies to leftist rebels rallying there to battle the pro-Western regime in Laos.

Whether the gunfire came from the jungle or from the Soviet plane was not clear by accounts furnished the U.S. Embassy.

Rebels Want Secrecy

But this first attack on an observation plane indicated that the rebels no longer will tolerate the aerial reconnaissance that has followed their flight from the lost battle of Vientiane.

One reason for a sudden desire for secrecy is that Communist North Viet Nam may be sending in soldiers to help the rebels. One source returning from the valley said he saw North Vietnamese land there from Soviet planes and estimated 100 were now in the valley.

The U.S. plane, a twin-engine Dakota belonging to the U.S. Air Force attache's office, carried Maj. Armand Riser of Arlington, Va., who is assistant military attache, and a crew of four.

Plane Returns To Vientiane

The attache's office reported the plane was hit in the left engine and fuselage by small-caliber fire but made it back to Vientiane without injury to those aboard.

The plane was flying on reconnaissance at the Laotian government's request over Vangvieng, a village located in a mountain-ringed valley 65 miles north of Vientiane.

Vangvieng is where Capt. Kong Le's paratroops halted their retreat from Vientiane after being driven out by pro-Western forces of Premier Boun Oum in mid-December. They are supported by pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas.

Police, insurance and FBI officials are working to determine the exact amount taken. Rasdale said from two to four men pulled off the robbery and "knew exactly what they wanted." Police Battle Mob Of 5,000 In Brussels

Tear Gas Is Used On Demonstrators In Ghent Outbreak

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Police battled 5,000 workers in Brussels Wednesday and used tear gas on demonstrators in Ghent as violence mounted in the Socialist strike against the government.

Union leaders in the big port of Antwerp called a general strike to protest police use of tear gas against strikers at Ghent.

New and larger demonstrations were called for Thursday to bolster the drive to pull down Premier Gaston Eyskens' government.

A spokesman for the Socialist-led General Workers Federation, spearhead of the angry resentment against the government's planned new austerity program, predicted 50,000 supporters would turn out in Brussels Thursday.

1950 Split Recalled

The Socialists, demonstrating against Eyskens' coalition of Social Christians and Liberals for eight days, say the austerity and tax reform program is too hard on the working classes and favors the rich. The program is designed to recoup the loss in revenue since Belgium gave the rich Congo its independence this summer.

The country is split along roughly the same lines as in 1950, when Socialists rioted against King Leopold and forced him to abdicate because he had refused to form an exile government during the wartime German occupation.

The current strike campaign has paralyzed the industrial and French-speaking south, stronghold of the Socialists' support. But many workers in the Flemish-speaking north, who are allied with Social Christian unions, did not join in. Socialist unions have about 700,000 members, Social Christian about 800,000.

20 Women Pickets Arrested

No loss of life was reported in the riots although there were a number of injuries and arrests. Twenty women pickets were arrested in the southern industrial center of Liege and held for brief identity checks. The pickets, led by a Socialist woman municipal councillor, tried to stop postmen from going to work.

In this uneasy capital, a shouting knot of men dragged a driver from his bus and roughed him up before he was rescued by police. Hurling stones, steel bolts and nuts, demonstrators elsewhere in Brussels smashed the windows of a streetcar.

Doris Day Tops In Boxoffice Poll

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Doris Day, famed as one of the screen's most wholesome stars, was named Wednesday as the top moneymaker by the men who run the nation's theaters.

Her selection in the annual top 10 poll conducted by Motion Picture Herald, the trade magazine of exhibitors, came in a year when movie fare leaned heavily to so-called adult love themes.

The magazine said Miss Day won the honor by a wide margin with three blockbuster pictures—"Pillow Talk," "Midnight Lace" and "Please Don't Eat the Daisies."

Runners-up in the balloting were, in order, Rock Hudson, Cary Grant, Elizabeth Taylor, Debbie Reynolds, Tony Curtis, Sandra Dee, Frank Sinatra, Jack Lemmon and John Wayne.

Tanker Ballast Setup Unusual

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A crewman of the broken tanker Pine Ridge told a Coast Guard board of investigation Wednesday he believed the ship structurally sound but considered the ballasting on her last voyage unusual.

Ray A. Noble, one of 29 survivors of last Wednesday's disaster off Cape Hatteras, N. C., which took seven lives, said the tanker left New York Dec. 20 with ballast in tanks 4 and 7. This was the first such arrangement since he went to sea in 1927, Noble said.

Noble, whose duties on the Pine Ridge included pumping seawater into tanks for ballast, was the first witness before the three-man board.

He said prior to the crackup, ballast had been let into tanks 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7. A more normal arrangement would have been to ballast in alternate tanks such as 3, 5 and 7, he said.

West Germany, Soviets Agree On Trade Pact

BERLIN (AP)—West Germany Wednesday reported agreement in its trade talks with the Soviet Union, but negotiations were still deadlocked with Communist East Germany. Failure could bring a New Year's crisis to isolated Berlin.

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer talked with Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov. When it was over a West German spokesman announced a new trade treaty would be signed probably before the end of the year. On Dec. 12, the Soviets had refused to sign the agreement.

The trouble was over Berlin. The Soviet Union would not stand for a supplementary West German statement that West Berlin belongs to West Germany's currency area. The Soviet Union wants to make West Berlin a free city, surrounded by Communist territory.

The spokesman did not say that the Soviet Union had agreed to a West Berlin clause. But if it has, that would raise hopes Communist East Germany will follow suit. West Berlin is also the chief snag in the talks between East and West Germany.

But in Berlin, negotiators for East and West Germany met for the seventh time in the current series of talks, conferred for 6½ hours and announced only that they would meet again Thursday.

East Germany has threatened "serious difficulties" in West Berlin if no agreement is reached by New Year's Eve.

The difficulties would hit the transport of people and freight across the 110 miles of Communist territory that separate West Berlin from West Germany. Nearly all the food for 2.2 million West Berliners comes this way. So do the supplies for the 10,000-man garrison kept in Berlin by the United States, Britain and France.

Pennsy Deep In Red

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad reported a November profit of $1,050,688. But with business still way down, America's biggest railroad said its deficit for the first 11 months of 1960 was a whopping $5,188,314.

Bombings Stir Union Purge

HAVANA (AP)—The new government-controlled leadership of the Electrical Workers Union announced a nationwide purge of members Wednesday night following daring daylight bombings of power installations and electric company offices.

The announcement was the first official confirmation of the bombings. Extension of the purge to other locals outside Havana also appeared to confirm reports of widespread dissension among the rank-and-file electrical workers.

A union spokesman said the ousted workers were adherents of deposed union leader Amaury Fraginals.

Fraginals earlier this month led an electrical workers' march on the presidential palace to protest efforts of the Confederation of Cuban Workers to impose pro-Communist elements in key union positions.

He was subsequently ousted from his job and the union leadership taken over by confederation people.

Kennedy Is Hawaii Winner By 115 Votes

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's confused recount of its first presidential ballots ended Wednesday with President-elect John F. Kennedy winning by 115 votes.

The recount of Hawaii's 240 precincts gave Kennedy 92,410 and Vice President Richard M. Nixon 92,295.

In a reversal of the state's certified Nov. 8 election returns, Circuit Court Judge Ronald B. Jamieson ruled, in effect, the three Hawaii electoral votes should have gone to Kennedy.

Nixon had been certified winner by 141 votes.

Democrats, almost certain Kennedy would win in the recount, filed their three unofficial electoral votes Dec. 19 at the time Hawaii's three Republican electors voted.

Former Mental Patient Seized; Shot Officers

JACKSON, Ky. (AP)—"I didn't burn no haystack," the meek little man said Wednesday from his jail cell, and there was no malice meant when he wounded two officers who tried to arrest him for it.

Still numb from spending the night in the eastern Kentucky mountains dressed only in street clothes, Granville Johnson, 43, said he wounded a deputy sheriff when he approached the Johnson home.

"I told him twice to stop," Johnson said. But the deputy kept coming "and I just cut loose."

Minutes later, Johnson said, he spotted a state trooper moving through some weeds. Johnson, by this time, was barricaded in his home with his wife and 10 children. The trooper was trying to reach the fallen officer.

"I fired at him," Johnson said, "but I was only trying to scare him."

The trooper, Sylvester Walters, caught the .22 slug in his shoulder, a wound that was not serious. Deputy Edgar Watkins was wounded in the chest with the sawed-off rifle. He was in fair condition.

"He's just a meek little man," Jailer Blaine Benton said of Johnson after his arrest. But the jailer had to admit no man is little—or meek—when they are firing at you with a gun in the rugged hill country.

Johnson, a former mental patient, first held off officers Wednesday night, firing through holes poked in the mud filling between the logs in the walls of his cadin.

His wife and 10 children—ranging from small tots to the middle teens—also were in the cabin, making it impossible for the police to return Johnson's fire.

Then he escaped into the darkness, with only a business suit and a sport shirt for warmth and his .22 rifle for protection.

The children saw him go, thinking he was going after coal for the fire. And they saw him come back, handcuffed and subdued.

Dennis Crosby Father Of Girl, Jury Decides

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jury decided Wednesday Bing Crosby's son, Dennis, is the father of a divorcee's illegitimate daughter.

Dennis, 26, had admitted intimacies with Marilyn Miller Scott but denied fathering her daughter, Denise Michelle, 3.

The jury deliberated one hour and 37 minutes before voting 9-3 that Dennis was the father. After the verdict by the nine mothers and three fathers on the jury, Crosby sat disconsolately for several moments in the courtroom.

When asked his opinion of the jury's decision, he said: "What can I say? They are the jury. They made the decision."

$400,000 Robbery Believed Inside Job

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Police said Wednesday the theft of more than $400,000 from the vault of an armored car firm apparently involved at least one employe of the company.

Officers began trimming their list of suspects in an effort to single out the individual who could lead to a break in one of Florida's largest burglaries.

Detectives and company officials estimated the vault contained about $1 million in cash and checks. How much cash was in the 19 stolen bags remained a question.

The money came from weekend receipts of seven Tampa firms firms and a shipment of cash for Gulf State Bank of nearby New Port Richey.

Police Inspector O. C. Beynon said several employes of Rasdale Armored Car Service Inc. had been questioned. He said FBI agents and detectives planned to call several others in for interrogation.

A. R. Rasdale, president of the firm, termed the theft "definitely an inside job. They knew what they were doing and timed the whole thing just right."

Asked how the thieves got into the vault, he replied, "They knew the combination."

Rasdale said at least two men used a key to enter the one-story building early Tuesday. When the door opened, lights flashed on and an alarm sounded at Tampa Signal Co. several blocks away.

One of the intruders followed the usual procedure of employes when they enter or leave the building during protective hours. He immediately called the signal company and gave a name and code number.

The man on duty at the signal company checked the information in his files. It didn't match and he called police.

No one else was in the building at the time, Rasdale said. He stated that the theft occurred during a 30-minute interval between the arrival times of armored cars at the building.

Rasdale theorized the men went directly to the vault after making the call, took what they could cart off in a few minutes and left before police arrived.

The robbery took five to six minutes, Rasdale said. He estimated two to four men made off with 19 bags of cash and checks.

"It was a beautifully engineered job," he said. The robbers set the vault's time lock for 72 hours, thereby keeping company officials out of the safe.

When the theft was first suspected later Tuesday, workmen using air drills took more than five hours to break through the concrete and steel side of the vault.

Truman Works On Schoolbook

NEW YORK (AP)—And now it's Harry S. Truman, schoolbook writer.

The former president disclosed Wednesday he is working on a schoolbook about the president's role in government.

Addressing a luncheon gathering, he confided: "I'll tell you a secret. I'm writing a schoolbook."

Wryly, he added: "It may never come out."

Anyway, he said, "It'll be a book on the government of the United States in relation to the Executive Department."

Truman spoke at a meeting of the Society of American Archivists, which made him an honorary life member and gave him an award for his interest in preserving official documents.

Goldfine Ends Hotel Holdout

BOSTON (AP) — Industrialist Bernard Goldfine—facing charges of federal income tax evasion—was ordered back to a hospital Wednesday but it took deputy U. S. marshals several hours to get him to leave his hotel.

Federal Judge George C. Sweeney issued the removal order during the morning. He seeks to determine the competency of the manufacturer to stand trial for alleged evasion of $791,745 in personal and corporate taxes.

Before Goldfine was taken to the hospital Wednesday, Judge Sweeney declined to admit him to bail. Goldfine's lawyer took initial steps toward appealing the ruling.

Goldfine, 70, gained notoriety through his gifts to high political figures, including Sherman Adams, former advisor to President Eisenhower.

He was discharged from a Washington, D. C., mental hospital last week in custody of his son, Solomon, for private psychiatric care. Solomon took his father to a Boston hotel after a family squabble at the airport over where Goldfine should stay.

U. S. Atty. Elliot L. Richardson said if Goldfine is well enough to be released he may be well enough to stand trial.

Judge Sweeney directed Goldfine be held until Jan. 10 when the court will act on Richardson's motion to determine Goldfine's fitness to stand trial.

Liberian Ship Sends Out Distress Signal

MANILA, Thursday (UPI) — U. S. Navy authorities said today they received a distress signal from a Liberian tanker in the South China Sea reporting "a series of explosions" that injured many crew members.

The Navy said receivers at Subic naval base near here picked up the distress signal Wednesday.

20 Massacred By Tribesmen

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Rampaging tribesmen pillaged a U.N.-guarded train taking African school children home for a New Year's holiday vacation Wednesday. A Katanga Province spokesman said at least 20 persons were killed and scores were injured, kidnaped and raped.

All the victims were believed to be Africans. It was not known whether Swedish troops guarding the train suffered casualties. U.N. military officials refused to comment.

Waves of tribesmen carrying spears, clubs, rifles, bows and arrows and machetes reportedly attacked the train three times along a 30-mile stretch of railway line about 150 miles west of here.

Several African women passengers, many of whom were mothers of children traveling on the train, were raped, the spokesman said.

He said the train, taking about 100 school children to their homes in western Katanga, left Elisabethville with some 300 passengers. When it reached Kamina there were only 40 persons left aboard.

Scientist Says:

U.S. A-Stockpile Equals 50,000 Hiroshima Bombs

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States now has a stockpile of atomic weapons roughly equal to 50,000 A-bombs of the size that smashed Hiroshima, a scientist said Wednesday.

In the next three years, the United States will add the equivalent of another 30,000 Hiroshima-type bombs.

The Hiroshima bomb packed the wallop of 20,000 tons of TNT. Current bombs of the same weight would explode with the power of 20 million tons of TNT.

These grim statistics on atomic arms were presented to the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting by Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, Arlington, Va., physicist.

Most Soviet cities are soft targets and would yield to nuclear weapons that produced a blast effect of three pounds per square inch, Lapp said.

The Atlas and Titan intercontinental missiles can carry warheads big enough to produce a blast effect of 100 pounds per square inch, he added.

U..S decision-makers are going to face the painful task — in case of war — of choosing whether to strike back at Soviet cities or military installations, Lapp stated.

If the Soviet Union and the United States are going to agree on a ban of testing nuclear weapons, it will have to come within another year, he said.

Jailing Threatened

Controversial N.Y. Police Head Cited For Contempt

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, who has set off many a row by ruling his department with an iron hand, was told Wednesday he'd be jailed if he didn't comply with a court order—quickly.

State Supreme Court Justice Arthur G. Klein cited Kennedy for contempt and termed his conduct in a case before the court insulting. The justice made plain that his patience was wearing thin.

Seldom if ever in history has the police head of the nation's largest city been dealt with in such terms. But seldom in history has New York's top cop been involved in so many controversies.

Justice Klein's wrath was unleashed on Kennedy in a case instituted by some 2,000 policemen on various departmental promotion lists.

They claimed Kennedy has been assigning men to higher ranking duties without designating them by the titles appropriate to the duties or advancing their pay accordingly. An example would be to give a man on the beat a sergeant's duties without the title or pay.

Those who brought the court action maintain this is unfair and jeopardizes their chances for actual promotions.

After the court move was launched last year, Justice Klein directed Kennedy to halt that procedure. Some time elapsed and the policemen told Klein that Kennedy was still doing it.

Pennsy Deep In Red

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad reported a November profit of $1,050,688. But with business still way down, America's biggest railroad said its deficit for the first 11 months of 1960 was a whopping $5,188,314.

Bombings Stir Union Purge

HAVANA (AP)—The new government-controlled leadership of the Electrical Workers Union announced a nationwide purge of members Wednesday night following daring daylight bombings of power installations and electric company offices.

The announcement was the first official confirmation of the bombings. Extension of the purge to other locals outside Havana also appeared to confirm reports of widespread dissension among the rank-and-file electrical workers.

A union spokesman said the ousted workers were adherents of deposed union leader Amaury Fraginals.

Fraginals earlier this month led an electrical workers' march on the presidential palace to protest efforts of the Confederation of Cuban Workers to impose pro-Communist elements in key union positions.

He was subsequently ousted from his job and the union leadership taken over by confederation people.

Kennedy Is Hawaii Winner By 115 Votes

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's confused recount of its first presidential ballots ended Wednesday with President-elect John F. Kennedy winning by 115 votes.

The recount of Hawaii's 240 precincts gave Kennedy 92,410 and Vice President Richard M. Nixon 92,295.

In a reversal of the state's certified Nov. 8 election returns, Circuit Court Judge Ronald B. Jamieson ruled, in effect, the three Hawaii electoral votes should have gone to Kennedy.

Nixon had been certified winner by 141 votes.

Democrats, almost certain Kennedy would win in the recount, filed their three unofficial electoral votes Dec. 19 at the time Hawaii's three Republican electors voted.

Former Mental Patient Seized; Shot Officers

JACKSON, Ky. (AP)—"I didn't burn no haystack," the meek little man said Wednesday from his jail cell, and there was no malice meant when he wounded two officers who tried to arrest him for it.

Still numb from spending the night in the eastern Kentucky mountains dressed only in street clothes, Granville Johnson, 43, said he wounded a deputy sheriff when he approached the Johnson home.

"I told him twice to stop," Johnson said. But the deputy kept coming "and I just cut loose."

Minutes later, Johnson said, he spotted a state trooper moving through some weeds. Johnson, by this time, was barricaded in his home with his wife and 10 children. The trooper was trying to reach the fallen officer.

"I fired at him," Johnson said, "but I was only trying to scare him."

The trooper, Sylvester Walters, caught the .22 slug in his shoulder, a wound that was not serious. Deputy Edgar Watkins was wounded in the chest with the sawed-off rifle. He was in fair condition.

"He's just a meek little man," Jailer Blaine Benton said of Johnson after his arrest. But the jailer had to admit no man is little—or meek—when they are firing at you with a gun in the rugged hill country.

Johnson, a former mental patient, first held off officers Wednesday night, firing through holes poked in the mud filling between the logs in the walls of his cadin.

His wife and 10 children—ranging from small tots to the middle teens—also were in the cabin, making it impossible for the police to return Johnson's fire.

Then he escaped into the darkness, with only a business suit and a sport shirt for warmth and his .22 rifle for protection.

The children saw him go, thinking he was going after coal for the fire. And they saw him come back, handcuffed and subdued.

Dennis Crosby Father Of Girl, Jury Decides

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jury decided Wednesday Bing Crosby's son, Dennis, is the father of a divorcee's illegitimate daughter.

Dennis, 26, had admitted intimacies with Marilyn Miller Scott but denied fathering her daughter, Denise Michelle, 3.

The jury deliberated one hour and 37 minutes before voting 9-3 that Dennis was the father. After the verdict by the nine mothers and three fathers on the jury, Crosby sat disconsolately for several moments in the courtroom.

When asked his opinion of the jury's decision, he said: "What can I say? They are the jury. They made the decision."

$400,000 Robbery Believed Inside Job

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Police said Wednesday the theft of more than $400,000 from the vault of an armored car firm apparently involved at least one employe of the company.

Officers began trimming their list of suspects in an effort to single out the individual who could lead to a break in one of Florida's largest burglaries.

Detectives and company officials estimated the vault contained about $1 million in cash and checks. How much cash was in the 19 stolen bags remained a question.

The money came from weekend receipts of seven Tampa firms firms and a shipment of cash for Gulf State Bank of nearby New Port Richey.

Police Inspector O. C. Beynon said several employes of Rasdale Armored Car Service Inc. had been questioned. He said FBI agents and detectives planned to call several others in for interrogation.

A. R. Rasdale, president of the firm, termed the theft "definitely an inside job. They knew what they were doing and timed the whole thing just right."

Asked how the thieves got into the vault, he replied, "They knew the combination."

Rasdale said at least two men used a key to enter the one-story building early Tuesday. When the door opened, lights flashed on and an alarm sounded at Tampa Signal Co. several blocks away.

One of the intruders followed the usual procedure of employes when they enter or leave the building during protective hours. He immediately called the signal company and gave a name and code number.

The man on duty at the signal company checked the information in his files. It didn't match and he called police.

No one else was in the building at the time, Rasdale said. He stated that the theft occurred during a 30-minute interval between the arrival times of armored cars at the building.

Rasdale theorized the men went directly to the vault after making the call, took what they could cart off in a few minutes and left before police arrived.

The robbery took five to six minutes, Rasdale said. He estimated two to four men made off with 19 bags of cash and checks.

"It was a beautifully engineered job," he said. The robbers set the vault's time lock for 72 hours, thereby keeping company officials out of the safe.

When the theft was first suspected later Tuesday, workmen using air drills took more than five hours to break through the concrete and steel side of the vault.

Truman Works On Schoolbook

NEW YORK (AP)—And now it's Harry S. Truman, schoolbook writer.

The former president disclosed Wednesday he is working on a schoolbook about the president's role in government.

Addressing a luncheon gathering, he confided: "I'll tell you a secret. I'm writing a schoolbook."

Wryly, he added: "It may never come out."

Anyway, he said, "It'll be a book on the government of the United States in relation to the Executive Department."

Truman spoke at a meeting of the Society of American Archivists, which made him an honorary life member and gave him an award for his interest in preserving official documents.

Goldfine Ends Hotel Holdout

BOSTON (AP) — Industrialist Bernard Goldfine—facing charges of federal income tax evasion—was ordered back to a hospital Wednesday but it took deputy U. S. marshals several hours to get him to leave his hotel.

Federal Judge George C. Sweeney issued the removal order during the morning. He seeks to determine the competency of the manufacturer to stand trial for alleged evasion of $791,745 in personal and corporate taxes.

Before Goldfine was taken to the hospital Wednesday, Judge Sweeney declined to admit him to bail. Goldfine's lawyer took initial steps toward appealing the ruling.

Goldfine, 70, gained notoriety through his gifts to high political figures, including Sherman Adams, former advisor to President Eisenhower.

He was discharged from a Washington, D. C., mental hospital last week in custody of his son, Solomon, for private psychiatric care. Solomon took his father to a Boston hotel after a family squabble at the airport over where Goldfine should stay.

U. S. Atty. Elliot L. Richardson said if Goldfine is well enough to be released he may be well enough to stand trial.

Judge Sweeney directed Goldfine be held until Jan. 10 when the court will act on Richardson's motion to determine Goldfine's fitness to stand trial.

20 Massacred By Tribesmen

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Rampaging tribesmen pillaged a U.N.-guarded train taking African school children home for a New Year's holiday vacation Wednesday. A Katanga Province spokesman said at least 20 persons were killed and scores were injured, kidnaped and raped.

All the victims were believed to be Africans. It was not known whether Swedish troops guarding the train suffered casualties. U.N. military officials refused to comment.

Waves of tribesmen carrying spears, clubs, rifles, bows and arrows and machetes reportedly attacked the train three times along a 30-mile stretch of railway line about 150 miles west of here.

Several African women passengers, many of whom were mothers of children traveling on the train, were raped, the spokesman said.

He said the train, taking about 100 school children to their homes in western Katanga, left Elisabethville with some 300 passengers. When it reached Kamina there were only 40 persons left aboard.

Scientist Says:

U.S. A-Stockpile Equals 50,000 Hiroshima Bombs

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States now has a stockpile of atomic weapons roughly equal to 50,000 A-bombs of the size that smashed Hiroshima, a scientist said Wednesday.

In the next three years, the United States will add the equivalent of another 30,000 Hiroshima-type bombs.

The Hiroshima bomb packed the wallop of 20,000 tons of TNT. Current bombs of the same weight would explode with the power of 20 million tons of TNT.

These grim statistics on atomic arms were presented to the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting by Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, Arlington, Va., physicist.

Most Soviet cities are soft targets and would yield to nuclear weapons that produced a blast effect of three pounds per square inch, Lapp said.

The Atlas and Titan intercontinental missiles can carry warheads big enough to produce a blast effect of 100 pounds per square inch, he added.

U..S decision-makers are going to face the painful task — in case of war — of choosing whether to strike back at Soviet cities or military installations, Lapp stated.

If the Soviet Union and the United States are going to agree on a ban of testing nuclear weapons, it will have to come within another year, he said.

Jailing Threatened

Controversial N.Y. Police Head Cited For Contempt

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, who has set off many a row by ruling his department with an iron hand, was told Wednesday he'd be jailed if he didn't comply with a court order—quickly.

State Supreme Court Justice Arthur G. Klein cited Kennedy for contempt and termed his conduct in a case before the court insulting. The justice made plain that his patience was wearing thin.

Seldom if ever in history has the police head of the nation's largest city been dealt with in such terms. But seldom in history has New York's top cop been involved in so many controversies.

Justice Klein's wrath was unleashed on Kennedy in a case instituted by some 2,000 policemen on various departmental promotion lists.

They claimed Kennedy has been assigning men to higher ranking duties without designating them by the titles appropriate to the duties or advancing their pay accordingly. An example would be to give a man on the beat a sergeant's duties without the title or pay.

Those who brought the court action maintain this is unfair and jeopardizes their chances for actual promotions.

After the court move was launched last year, Justice Klein directed Kennedy to halt that procedure. Some time elapsed and the policemen told Klein that Kennedy was still doing it.

Liberian Ship Sends Out Distress Signal

MANILA, Thursday (UPI) — U. S. Navy authorities said today they received a distress signal from a Liberian tanker in the South China Sea reporting "a series of explosions" that injured many crew members.

The Navy said receivers at Subic naval base near here picked up the distress signal Wednesday.

Negro 'Tent City' Grows

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A ninth evicted Negro family prepared to move into nearby "tent city" Wednesday on the eve of an appeal of their plight to a high federal court.

The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting at Cincinnati, Ohio, will hear a government plea Thursday to stay the eviction of some 700 Negro sharecroppers from Haywood and Fayette County farms.

The government, which last week lost the opening round in its first test of a section of the 1957 Civil Rights Act, claims the Negroes were evicted by white landowners because they registered to vote. The landowners deny it, saying the sharecroppers are no longer needed on their rapidly mechanizing farms.

Eight of the homeless families already have moved into a spreading line of tents pitched in a Negro farmer's field south of here. Negro leaders say other families will follow after Jan. 1 unless they get relief by court action.

White leaders call the tent shelters strictly a propaganda move.

"I hear they're taking up money up North," said Somerville Mayor I. P. Yancey. "But I don't know of anybody hungry down here. I think it is just a propaganda situation."

Wonderful dinner. But you may pay for it with Acid Upset, so keep TUMS relief at hand. 3-roll pack, only 30¢.

Judge Lashes Youth Accused Of Stabbing Boy

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge lashed out Wednesday at a 17-year-old boy accused of stabbing to death a younger teen-ager who refused to give up 50 cents earned in delivering a Christmas tree.

Edward Vogt sat silently biting his lips as Magistrate Irving Schreckinger held him without bail on a homicide charge.

Almost simultaneously 500 persons were attending the funeral of the victim, Robert Guitarri, 14.

Robert, a boy of good repute, met sudden death Friday from six knife wounds in the back on the sixth floor of an apartment house where he was delivering the tree.

Police said Vogt had admitted: "He looked like an easy touch. I killed him."

"If what I've heard and read is true," the magistrate said, "this is one of the most vicious, savage, atrocious and senseless crimes ever committed in the city. If it's true, something must be mentally wrong with you."

A hearing was set for Jan. 6.

Police, meanwhile, checked whether Vogt knew anything about the fatal stabbing two years ago of Ingeborg Bertelsen, 21, a pretty housewife, in the same upper Manhattan neighborhood. They lived four blocks apart.

Vogt was questioned in that slaying and released. The same year he was arrested on a charge of attempting to sexually molest a 12-year-old girl in an elevator.

Firemen Quell Blaze In New CIA Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fire Wednesday poured smoke through the corridors of a new $46 million building under construction for the Central Intelligence Agency near McLean, Va.

Six volunteer fire companies from various parts of Fairfax County, Va., responded to the alarm after the blaze broke out in the cafeteria section of the huge building.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Red Skelton Leaves Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Red Skelton left the hospital Wednesday, saying he feels fine and managing a quip or two.

"See this blue band?" he asked newsmen, indicating the hospital's identification band on his wrist. "Well, they put this on me when I came out of the operating room so I'd know I was a boy."

The comedian underwent surgery Dec. 12 in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital to correct a ruptured diaphragm.

Gas Fatal To Three Men At London Zoo

LONDON (UPI) — Poison gas killed the head keeper of the reptile house at London Zoo and two other men Wednesday.

The triple tragedy occurred when two engineers, John Monn, 59, and Peter Robinson, came to repair a well which supplies water to the reptile house and the aquarium next door.

The men raised the lid on the six-foot-deep well and a cloud of gas poured up and surrounded the men. Choking, they fell into the well.

The bodies were found minutes later by head keeper Edward Dexter, 46, and assistant keeper Anthony Hodgson, 21.

Officials said they had no idea what kind of gas killed the men or how it accumulated in such lethal volume in the well.

Cuban Authorities Free U.S. Newsman

HAVANA (UPI) — Cuban authorities released Wilson Hall, National Broadcasting Company newsman, at 4 p.m. Wednesday after some 60 hours of detention on undisclosed charges.

It was believed that Hall, arrested last Monday as he was preparing to embank by air for New York, would leave by air for New York, via Miami.

Release of Hall was ordered after officials said they had concluded an "investigation" into his activities. They did not elaborate on the statement.

Assembly Unit Endorses Site Of New Prison

BALTIMORE (AP)—The chairman of a legislative committee studying Maryland prisons said Wednesday his group has no fault to find with the choice of a location for a new medium-security institution.

The State Board of Correction recently gave its reluctant approval to the State Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown as the site for the proposed $10 million prison.

Sen. Edward O. Weant, D-Carroll, said his legislative committee has no criticism of the Bretheds ville site. He said the new prison should be opened as soon as possible to alleviate the overcrowding his committee has found prevalent in Maryland's penal institutions.

Weant made the remarks after a closed-door meeting with prisoners at the State Penitentiary and an inspection of the Baltimore facility.

Wednesday's meeting was the last in a series scheduled by the seven-member committee. Weant said it will meet next week in Annapolis to prepare a report to the General Assembly.

Israel's Golda Meir Threatens To Resign

JERUSALEM (AP) — Golda Meir has threatened to resign as foreign minister in a serious policy dispute with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, informed sources said Wednesday.

The issue is the long and mysterious "security leak" dispute eddying around Pinhas Lavon, fired by Ben-Gurion as defense minister in 1955 for what was announced as an error in judgment.

Sources said Mrs. Meir walked out of a Cabinet meeting in anger over Ben-Gurion's unwillingness to join Cabinet approval of the findings of a committee that cleared Lavon four days ago.

Trooper's Suspicions Borne Out

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A young motorist, stopped because he "just didn't look right" to a state trooper, was being held here Wednesday as a Baltimorean wanted on several serious charges in his home city and Baltimore County.

Booked as William W. Fabian, 25, of the 900 block Hollins street, Baltimore, he was charged with driving on a revoked license, with license plates issued to another automobile, and on a license issued to another driver.

Police said Fabian is charged in warrants with forgery and threatening to kill a girl acquaintance in Southwest Baltimore, assault in Baltimore County, and violating parole.

Trooper Robert Spickler arrested him after stopping him on U.S. 40 four miles west of Hagerstown.

"I stopped him," said Spickler, "because he just didn't look right to me."

Quartet Eyes Lankford's Job

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — In view of word that Rep. Richard Lankford, D-Md., might be named an assistant secretary of the Navy, four Prince Georges County Democrats Wednesday were reported interested in his seat in Congress.

The four figuring in speculation, the Evening Star said, include Herbert W. Reichelt of Mount Rainier, vice president of the county commissioners; House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson of Hyattsville and State Delegates Hervey G. Machen of Hyattsville and Carlton Sickles of Langley Park.

Lankford, whose home is in Anne Arundel County, was re-elected to a fourth term in the House last November.

Wilkinson said he hasn't discussed the matter with Gov. Tawes of Maryland but thought that if Lankford won the federal appointment it probably would be spring before Tawes would call a special election to fill the congressional seat.

He said the governor might first want the legislature to re-district the state since Maryland picks up one extra House seat in 1962 as a result of the 1960 census.

Wilkinson said he is definitely interested in Lankford's House job.

Check For Race Horses Bounces

SALISBURY (AP) — Dr. A. H. Gerbefich, Salisbury veterinarian, claims two Canadians bilked him of $4,500 in a race horse sale with a check which bounced.

Dr. Gerberich obtained State Police warrants today charging Harry Bass of Quebec with conspiracy and Luc Lampron, also of Quebec, with obtaining property under false pretenses.

Gerberich said the check for $4,500, drawn on the Royal Bank of Canada, was returned because of insufficient funds. He said the two men gave it to him Dec. 9 as the price for two harness racing horses.

When he went to Quebec to find out about it, he said, he learned the horses had been sold to someone else.

Thieves Help Solve His Space Problem

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—P. Parke Geiger got some unwanted help in solving the space problem at his delicatessen here.

Geiger, who is also a member of the Maryland House of Delegates, stores empty soft drink bottles behind his place to conserve room in the store.

Someone, he told police Wednesday, stole 34 cases of the empty bottles Tuesday night.

Lady Cop Robbed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Policewoman Mary C. Reinhardt is not only without her badge and whistle, but her compact, too.

She put her purse on a desk at the Pine Street Station today and a sneak thief stole it.

Yankee whalemen charted hundreds of islands in the South seas during the 19th century.

Party Guest Swipes Host's Clock-Radio

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Police are busy checking the guest list of that little party William H. Hill threw at his home Tuesday night.

Hill said he invited 12 or 14 cronies in for a drink or two.

After they were gone, Hill told police Wednesday, he discovered his $39 clock-radio was gone, too.

He gave investigators a list of celebrants.

Ex-Esso Official Dies

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Thursday (11 a.m., EST) for William H. St. Clair, former official of the Esso Standard Oil Co.

St. Clair, 64, died unexpectedly Tuesday at his home in nearby Towson. He retired in 1957 as division manager for Esso's New York sales division.

The modern mobile home or house trailer comes equipped with a wood-burning fireplace, but only on special order of the buyer.

Trooper's Suspicions Borne Out

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A young motorist, stopped because he "just didn't look right" to a state trooper, was being held here Wednesday as a Baltimorean wanted on several serious charges in his home city and Baltimore County.

Booked as William W. Fabian, 25, of the 900 block Hollins street, Baltimore, he was charged with driving on a revoked license, with license plates issued to another automobile, and on a license issued to another driver.

Police said Fabian is charged in warrants with forgery and threatening to kill a girl acquaintance in Southwest Baltimore, assault in Baltimore County, and violating parole.

Trooper Robert Spickler arrested him after stopping him on U.S. 40 four miles west of Hagerstown.

Quartet Eyes Lankford's Job

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — In view of word that Rep. Richard Lankford, D-Md., might be named an assistant secretary of the Navy, four Prince Georges County Democrats Wednesday were reported interested in his seat in Congress.

The four figuring in speculation, the Evening Star said, include Herbert W. Reichelt of Mount Rainier, vice president of the county commissioners; House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson of Hyattsville and State Delegates Hervey G. Machen of Hyattsville and Carlton Sickles of Langley Park.

Lankford, whose home is in Anne Arundel County, was re-elected to a fourth term in the House last November.

Wilkinson said he hasn't discussed the matter with Gov. Tawes of Maryland but thought that if Lankford won the federal appointment it probably would be spring before Tawes would call a special election to fill the congressional seat.

He said the governor might first want the legislature to re-district the state since Maryland picks up one extra House seat in 1962 as a result of the 1960 census.

Wilkinson said he is definitely interested in Lankford's House job.

Check For Race Horses Bounces

SALISBURY (AP) — Dr. A. H. Gerbefich, Salisbury veterinarian, claims two Canadians bilked him of $4,500 in a race horse sale with a check which bounced.

Dr. Gerberich obtained State Police warrants today charging Harry Bass of Quebec with conspiracy and Luc Lampron, also of Quebec, with obtaining property under false pretenses.

Gerberich said the check for $4,500, drawn on the Royal Bank of Canada, was returned because of insufficient funds. He said the two men gave it to him Dec. 9 as the price for two harness racing horses.

When he went to Quebec to find out about it, he said, he learned the horses had been sold to someone else.

Thieves Help Solve His Space Problem

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—P. Parke Geiger got some unwanted help in solving the space problem at his delicatessen here.

Geiger, who is also a member of the Maryland House of Delegates, stores empty soft drink bottles behind his place to conserve room in the store.

Someone, he told police Wednesday, stole 34 cases of the empty bottles Tuesday night.

B'er Chayim Sisterhood To Resume Book Reviews

The B'er Chayim Temple Sisterhood will sponsor its second series of book reviews to which the public is invited January 11 at 8 p. m. at the Temple.

Rabbi Max Selinger will review the best seller, "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," by William S. Shirer. Mr. Shirer is a journalist and news broadcaster who was stationed in Germany before and during the Nazi regime. The book deals with the history of Germany from 1930 through the Second World War, and is "an inside history" of our chief enemy during the last war.

Rabbi Selinger presented a series of book reviews last season which were held at 11 a. m., but because of the increased interest this year, the time has been changed to make it more convenient for those who wish to attend.

Mr., Mrs. May Observe 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Denzil May, 9 Massachusetts Avenue, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at the home of his brother, Douglas May, 715 Sylvan Avenue, Christmas Day.

The couple was married December 24, 1935, in the parsonage of the Lutheran Church by the Rev. Dr. Sharp.

Mrs. May is the former Miss Alpha Davis, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amos Davis of Cumberland. Mr. May is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey May this city.

Mrs. Mary Keys, 923 Virginia Avenue, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Auxiliary Installs Officers

The Ladies Auxiliary to the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company held its annual Christmas dinner and party at Moon's Dining Room a recent evening.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Leona McClellan conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. Winona Stimler, chaplain, opened with a prayer. Twenty-three members answered roll call. Mrs. Ruth Forwood, Baltimore, state president, and Mrs. Nancy Growden, Bedford Road county president, were guests.

Mrs. Flo Alexander gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Leola Knieriem presented the treasurer's report and also the yearly report. Mrs. Jeannetta Pritts gave the financial secretary's report. All were accepted. Mrs. Gwenn Pryor gave the historian's report.

Short talks were given by the guests. Mrs. Forwood expressed the regrets of Mrs. Bessie Marshall, state hospital fund chairman, that she was unable to attend because of illness and extended her best wishes to the members.

Mrs. Forwood conducted the installation of officers. She was assisted by Mrs. Growden who presented the new officers with their pins as they took the oath of office. The new officers are Mrs. Leola Knieriem, president; Mrs. Flo Alexander, first vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Zembower, second vice president; Mrs. Elda Schell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jeannetta Pritts, financial secretary; Mrs. Winona Stimler, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Moody, chaplain; Mrs. Fannie Kemp, historian; Mrs. Carrie Eshbaugh, reporter; Mrs. Susan Dick, guard, and Mrs. Gwenn Pryor, auditor. Mrs. Mae Lee and Mrs. Emma Youngblood are remaining auditors.

Jingle gifts were exchanged, followed by a games party. Prizes were won by Mrs. Zembower, Mrs. Youngblood and Mrs. Helen Crowe.

PUZZLE FOR PARISIANS—Which is Pia and which is Mia? There's a clue if you look closely—Mia is wearing a bracelet. The Swedish twins, Mia and Pia Genberg, have the customers seeing double at the Paris fashion house where they work as models and make the fashionable gowns look twice as good. (AP Photofax)

Linda Whitesides To Wed Charles B. Hornbrook Jr.

Miss Linda Whitesides, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Whitesides, LaVale, will become the bride of Charles B. Hornbrook Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hornbrook Sr., Winifred Road, Friday. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7:30 p. m. in Kingsley Methodist church with Rev. Jacob Snyder, pastor, officiating.

Miss Meltina Beal will be maid of honor for the bride-elect and James Atkinson will serve as Mr. Hornbrook's best man.

Miss Whitesides is a graduate of Allegany High School and is a student at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mr. Hornbrook is a fire controlman technician second class, and after serving abroad is en route to a service school at Great Lakes, Ill., navy base. He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and attended Frostburg State Teachers College before enlisting in the Navy.

No formal invitations have been sent but friends are welcome to attend the wedding.

Players Plan Party Tonight

The Algonquin Players will hold a holiday party at Ali Ghan Country Club tonight. Dancing will follow the dinner to be held at 7 p. m. The party will take the place of the regular meeting.

The committee in charge of reservations includes Mrs. Jean Warhaft and Mrs. Dorothy Barrick.

New Year's News On Complexion Care

Now is the time for all good women to come to the aid of their complexion. Icy winds and near-zero temperatures take their toll if not combatted by a sensible program of skin care.

This includes thorough drying after the daily bath or shower, particularly if you are going outdoors soon after. Hands should be protected from chapping by wearing gloves even when just going from one doorway to another. Each time you wash hands and face, finish by applying a bit of lotion, cream or oil.

Splashy pajamas of washable cotton flannel are teen favorites.

STRETCH FASHION — For hostessing and relaxation, nothing beats the pants-costume. These are made of fine gabardine construction Helenca, with self-fabric detachable foot band.

Grace MYF To Entertain Sub-District

The Grace Methodist Church Youth Fellowship, will hold a Christmas social for the Sub-District and their friends tonight in the social room of the church, beginning at 8 p. m.

Refreshments of punch, cookies and hors d' oeuvres will be served. The hall and tables will be decorated in the Christmas theme.

Admission is at the Second Street entrance to the social hall.

Memorial Snow Ball January 21

The annual formal Charity Snow Ball of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will be held Saturday, January 21 at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. John A. Moberly is general chairman of the event. Dancing will begin at 10 p. m., with music by the Dick Lewis Orchestra.

Proceeds from this year's ball will be used to complete decorations in the pediatrics department, renew furniture in the nurses' home, decorate the maternity floor and provide funds for opening a snack bar when space is available.

Invitations to auxiliary members have been mailed and, as in the past, ticket sale will be on a "first come" basis. After January 16, any remaining tickets will be available for non-auxiliary members. The sale of tickets is limited to 175 couples, but additional facilities at the club have made it possible for advance table reservations to be made. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Frank Butt before January 16.

Angora Sweaters Need Loving Care

If you were among the lucky girls whose Christmas gifts included a beautiful and soft angora sweater, here's a tip on how to keep it fluffy.

After laundering in cool soap or detergent suds, rinse well, blot in a towel, and spread it flat to dry away from direct heat. Then, shake the sweater carefully three or four times during the drying process. This brings up the nap and prevents matting.

WMBA Christmas Party Winners Are Announced

Nine tables in Section A with an average of 72 and eight tables in Section B with an average of 54, featured the bridge game and Christmas party of the Western Maryland Bridge Association held Tuesday evening at the Woman's Civic Club.

Section A winners, north and south were Mrs. Sam Dezen and Robert Dezen with a score of 96 plus, first place; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkinson, 92, second; Miss Kathryn Laughlin and Mrs. John Laughlin, 86 plus, third, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Trimmier, 74, fourth. East and west in the same section were Mrs. Arthur Friedland and Mrs. Joseph Knepp, with a score of 87, first; Mrs. William Frailey and Norman Taylor, 83, second; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Feigus, 79, third and Roger Day and Captain Joseph Schoen, 75 plus, fourth.

In section B, north and south winners were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Paddleford with a score of 67 plus, first; Mrs. Gerard Everstine and John Moberly, 62, second; Mrs. David Sigel and Richard Schwab, 59 plus, third. East and west were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Castelle, 71 plus, first; Paul Arbogast and James Preaskorn, 68, second and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Winer, 59 plus, third.

The WMBA will hold a charity and master point game tonight at the Woman's Civic Club and Potomac Valley Bridge Club will play its regular game Tuesday evening at the same place.

Personals

Mrs. Tollitta Niland, 804 Greene Street, has returned home after visiting her son, Brother F. Jerome, and her sister in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rice, Bethesda, and daughter Karen, were holiday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rice, West Oldtown Road, and Mrs. Josephine Blamble, Maryland Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hutcheson, Lutherville, visited her mother Mrs. Edith Largent, Bedford Street for Christmas.

Jr. Music Club Meets

Christmas music featured the meeting of the Merry Melodies Junior Music Club of LaVale held recently at the home of Jack Paulman, Shortest Day Road.

Following the business session, talks on Christmas music were given by Nancy Stair and Mrs. George Pyle. Each member played a Christmas selection on the violin, guitar or piano. The program concluded with the singing of Christmas carols.

Decorations and refreshments were in the holiday theme. Mrs. Donald Paulman was assisted in serving by her daughter, Susan. Birthday greetings were given Jack Paulman and Nancy Stair.

Others attending were Susan Corl, Susan Zembower, Margaret Ann Joy, Peter West, Charlotte Scott, Suzanne Moreland, Harry Pyle, Bobby Pritts, Howard Kruth, Mrs. Paul Stair and Mrs. Robert Moreland, co-counselors.

The next meeting will be January 20 at the home of David Butler, Weires Avenue. The program will be on Stephen Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Largent, and Claude Largent, Chevy Chase, visited their mothers, Mrs. Anna McCullough, Wallace Street, and Mrs. Edith Largent, Bedford Street. Eugene Hagerman, Chevy Chase, was also a guest.

WARNING! Throw Out Old Medicines

Copr. Advertisers Exchange Inc. 1960

Medicine cannot stay "fresh" forever. The passing of time and exposure to the air in the bottle can cause drugs to lose their potency or to evaporate to overly-strong concentrations.

The sensible thing to do is to discard old medicines and those where identification or directions have become obliterated. Why not do it today?

WARNING! Throw Out Old Medicines

Copr. Advertisers Exchange Inc. 1960

Medicine cannot stay "fresh" forever. The passing of time and exposure to the air in the bottle can cause drugs to lose their potency or to evaporate to overly-strong concentrations.

The sensible thing to do is to discard old medicines and those where identification or directions have become obliterated. Why not do it today?

Auxiliary Installs Officers

The Ladies Auxiliary to the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company held its annual Christmas dinner and party at Moon's Dining Room a recent evening.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Leona McClellan conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. Winona Stimler, chaplain, opened with a prayer. Twenty-three members answered roll call. Mrs. Ruth Forwood, Baltimore, state president, and Mrs. Nancy Growden, Bedford Road county president, were guests.

Mrs. Flo Alexander gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Leola Knieriem presented the treasurer's report and also the yearly report. Mrs. Jeannetta Pritts gave the financial secretary's report. All were accepted. Mrs. Gwenn Pryor gave the historian's report.

Short talks were given by the guests. Mrs. Forwood expressed the regrets of Mrs. Bessie Marshall, state hospital fund chairman, that she was unable to attend because of illness and extended her best wishes to the members.

Mrs. Forwood conducted the installation of officers. She was assisted by Mrs. Growden who presented the new officers with their pins as they took the oath of office. The new officers are Mrs. Leola Knieriem, president; Mrs. Flo Alexander, first vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Zembower, second vice president; Mrs. Elda Schell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jeannetta Pritts, financial secretary; Mrs. Winona Stimler, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Moody, chaplain; Mrs. Fannie Kemp, historian; Mrs. Carrie Eshbaugh, reporter; Mrs. Susan Dick, guard, and Mrs. Gwenn Pryor, auditor. Mrs. Mae Lee and Mrs. Emma Youngblood are remaining auditors.

Jingle gifts were exchanged, followed by a games party. Prizes were won by Mrs. Zembower, Mrs. Youngblood and Mrs. Helen Crowe.

Jr. Music Club Meets

Christmas music featured the meeting of the Merry Melodies Junior Music Club of LaVale held recently at the home of Jack Paulman, Shortest Day Road.

Following the business session, talks on Christmas music were given by Nancy Stair and Mrs. George Pyle. Each member played a Christmas selection on the violin, guitar or piano. The program concluded with the singing of Christmas carols.

Decorations and refreshments were in the holiday theme. Mrs. Donald Paulman was assisted in serving by her daughter, Susan. Birthday greetings were given Jack Paulman and Nancy Stair.

Others attending were Susan Corl, Susan Zembower, Margaret Ann Joy, Peter West, Charlotte Scott, Suzanne Moreland, Harry Pyle, Bobby Pritts, Howard Kruth, Mrs. Paul Stair and Mrs. Robert Moreland, co-counselors.

The next meeting will be January 20 at the home of David Butler, Weires Avenue. The program will be on Stephen Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Largent, and Claude Largent, Chevy Chase, visited their mothers, Mrs. Anna McCullough, Wallace Street, and Mrs. Edith Largent, Bedford Street. Eugene Hagerman, Chevy Chase, was also a guest.

PUZZLE FOR PARISIANS—Which is Pia and which is Mia? There's a clue if you look closely—Mia is wearing a bracelet. The Swedish twins, Mia and Pia Genberg, have the customers seeing double at the Paris fashion house where they work as models and make the fashionable gowns look twice as good. (AP Photofax)

Linda Whitesides To Wed Charles B. Hornbrook Jr.

Miss Linda Whitesides, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Whitesides, LaVale, will become the bride of Charles B. Hornbrook Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hornbrook Sr., Winifred Road, Friday. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7:30 p. m. in Kingsley Methodist church with Rev. Jacob Snyder, pastor, officiating.

Miss Meltina Beal will be maid of honor for the bride-elect and James Atkinson will serve as Mr. Hornbrook's best man.

Miss Whitesides is a graduate of Allegany High School and is a student at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mr. Hornbrook is a fire controlman technician second class, and after serving abroad is en route to a service school at Great Lakes, Ill., navy base. He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and attended Frostburg State Teachers College before enlisting in the Navy.

No formal invitations have been sent but friends are welcome to attend the wedding.

STRETCH FASHION — For hostessing and relaxation, nothing beats the pants-costume. These are made of fine gabardine construction Helenca, with self-fabric detachable foot band.

Players Plan Party Tonight

The Algonquin Players will hold a holiday party at Ali Ghan Country Club tonight. Dancing will follow the dinner to be held at 7 p. m. The party will take the place of the regular meeting.

The committee in charge of reservations includes Mrs. Jean Warhaft and Mrs. Dorothy Barrick.

New Year's News On Complexion Care

Now is the time for all good women to come to the aid of their complexion. Icy winds and near-zero temperatures take their toll if not combatted by a sensible program of skin care.

This includes thorough drying after the daily bath or shower, particularly if you are going outdoors soon after. Hands should be protected from chapping by wearing gloves even when just going from one doorway to another. Each time you wash hands and face, finish by applying a bit of lotion, cream or oil.

Splashy pajamas of washable cotton flannel are teen favorites.

Grace MYF To Entertain Sub-District

The Grace Methodist Church Youth Fellowship will hold a Christmas social for the Sub-District and their friends tonight in the social room of the church, beginning at 8 p. m.

Refreshments of punch, cookies and hors d' oeuvres will be served. The hall and tables will be decorated in the Christmas theme.

Admission is at the Second Street entrance to the social hall.

Memorial Snow Ball January 21

The annual formal Charity Snow Ball of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will be held Saturday, January 21 at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. John A. Moberly is general chairman of the event. Dancing will begin at 10 p. m., with music by the Dick Lewis Orchestra.

Proceeds from this year's ball will be used to complete decorations in the pediatrics department, renew furniture in the nurses' home, decorate the maternity floor and provide funds for opening a snack bar when space is available.

Invitations to auxiliary members have been mailed and, as in the past, ticket sale will be on a "first come" basis. After January 16, any remaining tickets will be available for non-auxiliary members. The sale of tickets is limited to 175 couples, but additional facilities at the club have made it possible for advance table reservations to be made. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Frank Butt before January 16.

Angora Sweaters Need Loving Care

If you were among the lucky girls whose Christmas gifts included a beautiful and soft angora sweater, here's a tip on how to keep it fluffy.

After laundering in cool soap or detergent suds, rinse well, blot in a towel, and spread it flat to dry away from direct heat. Then, shake the sweater carefully three or four times during the drying process. This brings up the nap and prevents matting.

WMBA Christmas Party Winners Are Announced

Nine tables in Section A with an average of 72 and eight tables in Section B with an average of 54, featured the bridge game and Christmas party of the Western Maryland Bridge Association held Tuesday evening at the Woman's Civic Club.

Section A winners, north and south were Mrs. Sam Dezen and Robert Dezen with a score of 96 plus, first place; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkinson, 92, second; Miss Kathryn Laughlin and Mrs. John Laughlin, 86 plus, third, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Trimmier, 74, fourth. East and west in the same section were Mrs. Arthur Friedland and Mrs. Joseph Knepp, with a score of 87, first; Mrs. William Frailey and Norman Taylor, 83, second; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Feigus, 79, third and Roger Day and Captain Joseph Schoen, 75 plus, fourth.

In section B, north and south winners were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Paddleford with a score of 67 plus, first; Mrs. Gerard Everstine and John Moberly, 62, second; Mrs. David Sigel and Richard Schwab, 59 plus, third. East and west were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Castelle, 71 plus, first; Paul Arbogast and James Preaskorn, 68, second and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Winer, 59 plus, third.

The WMBA will hold a charity and master point game tonight at the Woman's Civic Club and Potomac Valley Bridge Club will play its regular game Tuesday evening at the same place.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy 12 years old and I am having trouble with my personality. I have a feeling that I am better than most people and I'm getting a reputation for being conceited.

The big problem is I really AM better and I have proved it. My grades are tops and I'm outstanding in sports. I've been playing the piano without much effort since I was six years old. And as if this isn't enough, I'm good-looking besides.

What can I do? I think I'm getting obnoxious.

—SEARCHING FOR HELP

DEAR SEARCHING: Thank you for the most unusual letter in a long time. I will do my best to make you less obnoxious.

First: Looks are an accident of birth. You are not entitled to any credit for the way the good Lord put you together.

Second: Musical talent. If you've been playing the piano since you were six years old, you are gifted. This is another endowment for which you can't take credit.

Third: Top grades and athletic ability took some effort on your part. Congratulations. But keep in mind that no matter how handsome and accomplished you are, somewhere there is someone who is just as handsome and accomplished, and not conceited, which makes him a lot better than you—in important ways. See?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are planning a 10-day vacation with our son and daughter-in-law. They were married 18 months ago and this is our first visit. We want to do the right thing.

Our son has a good-paying job but we know they are having a financial struggle. My husband feels we should pay part of the grocery bill when we are guests in their home. I'm uncomfortable about this and think perhaps they might be insulted. Also, should I help with the housework and cooking? Please give us some advice. We are eager to be—

GOOD IN-LAWS

DEAR GOOD: Don't offer to pay part of the grocery bill on a 10-day visit. If you stayed three months it might be different. You could stop at the market, however, and pick up four choice steaks and a couple of fryers. And it would be nice to take THEM out to dinner one night.

Guests always keep their room in order and are careful not to make extra work for the hostess. As for helping with the cooking and house cleaning it depends on the daughter-in-law. Some appreciate the lift, others resent it. Ask.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the woman whose husband is considerate, loving, a wonderful father and loyal companion, but a man who "never quite made it" financially.

My husband is a big success if you look at his bank account, my clothes closet, our club memberships, and the cars in our driveway. But to me he's a failure. He wants no responsibility as a father or husband. When I ask for his advice, he says, "You've got plenty of money. Do as you please."

His business associates and our social friends would be shocked if they knew how little he cared about his family and home. I hope all successful men aren't like this but I'm terribly suspicious. Some of my women friends have the same sad look I have—and they never say anything either.

—EXECUTIVE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband sounds like a platinum-plated egomaniac. These birds require special treatment. Have you tried your darndest?

Data Needed For Licenses

State motorists were cautioned today to immediately notify the Maryland Department of Motor Vehicles in writing if incorrect information appeared on their present operator's permit or registration card.

In making the announcement, John R. Jewell, commissioner of motor vehicles, stated that the department was preparing to print applications for the 1961 license plates and that in order to avoid inconvenience in the near future motorists should correct erroneous records at once.

"By submittiing new addresses, name changes and wrong street addresses now," he said, "drivers will save themselves a good deal of trouble later on and as much as a week's delay in getting their new license plates during the "tag rush."

Commissioner Jewell stated that motorists should request name and address changes in writing and include their full name, correct address, title number (as it appears on present registration card) and present license tag number. The driver's permit number should also be included if that too needs correcting.

Under the law, persons must notify the Department of Motor Vehicles of new address or name changes within 30 days. Failure to comply with the law is punishable upon conviction by a fine not to exceed ten dollars.

Many motorists were inconvenienced last year for failing to properly notify the Department of Motor Vehicles of changes of addresses.

Annual United Fund Meeting Set February 28

The annual County United Fund meeting will be held Tuesday, February 28, at 6:30 p. m. in the Community Room of Central YMCA, according to George B. Newman, president.

The meeting, Newman said, will be held in conjunction with a CUF achievement dinner honoring employe groups that qualified for outstanding service awards during the recently-completed 1960 campaign.

Aside from the presentation of awards, the meeting will be featured by the election of a board of directors—the sole responsibility of which is election of an executive committee. The executive committee in turn, Newman explained, will elect officers for 1961.

The present CUF executive committee recently selected a nominating committee, chairmaned by J. Glenn Beall, Jr., of Frostburg, to prepare a slate of officers for consideration at the annual meeting.

Other members of the unit are Charles H. Brode, of the Amcelle Charity Fund; William F. Cowherd, Cumberland; David Hopkins, of the Tri-Towns area; C. Edwin Hopkins, Keyser; Andrew M. Lewis, Jr., of PPG's Works 7 Charity Fund; Billy K. Myers, Frostburg; Earl K. Hess, Keyser; Robert B. Thomas, Lonaconing, and Alton R. Fortney, Tri-Towns.

Current officers, besides Newman, are William E. Crooks, vice president; T. Warner Lowry, Keyser, secretary; Harland D. Ridder, Keyser, assistant secretary; Raymond C. Hudson, Tri-Towns, treasurer; Bernia B. Lucas and Alvin H. Wilson, both of this city, assistant treasurers.

Area vice presidents will also be elected. Incumbents Robert D. Peebles of Lonaconing, Central Creek Area; Mrs. George M. Young, Cumberland, Cumberland Area; Andrew M. Lewis Jr., East County Area; Edward L. Ewald, Frostburg Area; David G. Nuzum, Keyser Area, and Vernon A. Staggers, Tri-Towns Area.

The results of the recent fund campaign, the most successful ever to be put on, have been certified by the executive committee, Newman stated. The group also approved a resolution commending William E. Crooks, general campaign chairman, on achieving the record-breaking total of $354,312.13.

A breakdown of the campaign report, the CUF president said, reveals a total of $151,483.12 was contributed in Golden Gifts, while the Big Seven industries (ABL, B&O, Celanese, Kelly, Luke Paper Mill, Pittsburgh Plate and Western Maryland) practically met that amount by pledging $123,239.82.

The Classified Division of the campaign raised $65,656.49; the Business Division, $12,213.95, and the Residential Organizations Division, $1,718.75.

Newman singled out the Big Seven for commendation, pointing out that employes at the Kelly-Springfield plant pledged a total of $30,146.82; at the Celanese, $18,700; at the B & O, $18,405; Luke Paper Mill, $18,153; ABL, $17,500; Pittsburgh Plate's Works 7, $16,460, and Western Maryland, $3,875.

The CUF president stressed, however, that the campaign was a United effort since all areas and communities completed successful drives. Newman pointed out that the Keyser Area raised a total of $22,930.85; the Tri-Towns Area, $15,156.76; Frostburg Area, $13,353.08; Central Creek Area, $2,134.75, and East County Area, $590.

In Cumberland itself, Newman continued, the total amount pledged was $1766,906.87. The greatest portion of that amount, $118,854, was in Golden Gifts, while $49,196.82 was raised in the Classified Division, and $8,856.05 in the Business Division.

In connection with the executive committee election, Newman said there are five members whose terms expire at the annual meeting. They are J. Glenn Beall Jr., William A. Douglas, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Alva C. Lewis and himself, all of whom are elected members of the committee.

In addition to the elected members, whose terms are staggered, the committee's membership also includes a number of appointed members who serve one-year terms.

Appointed members, whose terms are expiring, are William A. Cook, Edward L. Ewald, Raymond C. Hudson, Andrew M. Lewis Jr., T. Warner Lowry, Bernia B. Lewis Jr., David G. Nuzum, Robert D. Peebles, Harland D. Ridder, Vernon A. Staggers, Alvin H. Wilson and Mrs. George M. Young.

Outstanding County Farmer To Be Named

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce is seeking candidates for its second annual contest to select Allegany County's "Outstanding Young Farmer."

Jack Stegmaier, chairman, said applications for the contest are available at the County Agent's office in the Court House, at the Farmers Feed and Supply Company, at Allegany Feed and Garden Supply Company, or at the Southern States Cooperative building.

Deadline for the applications is January 28, Stegmaier said, adding that the winner of the contest will be announced at a dinner, the time and place of which will be announced in the near future.

The contest, according to Stegmaier, is open to young men between the ages of 21 and 35 years who derive at least two-thirds of their income from farming. The chairman said rules stipulate contestants must actually be farm operators.

Winner of the initial contest was Earl Lepley of Mt. Savage, Stegmaier said.

Assisting with arrangements are John Yoder and James Light.

W. E. Cobey Takes Judge Oath Today

W. Earle Cobey, local attorney, will take the oath of office as associate judge of the Circuit Court today at 10 a. m. in a ceremony at the Court House.

Cobey, a member of the Allegany County Bar Association since the 1930s, was appointed to the judgeship by Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

Provision for the second judge in the court here was made in a constitutional amendment voted upon durin,, the general election November 8.

Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden will administer the oath to Cobey with Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presiding in court. The event will attract a large number of members of the bar and friends of Mr. Cobey.

Cobey, a Democrat, has been active in the party both on a state and county level.

Among those here for the ceremoney will be Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin of Hagerstown.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland is on an extended trip to the West Coast.

1960 City Building Permits Up

A resurgence in building activities has taken place this year in Cumberland, according to records in the city engineer's office.

The cumulative total of building permits so far this year has an estimated value of $2,505,250, with the records indicating the amount is $888,188 more than the estimated valuation for the same period last year.

The engineer's office has issued eight permits so far this month, with the permits having a valuation of $68,600. Approved for construction are four residences, a garage, carport, storeroom and an addition to a residence.

The four residences have a total valuation of $40,500, while the storeroom, which will be built by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, has been valued at $26,000.

The seven new-construction projects are valued at $67,100, and the addition to the residence at $1,500.

In December of last year, the city engineer's office issued but four permits, with the total valuation placed at $27,000. The 1959 cumulative total cost of construction was $1,617,062, which was $1,123,665 less than for 1958.

Last year's total, according to city records, reveal $1,416,577 was spent for new construction, with the balance for additions and improvements.

250 Invited To W. Va. Inaugural

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Some 250 invitations to the inauguration of Gov.-elect W. W. Barron were placed in the mail Wednesday, Secretary of State Joe F. Burdett said.

Burdett, who is general chairman for the ceremony, said they were sent to the 132 members of the West Virginia Legislature, members of the Democratic State Executive Committee and county chairmen and the state's six congressmen and two U. S. Senators.

He said later in the week invitations would be sent to governors of the five bordering states and representatives of labor and business in West Virginia.

The ceremony will be held inside the capitol building Jan. 16 and some 2,200 seats will be available.

Seeks Mayor's Post

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Rose G. Martin, first women member of city council, has filed for the Citizens Party nomination for mayor in the Feb. 7 primary election. Mrs. Martin is completing her second two-year term as a council member.

waiting period benefits are then payable.

Comment: "Generally good, but there is some injustice in classifying voluntary quits with misconduct and failure to accept work. There are all degrees of inequities involved in this voluntary quit problem and these should be alleviated by payment of benefits under certain conditions."

Proposal No. 7: Pregnancy, amends Sec. 6 (f) to prevent payments of benefits to pregnant women from the date of diagnosis of pregnancy until two months after birth. The present disqualification extends from two months before birth to two months after birth.

Comment: "Generally acceptable, but pregnancy is voluntary quit and should be treated as Regulation 6 as amended."

SAYS PRINCE SLAPPED HER—Italian Prince Vittorio Massimo appears annoyed as he follows his estranged wife, British actress Dawn Addams, from his farm in Scorano, Italy, after a visit to their four-year-old son, Steffano. Dawn, who is permitted by a Rome court to see the boy whenever she wants, claims she was slapped by her royal spouse and then ousted.

Bob Hope's Quip Big Hit At Guantanamo

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Bob Hope returned Wednesday from a Christmas tour of Caribbean bases and told newsmen he got his biggest laugh while entertaining servicemen at the Navy's Guantanamo Base in Cuba.

"I told them, 'Here you don't have to say friend or foe; just reach out and feel their chin.' They loved that one," Hope said.

Hope, on his 12th annual Christmas tour of overseas bases, was accompanied by a troupe including Zsa Zsa Gabor, Janis Paige, Jerry Colonna and Andy Williams.

The ski-nosed comic said of the servicemen at Guantanamo:

"These fellows haven't been off the base for 18 months. They were a fabulous audience and the gals, naturally, were a tremendous hit.

"You're not allowed to go out of the gates (at Guantanamo, subject of a heated dispute between the Castro regime and the United States) and beards (extremely popular among Castro militia men) are not allowed to be worn."

River Compact

ity in newspapers and on radio and television.

The assistant attorney general said unless proof that the result had been affected was introduced, the court must uphold the validity of the vote.

Admits Mistake

He dismissed all six of Pressman's contentions dealing with the constitutionality of the compact and told the court that a number of states have entered into compacts which have been upheld.

Kaufman said Maryland has never had a clear title to the border river and doesn't have one today.

Kaufman told the circuit court that the state was anxious for a decision.

The state has freely admitted a mistake was made in failing to properly advertise the referendum. Secretary of State Thomas B. Finan, who was present at the hearing, has said it "was a sincere mistake, not deliberate or intentional."

Gov. Tawes proclaimed the compact on Dec. 4 over Pressman's objections. The governor said he felt a "free and full expression of the will of the people" had been evidenced by the vote.

Indications are that Judge Sodaro will probably take the case under consideration Thursday but no immediate decision is in sight.

Man's Body Found; Autopsy Ordered

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—The body of Franklin Seward, 67, of Cambridge, was found Wednesday in some bushes near his home.

State Trooper P.L.Webster, who investigated with the Dorchester County sheriff's office, said the head and neck had been somewhat mutilated by animals.

The exact cause of death was not known but State Police, after talking with Dr. John Mace, theorized Seward died of exposure. Dr. Mace, Dorchester County medical examiner, ordered an autopsy at Easton Memorial Hospital.

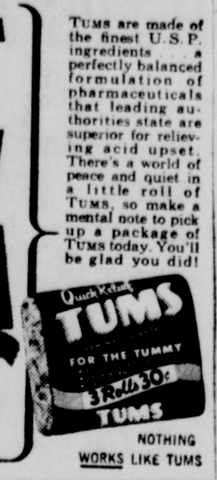

Seward lived alone. Because of the snow, he had been parking his car at the end of a lane and walking to his house. His body was found between that spot and the house.

Walsh Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower accepted Wednesday the resignation of Lawrence E. Walsh as deputy attorney general, effective Dec. 31. Walsh, a former federal district judge in New York, is returning to private practice of law.

Action In The Mid-East Bowl

The Migrations Of Minuteman

Suppose, some dark night about 18 months from now, a blue train pulls into a railroad siding near here and parks. As soon as it stops, this area promptly becomes a target for an intercontinental ballistic missile fired by an enemy.

But the chances are extremely remote that a missile ever would be aimed at the train. In the first place, it would be almost impossible for an enemy agent to get word back to his headquarters in time for a missile to be aimed at the train before it moved.

And if a missile were aimed at it, there would probably be sufficient warning for the train to move out of range of its burst before it arrived.

The purpose of the trains is to give the United States a nuclear retaliatory force that cannot be knocked out by a relatively few well-aimed missiles—a distinct possibility with "hardened" bases such as are needed for the Atlas and Titan missiles.

Minuteman can be mobile because it is solid-fueled. It can be jostled with impunity—until someone pushes the button. Even then, two men have to push two buttons before it will be activated.

Coupled with the Polaris missile, borne as it is on submarines, the Minuteman will give the U. S. a very effective retaliatory force.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Electoral College

So on December 19, the Electoral College met in each state and elected John F. Kennedy, President of the United States. Before that the aforesaid John Kennedy had appointed his Cabinet although he was not yet President. However, he waited a day or two, perhaps out of courtesy, to resign as United States Senator from Massachusetts. Well, now he is actually President even if you did not know about it before.

The farce was carried through with customary ceremony although it hardly mattered and nobody cared. The Electoral College is an obsolete institution.

I wondered what might have happened in this tight election if some electors chose to switch their votes. It is doubtful whether they could do that in many states. For instance, where I live their names did not even appear on the ballot. I might have been cantankerous and demanded my right to vote for electors in accordance with the Constitution but I feared that someone would send for a psychiatrist and having a particular dislike for that breed of cats, I thought that I had better keep quiet and not ask for electors. Besides what difference do they make?

The Electoral College is an obsolete institution which has no reason for existence but which can only be abolished by a Constitutional Amendment. Its purpose was to establish a state-controlled screening body which would safeguard the Presidency from the rabble. Some, these days, say that it also had the purpose of giving minority parties a voice, but this is clearly incorrect because when the Constitution was written there were no political parties and there were really none during the first Administration of George Washington. John Adams who subsequently was described as a Federalist was Washington's Vice President, and Thomas Jefferson who later was called a Democratic Republican was his Secretary of State. No political party is mentioned in the Constitution and no provision for political parties was ever made in it. The Federal Government does not control elections and such bodies as the Republican and Democratic National Committees are not recognized by any Acts of Congress as functioning bodies.

The Corrupt Practices Acts have nothing to do with political parties but with elected public officials who do what everybody does and get caught.

All this being so, the Electoral College has nothing to do with minority parties nor have we gone in for proportional representation, a system that came close to ruining France. As a matter of fact, the minority parties appear on ballots under various state laws, just as the majority parties do. It could be legally possible for one state to permit a minority party, let us say, the Prohibitionists or the Vegetarians, to appear on the ballot and for another state to reject such parties. This is a state matter.

Television is making many changes in our lives, some beneficial, some very harmful. The National Convention, as a televised institution, will cease to take so much time and the speakers already are no longer wasting hours on rubbish because on television they sound so ridiculous. But the essential fact of the televised convention and the televised campaign is that it makes the election national in character. A candidate can no longer say one thing in Wisconsin and another in Texas because both publics hear what he says in each place. Also, candidates, have to gear themselves to a television voice, a television stance, a television personality.

It must be remembered that Richard Nixon started as two to one over Kennedy but after the first debate, the campaign was practically over. When I am told that I have yet to hear what tricks the Kennedy people played on Nixon, it leaves me cold because Nixon should have had a Hollywood director who guarded against tricks. Television is of the theater; it is produced by theatrical personnel. Nixon could not speak to a national audience as well as John Kennedy could.

The national election for the President, by a popular vote, is inevitable and will become sharper as this generation discovers what the Electoral College is—a party-appointed group of contributors and local politicians chosen by each party to cast a vote for an already elected person. It is like an appendix which does no harm until it becomes a nuisance and has to be cut out. Let us cut this one out.

Next Defense Chief Gets Initiation In Pressure And Service Rivalry

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—As the Navy's latest airplane carrier was burning in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the next Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara, met with the Navy's chief Congressional champion, crusty Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia, whose faith in carriers remains so unshakable in this age of rockets and H-bombs that his colleagues call him "Admiral."

President-elect Kennedy promised during his campaign that he would recommend important Pentagon changes in January. But his new Secretary of Defense barged out of Vinson's office to assure reporters that he would undertake "no major reorganization of the Defense Department in the immediate future."

Congressman Vinson beamed with approval as the bright but green McNamara threw down Kennedy's election promise and talked as if he had already been taken over by the Navy.

What happened during the private conference between the Secretary of Defense and the No. 1 champion of the Navy was not reported either by Vinson or McNamara. However, this column is able to reveal the highlights.

Symington's Claims "Fantastic"

Vinson declared that the Defense Department reorganization plan prepared by Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, former Secretary of the Air Force, would create a "colossus of chaos," and might seriously disrupt our whole defense setup "in these tense times." The Symington program, he said, was really the brainchild of the Air Force which had prepared it for its first civilian boss, Symington.

As the powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Vinson had fought the battle against Symington and unification back in 1949-50. Last week he marshalled up some of the same arguments he used 10 years before. He was vigorously against the abolition of the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force and the setting up of a single chief of staff for the three military services.

"If we do that," he said, "we'll have three times less democracy in the Defense Department than we have now. What's more, it would create enormous administrative problems. Senator Symington says his program would do away with 23 top jobs including various under secretaries. But someone will have to do their work," continued the Congressman from Georgia. "You can eliminate individuals, but you can't eliminate the work that has to be done."

One reason for Kennedy's proposed reorganization of the Defense Department is to save money; and Senator Symington has claimed that his unification plan would save the taxpayers $8 billion. This, said the hard-hitting Congressman from Georgia, is "fantastic."

"I'd like to know where he got that figure," declared Vinson. "As chairman of the Armed Services Committee, I have dealt closely with the military establishment for years, and in my opinion, the taxpayer would lose money in the long run, instead of saving it!

Beware Of One-Man Rule!

Paul Kilday of San Antonio, Texas, another potent Congressman, also attended the closed-door session with McNamara. In Kilday's district is one of the biggest Air Force bases in the world, and he is generally considered more pro-Air Force than pro-Navy. He told Secretary McNamara, however, that the Air Force would also become "disillusioned" with the Symington unification plan.

Back in 1937, the Texan recalled, the Air Corps, then part of the Army, had requested 100 new long-range B-17 bombers. Secretary of War Woodring not only vetoed the request, but signed an order holding Air Corps bombers to a range of only 300 miles, thus limiting bombers to short-range tactical missions.

"Does the Air Force want to go back to that type of one-man control?" remarked Kilday.

Both Vinson and Kilday argued that the Symington proposal would place vast "monolithic" power in the Secretary of Defense — that he would have absolute control over the spending of the $40 billion defense budget as well as control over the military and civilian functions of the Defense Department.

"This is no reflection on you," Vinson told McNamara. "We have the highest respect for your ability and integrity. However, Congress must always act on the possibility that the Defense Department someday may be headed by one whose qualifications aren't the highest.

"You may decide to resign. We have had a lot of new secretaries since 1947; in fact the average term of service of a Defense Secretary since 1947 has been, as I recall, about 18 months. We don't want someone in there in the future who may abuse all this power he would have under this proposed reorganization."

The new Secretary of Defense listened politely. He was careful not to commit himself. But he began to get some realization of the discouraging labyrinth of inter-service rivalry, Congressional pressure, and political bickering that surrounds the biggest job in Washington next to the Presidency—that of administering the Department of Defense.

Kennedy Chose Competent, Open-Minded Men

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Unless the signs deceive, a new Administration with an exceptional level of human competence will be the final result of the methodical man-hunt that President-elect Kennedy has been conducting ever since his victory.

Competence is the key word, for reasons suggested by the common characteristics which unite the new Secretaries of State, of Defense, and of the Treasury. Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara, and Douglas Dillon are all men of great intelligence, with a wide knowledge of the world and with the vigor and courage, too, that are needed to face the fairly unpleasant key facts of these painful times.

But they belong neither to right nor left. They are not doctrinaire. They wear no blinkers. They accept no limitations, except the limitations that the hard facts impose. Their simple, highly pragmatic aim is to deal with the hard facts in whatever way will be most likely to safeguard and promote the great interests of the United States.

Almost all the highly impressive men now being tapped or considered for second level posts have the same peculiar human coloration. Roswell Gilpatrick, already named as Under Secretary of Defense, and the man who will probably be Gilpatrick's partner in harness, Paul H. Nitze, are obvious cases in point. So is the vice president of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, Robert Roose, who is likely to take a high post at the Treasury under Dillon.

So too is the dean of Harvard, the brilliant MacGeorge Bundy, who may come into the State Department as the dean of the Foreign Service, or may head up a special arms control study group under the President. So too is David K. E. Bruce, who is quite certain to get one of the highest diplomatic posts abroad. So too is Charles E. Bohlen, who may go to Paris as Ambassador, but is now more likely to be retained as chief Soviet expert for the Secretary of State and the President.

Other names might be mentioned, but the list is long enough to make the essential point. Some of the men listed are, or were, Republicans. Others have always been Democrats. One, the professional foreign service officer, Bohlen, has been trained to serve, and has loyally served, Administrations of both parties.

But in any rational sense, all these men are all totally nonpartisan, except in one respect. All of them are strong partisans of the valuable but uncommon method of government, which consists in dealing with the hard facts in a practical, forthright, and unprejudiced manner.

Kennedy's preference for this special human type — for men of extreme competence and tested courage, who do not carry excess doctrinaire baggage — in turn explains both the rejoicing and the grumbling that have recently been audible.

The favorites of the Democratic left wing, Adlai Stevenson and Chester Bowles, never had any real chance of becoming Secretary of State, for the very same reason that they are the left wing's favorites. Both men, in different ways, have a doctrinaire tinge.

Obviously Kennedy sympathizes far more with this liberal-doctrinaire tinge than with the right wing-doctrinaire tinge visible, in its very deepest hue, in Secretary of Treasury Robert Anderson. But no tinge at all is preferred. Hence Bowles and Stevenson were effectively ruled out for the top job at the State Department. Hence, too, there is visible unhappiness in the Democratic left wing.

By the same token, President Eisenhower is cross as two sticks with Douglas Dillon because of his decision to accept the Treasury Department under Kennedy. This is really because Dillon's decision revealed the fact (which should have startled no one, but did apparently startle the President) that Dillon is poles apart from the nervous-doctrinaire Anderson.

The President himself did not used to be a doctrinaire-conservative. He might have been rescued if he had insisted on having his way at the beginning of his Administration, when he wanted to name John J. McCloy Secretary of State. Instead he named John Foster Dulles to please the late Robert A. Taft, and Dulles did not believe that arguing with George M. Humphrey and Charles E. Wilson was any part of his business. And with no one to pull the other way, the President's outlook soon became the outlook of his dynamic but passionately doctrinaire first Secretary of the Treasury.

But now the departure of the right wing-doctrinaire is soon to occur. They are not to be replaced, either, but their opposite numbers on the left. And this is as good an augury as one could ask.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NEW YEAR'S GREETING — A form of New Year's greetings of lo, these many years has been the sending of free calendars. Some are business reminders, others contain those beautiful undraped photographs of the fair sex. However, it took the Office of Civil and Defense Administration to think up a new wrinkle.

Despite the somewhat gruesome contents, OCDM head Leo Hoegh is urging every American family to obtain one of his calendars and post it in a prominent place in the home.

Besides the usual information on days, weeks and months of the year. Hoegh's calendar contains vital information for use by Americans in case of an enemy nuclear attack, or a disaster. The calendar also sports a list of first aid procedures.

Seriously, it's a good idea. Hoegh could well use the slogan: "read my calendar and keep living!"

TOO MANY BANDS? — Inauguration committee officials are quietly tearing their hair over the open-handed invitations issued by Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson during the campaign.

It seems that wherever Johnson went during the campaign, he was serenaded by local bands of one sort or another. And in thanking the musicians, the big-hearted Texan would invite them to come to Washington to play in the inauguration parade.

Well, acceptances are now pouring in — and the word is "pouring." One inauguration official, somewhat distraught, exclaimed: "If they all come, they'll be marching past the White House for two days!"

Covering Corpses

By John Crosby

The press is coming under increasing scrutiny and the talk is downbeat, to put it mildly. Doubleday has just published a book called "The Fading American Newspaper" (really, are we that close to extinction?) by Carl E. Lindstrom, a newspaperman. Erwin D. Canham, of "The Christian Science Monitor," former president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, warns of "a crisis of confidence in the press."

"The Times" of London, in a scholarly piece, declares of the American press, "The big city papers face constant criticism that their news and opinion columns are too bland, too much alike, and contain too much that is trivial. Sensational tabloids are practically extinct in the United States now." (My own interjection: as opposed to Great Britain where the sensation press is very rich and very awful.) "The Times" points out that the drift to the suburbs, great traffic congestion in the bigger cities and rising costs are among the factors that have caused the shrinkage of newspapers and increase in their troubles in the nation's biggest cities, those over 250,000 population.

"In spite of criticism of their editorial policies, the metropolitan publishers feel that the wage-and-cost spiral is the real cause of their troubles," says "The Times." "They claim that if they could find a cheaper basis of operation all the present papers could survive and some new ones could be born." As a new economic pattern, "The Times" flirts with the suggestion of smaller newspapers with much less advertising and much more expensive advertising and perhaps national newspapers such as the British have.

We are not a tight little island like Britain but nevertheless, with the advances in transportation, and technologies, national newspapers are not inconceivable. Certainly the economic base of newspapers has had little except wailing done about it. I have always felt that newspapers should charge what they are worth. The advertising would be extra. The publisher would neither eliminate it (as "PM" did) nor be dependent on it. Every other commodity charges its cost-plus-profit. Why not newspapers? (Mark Ethridge, publisher of "The Louisville Courier Journal," has suggested that newspapers charge what they're worth too.)

In "The Reporter," Louis Lyons, curator of the Nieman Foundation at Harvard University, also asks why national newspapers are not feasible. "Time and space in America, we are told, present such a national reach for a natural community of readers. But if 'The Wall Street Journal' and the 'Christian Science Monitor' can distribute nationally from several printing plants, it is hard to see why some other papers of distinction might not seek a sufficient circulation at large . . . It can be done only if the reader will pay more of the cost. He should."

Lyons, who is a very distinguished student of the press, points out that national newspapers would mitigate what he calls the chain store aspect of journalism. This is a common complaint, namely, that more and more newspapers are relying on a few packaged syndicated columnists. This means that the newspapers lose individuality and control to absentee columnists.

That's one way of looking at it. But speaking as a columnist who has been syndicated for some fourteen years, I think that the advantage of the syndicated columnist in informing the country is generally overlooked. Some of the best (as well as some of the worst) journalists in America are syndicated — Lippmann, Reston, Alsop, to name three—and they have an independence from pressure that no strictly local newspaperman, dependent on the publisher for his livelihood, can boast. Also, the syndicated columns present a variety of points of view within the same newspaper.

Two criticisms I have of newspapers I don't find elsewhere are these: first, the points of origin of too much news are Washington and Hollywood (although less of that lately) and too little from the rest of the country; second, that the press reacts rather than acts. The press is too disaster prone, covering the country as it would a police station. Or, to put it another way, it covers the corpses but not the living bodies.

Blockage Of The Lymphatic Passageways

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Swelling of a leg after an operation, infection, or injury often stems from blockage of the lymphatic passageways. This system is a honeycombed series of spaces, ducts, and glands within the tissues of the body, including the deepest layers of the skin.

Lymph is a clear fluid that resembles blood serum except that it does not contain red blood cells. It filters out infectious materials and other debris from the tissues; its depots along the way act as the body's defense against the spread of infection.

Red streaks on the leg or arms of a person with an infected toe or finger represent inflamed lymph passageways. The condition is referred to as "blood poisoning" but actually is lymphangitis. Swollen tender glands in the groin or armpit are the depots holding back the infection.

When the lymph passageways in a leg or an arm become blocked, the extremity swells (lymphedema) because the fluid cannot escape. Obstruction may result from injury to the main passageway. In others, infection produces swelling of the wall and narrowing of the ducts. Many micro-organisms are capable of doing this, including the filarial organism. This was the critter that frightened our servicemen in the South Pacific theater, when they saw so many natives with enlarged elephant sized-legs.

Swelling also is associated with malignancy, especially when cancer cells invade and plug the lymphatic channels. Milk leg is caused by a combination of venous and lymphatic blockage. There is a congenital form of lymphedema that manifests itself during puberty.

A supportive bandage should be worn always to prevent the overdistended spaces from becoming permanently dilated. Surgery may be needed for massive swelling. The outer lost layer of skin (15/1,000 inch) is set aside while all the swollen tissues down to the muscles are removed. The skin is sutured back on to the muscles.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on edema of the legs if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

STREP INFECTION

R. S. writes: Can scarlet fever in a child bring on a heart murmur?

REPLY

Yes, provided scarlet fever was followed by rheumatic fever with heart involvement. The streptococci that cause scarlet fever are the same critters that bring on rheumatic fever in susceptible individuals.

NEARSIGHTEDNESS

T. E. N. writes: Can anything be done for progressive myopia?

REPLY

No, although a few years ago an English eye specialist believed that he retarded the myopic process in children by increasing the protein content of the diet. Progression of nearsightedness usually ceases by age 25.

FLASH MEDICINE

M. C. writes: My doctor gives me stilbestrol for hot flashes. Is this a hormone?

REPLY

It is a chemical that produces physiological effects identical with those given by the estrogenic (sex) hormones. Stilbestrol is referred to as a synthetic hormone or an estrogenic substance.

TONSIL INFECTIONS

E. S. writes: If a child has frequent attacks of tonsilitis, does this mean his tonsils are bad?

REPLY

Yes, but the tonsils should be examined before concluding that tonsillectomy is needed.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Playwright Harry Kurnitz, on an Atlantic crossing, once occupied a deck chair next to the great George Bernard Shaw. Shaw had his nose buried in a book the first two days, however, and Kurnitz was too over-awed to interrupt him, although he was dying to know what book it was that engrossed Shaw so thoroughly.

Finally, Kurnitz saw his chance on the third morning. Shaw put down the book and set forth on a walk round the deck. The moment he was out of sight, Kurnitz picked up the book. It was "Volume IV of the Collected Plays of George Bernard Shaw!"

And if a missile were aimed at it, there would probably be sufficient warning for the train to move out of range of its burst before it arrived.

The purpose of the trains is to give the United States a nuclear retaliatory force that cannot be knocked out by a relatively few well-aimed missiles—a distinct possibility with "hardened" bases such as are needed for the Atlas and Titan missiles.

Minuteman can be mobile because it is solid-fueled. It can be jostled with impunity—until someone pushes the button. Even then, two men have to push two buttons before it will be activated.

Coupled with the Polaris missile, borne as it is on submarines, the Minuteman will give the U. S. a very effective retaliatory force.

These Days

The Electoral College

So on December 19, the Electoral College met in each state and elected John F. Kennedy, President of the United States. Before that the aforesaid John Kennedy had appointed his Cabinet although he was not yet President. However, he waited a day or two, perhaps out of courtesy, to resign as United States Senator from Massachusetts. Well, now he is actually President even if you did not know about it before.

The farce was carried through with customary ceremony although it hardly mattered and nobody cared. The Electoral College is an obsolete institution.

I wondered what might have happened in this tight election if some electors chose to switch their votes. It is doubtful whether they could do that in many states. For instance, where I live their names did not even appear on the ballot. I might have been cantankerous and demanded my right to vote for electors in accordance with the Constitution but I feared that someone would send for a psychiatrist and having a particular dislike for that breed of cats, I thought that I had better keep quiet and not ask for electors. Besides what difference do they make?

The Electoral College is an obsolete institution which has no reason for existence but which can only be abolished by a Constitutional Amendment. Its purpose was to establish a state-controlled screening body which would safeguard the Presidency from the rabble. Some, these days, say that it also had the purpose of giving minority parties a voice, but this is clearly incorrect because when the Constitution was written there were no political parties and there were really none during the first Administration of George Washington. John Adams who subsequently was described as a Federalist was Washington's Vice President, and Thomas Jefferson who later was called a Democratic Republican was his Secretary of State. No political party is mentioned in the Constitution and no provision for political parties was ever made in it. The Federal Government does not control elections and such bodies as the Republican and Democratic National Committees are not recognized by any Acts of Congress as functioning bodies.

The Corrupt Practices Acts have nothing to do with political parties but with elected public officials who do what everybody does and get caught.

All this being so, the Electoral College has nothing to do with minority parties nor have we gone in for proportional representation, a system that came close to ruining France. As a matter of fact, the minority parties appear on ballots under various state laws, just as the majority parties do. It could be legally possible for one state to permit a minority party, let us say, the Prohibitionists or the Vegetarians, to appear on the ballot and for another state to reject such parties. This is a state matter.

Television is making many changes in our lives, some beneficial, some very harmful. The National Convention, as a televised institution, will cease to take so much time and the speakers already are no longer wasting hours on rubbish because on television they sound so ridiculous. But the essential fact of the televised convention and the televised campaign is that it makes the election national in character. A candidate can no longer say one thing in Wisconsin and another in Texas because both publics hear what he says in each place. Also, candidates, have to gear themselves to a television voice, a television stance, a television personality.

It must be remembered that Richard Nixon started as two to one over Kennedy but after the first debate, the campaign was practically over. When I am told that I have yet to hear what tricks the Kennedy people played on Nixon, it leaves me cold because Nixon should have had a Hollywood director who guarded against tricks. Television is of the theater; it is produced by theatrical personnel. Nixon could not speak to a national audience as well as John Kennedy could.

The national election for the President, by a popular vote, is inevitable and will become sharper as this generation discovers what the Electoral College is—a party-appointed group of contributors and local politicians chosen by each party to cast a vote for an already elected person. It is like an appendix which does no harm until it becomes a nuisance and has to be cut out. Let us cut this one out.

Next Defense Chief Gets Initiation In Pressure And Service Rivalry

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—As the Navy's latest airplane carrier was burning in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the next Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara, met with the Navy's chief Congressional champion, crusty Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia, whose faith in carriers remains so unshakable in this age of rockets and H-bombs that his colleagues call him "Admiral."

President-elect Kennedy promised during his campaign that he would recommend important Pentagon changes in January. But his new Secretary of Defense barged out of Vinson's office to assure reporters that he would undertake "no major reorganization of the Defense Department in the immediate future."

Congressman Vinson beamed with approval as the bright but green McNamara threw down Kennedy's election promise and talked as if he had already been taken over by the Navy.

What happened during the private conference between the Secretary of Defense and the No. 1 champion of the Navy was not reported either by Vinson or McNamara. However, this column is able to reveal the highlights.

Symington's Claims "Fantastic"

Vinson declared that the Defense Department reorganization plan prepared by Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, former Secretary of the Air Force, would create a "colossus of chaos," and might seriously disrupt our whole defense setup "in these tense times." The Symington program, he said, was really the brainchild of the Air Force which had prepared it for its first civilian boss, Symington.

As the powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Vinson had fought the battle against Symington and unification back in 1949-50. Last week he marshalled up some of the same arguments he used 10 years before. He was vigorously against the abolition of the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force and the setting up of a single chief of staff for the three military services.

"If we do that," he said, "we'll have three times less democracy in the Defense Department than we have now. What's more, it would create enormous administrative problems. Senator Symington says his program would do away with 23 top jobs including various under secretaries. But someone will have to do their work," continued the Congressman from Georgia. "You can eliminate individuals, but you can't eliminate the work that has to be done."

One reason for Kennedy's proposed reorganization of the Defense Department is to save money; and Senator Symington has claimed that his unification plan would save the taxpayers $8 billion. This, said the hard-hitting Congressman from Georgia, is "fantastic."

"I'd like to know where he got that figure," declared Vinson. "As chairman of the Armed Services Committee, I have dealt closely with the military establishment for years, and in my opinion, the taxpayer would lose money in the long run, instead of saving it!

Beware Of One-Man Rule!

Paul Kilday of San Antonio, Texas, another potent Congressman, also attended the closed-door session with McNamara. In Kilday's district is one of the biggest Air Force bases in the world, and he is generally considered more pro-Air Force than pro-Navy. He told Secretary McNamara, however, that the Air Force would also become "disillusioned" with the Symington unification plan.

Back in 1937, the Texan recalled, the Air Corps, then part of the Army, had requested 100 new long-range B-17 bombers. Secretary of War Woodring not only vetoed the request, but signed an order holding Air Corps bombers to a range of only 300 miles, thus limiting bombers to short-range tactical missions.

"Does the Air Force want to go back to that type of one-man control?" remarked Kilday.

Both Vinson and Kilday argued that the Symington proposal would place vast "monolithic" power in the Secretary of Defense — that he would have absolute control over the spending of the $40 billion defense budget as well as control over the military and civilian functions of the Defense Department.

"This is no reflection on you," Vinson told McNamara. "We have the highest respect for your ability and integrity. However, Congress must always act on the possibility that the Defense Department someday may be headed by one whose qualifications aren't the highest.

"You may decide to resign. We have had a lot of new secretaries since 1947; in fact the average term of service of a Defense Secretary since 1947 has been, as I recall, about 18 months. We don't want someone in there in the future who may abuse all this power he would have under this proposed reorganization."

The new Secretary of Defense listened politely. He was careful not to commit himself. But he began to get some realization of the discouraging labyrinth of interservice rivalry, Congressional pressure, and political bickering that surrounds the biggest job in Washington next to the Presidency—that of administering the Department of Defense.

Kennedy Chose Competent, Open-Minded Men

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Unless the signs deceive, a new Administration with an exceptional level of human competence will be the final result of the methodical man-hunt that President-elect Kennedy has been conducting ever since his victory.

Competence is the key word, for reasons suggested by the common characteristics which unite the new Secretaries of State, of Defense, and of the Treasury. Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara, and Douglas Dillon are all men of great intelligence, with a wide knowledge of the world and with the vigor and courage, too, that are needed to face the fairly unpleasant key facts of these painful times.

But they belong neither to right nor left. They are not doctrinaire. They wear no blinkers. They accept no limitations, except the limitations that the hard facts impose. Their simple, highly pragmatic aim is to deal with the hard facts in whatever way will be most likely to safeguard and promote the great interests of the United States.

Almost all the highly impressive men now being tapped or considered for second level posts have the same peculiar human coloration. Roswell Gilpatrick, already named as Under Secretary of Defense, and the man who will probably be Gilpatrick's partner in harness, Paul H. Nitze, are obvious cases in point. So is the vice president of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, Robert Roose, who is likely to take a high post at the Treasury under Dillon.

So too is the dean of Harvard, the brilliant MacGeorge Bundy, who may come into the State Department as the dean of the Foreign Service, or may head up a special arms control study group under the President. So too is David K. E. Bruce, who is quite certain to get one of the highest diplomatic posts abroad. So too is Charles E. Bohlen, who may go to Paris as Ambassador, but is now more likely to be retained as chief Soviet expert for the Secretary of State and the President.

Other names might be mentioned, but the list is long enough to make the essential point. Some of the men listed are, or were, Republicans. Others have always been Democrats. One, the professional foreign service officer, Bohlen, has been trained to serve, and has loyally served, Administrations of both parties.

But in any rational sense, all these men are all totally nonpartisan, except in one respect. All of them are strong partisans of the valuable but uncommon method of government, which consists in dealing with the hard facts in a practical, forthright, and unprejudiced manner.

Kennedy's preference for this special human type — for men of extreme competence and tested courage, who do not carry excess doctrinaire baggage — in turn explains both the rejoicing and the grumbling that have recently been audible.

The favorites of the Democratic left wing, Adlai Stevenson and Chester Bowles, never had any real chance of becoming Secretary of State, for the very same reason that they are the left wing's favorites. Both men, in different ways, have a doctrinaire tinge.

Obviously Kennedy sympathizes far more with this liberal-doctrinaire tinge than with the right wing-doctrinaire tinge visible, in its very deepest hue, in Secretary of Treasury Robert Anderson. But no tinge at all is preferred. Hence Bowles and Stevenson were effectively ruled out for the top job at the State Department. Hence, too, there is visible unhappiness in the Democratic left wing.

By the same token, President Eisenhower is cross as two sticks with Douglas Dillon because of his decision to accept the Treasury Department under Kennedy. This is really because Dillon's decision revealed the fact (which should have startled no one, but did apparently startle the President) that Dillon is poles apart from the nervous-doctrinaire Anderson.

The President himself did not used to be a doctrinaire-conservative. He might have been rescued if he had insisted on having his way at the beginning of his Administration, when he wanted to name John J. McCloy Secretary of State. Instead he named John Foster Dulles to please the late Robert A. Taft, and Dulles did not believe that arguing with George M. Humphrey and Charles E. Wilson was any part of his business. And with no one to pull the other way, the President's outlook soon became the outlook of his dynamic but passionately doctrinaire first Secretary of the Treasury.

But now the departure of the right wing-doctrinaire is soon to occur. They are not to be replaced, either, but their opposite numbers on the left. And this is as good an augury as one could ask.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NEW YEAR'S GREETING — A form of New Year's greetings of lo, these many years has been the sending of free calendars. Some are business reminders, others contain those beautiful undraped photographs of the fair sex. However, it took the Office of Civil and Defense Administration to think up a new wrinkle.

Despite the somewhat gruesome contents, OCDM head Leo Hoegh is urging every American family to obtain one of his calendars and post it in a prominent place in the home.

Besides the usual information on days, weeks and months of the year. Hoegh's calendar contains vital information for use by Americans in case of an enemy nuclear attack, or a disaster. The calendar also sports a list of first aid procedures.

Seriously, it's a good idea. Hoegh could well use the slogan: "read my calendar and keep living!"

TOO MANY BANDS? — Inauguration committee officials are quietly tearing their hair over the open-handed invitations issued by Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson during the campaign.

It seems that wherever Johnson went during the campaign, he was serenaded by local bands of one sort or another. And in thanking the musicians, the big-hearted Texan would invite them to come to Washington to play in the inauguration parade.

Well, acceptances are now pouring in — and the word is "pouring." One inauguration official, somewhat distraught, exclaimed: "If they all come, they'll be marching past the White House for two days!"

Blockage Of The Lymphatic Passageways

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Swelling of a leg after an operation, infection, or injury often stems from blockage of the lymphatic passageways. This system is a honeycombed series of spaces, ducts, and glands within the tissues of the body, including the deepest layers of the skin.

Lymph is a clear fluid that resembles blood serum except that it does not contain red blood cells. It filters out infectious materials and other debris from the tissues; its depots along the way act as the body's defense against the spread of infection.

Red streaks on the leg or arms of a person with an infected toe or finger represent inflamed lymph passageways. The condition is referred to as "blood poisoning" but actually is lymphangitis. Swollen tender glands in the groin or armpit are the depots holding back the infection.

When the lymph passageways in a leg or an arm become blocked, the extremity swells (lymphedema) because the fluid cannot escape. Obstruction may result from injury to the main passageway. In others, infection produces swelling of the wall and narrowing of the ducts. Many micro-organisms are capable of doing this, including the filarial organism. This was the critter that frightened our servicemen in the South Pacific theater, when they saw so many natives with enlarged elephant sized-legs.

Swelling also is associated with malignancy, especially when cancer cells invade and plug the lymphatic channels. Milk leg is caused by a combination of venous and lymphatic blockage. There is a congenital form of lymphedema that manifests itself during puberty.

A supportive bandage should be worn always to prevent the overdistended spaces from becoming permanently dilated. Surgery may be needed for massive swelling. The outer lost layer of skin (15/1,000 inch) is set aside while all the swollen tissues down to the muscles are removed. The skin is sutured back on to the muscles.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on edema of the legs if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Dressing for cold weather.

STREP INFECTION

R. S. writes: Can scarlet fever in a child bring on a heart murmur?

REPLY

Yes, provided scarlet fever was followed by rheumatic fever with heart involvement. The streptococci that cause scarlet fever are the same critters that bring on rheumatic fever in susceptible individuals.

NEARSIGHTEDNESS

T. E. N. writes: Can anything be done for progressive myopia?

REPLY

No, although a few years ago an English eye specialist believed that he retarded the myopic process in children by increasing the protein content of the diet. Progression of nearsightedness usually ceases by age 25.

FLASH MEDICINE

M. C. writes: My doctor gives me stilbestrol for hot flashes. Is this a hormone?

REPLY

It is a chemical that produces physiological effects identical with those given by the estrogenic (sex) hormones. Stilbestrol is referred to as a synthetic hormone or an estrogenic substance.

TONSIL INFECTIONS

E. S. writes: If a child has frequent attacks of tonsilitis, does this mean his tonsils are bad?

REPLY

Yes, but the tonsils should be examined before concluding that tonsillectomy is needed.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Playwright Harry Kurnitz, on an Atlantic crossing, once occupied a deck chair next to the great George Bernard Shaw. Shaw had his nose buried in a book the first two days, however, and Kurnitz was too over-awed to interrupt him, although he was dying to know what book it was that engrossed Shaw so thoroughly.

Finally, Kurnitz saw his chance on the third morning. Shaw put down the book and set forth on a walk round the deck. The moment he was out of sight, Kurnitz picked up the book. It was "Volume IV of the Collected Plays of George Bernard Shaw!"

He concluded his brief remarks with a heartfelt, "We all hope the deceased is now residing where we know he ain't."

Covering Corpses

By John Crosby

The press is coming under increasing scrutiny and the talk is downbeat, to put it mildly. Doubleday has just published a book called "The Fading American Newspaper" (really, are we that close to extinction?) by Carl E. Lindstrom, a newspaperman. Erwin D. Canham, of "The Christian Science Monitor," former president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, warns of "a crisis of confidence in the press."

"The Times" of London, in a scholarly piece, declares of the American press, "The big city papers face constant criticism that their news and opinion columns are too bland, too much alike, and contain too much that is trivial. Sensational tabloids are practically extinct in the United States now." (My own interjection: as opposed to Great Britain where the sensation press is very rich and very awful.) "The Times" points out that the drift to the suburbs, great traffic congestion in the bigger cities and rising costs are among the factors that have caused the shrinkage of newspapers and increase in their troubles in the nation's biggest cities, those over 250,000 population.

"In spite of criticism of their editorial policies, the metropolitan publishers feel that the wage-and-cost spiral is the real cause of their troubles," says "The Times." "They claim that if they could find a cheaper basis of operation all the present papers could survive and some new ones could be born." As a new economic pattern, "The Times" flirts with the suggestion of smaller newspapers with much less advertising and much more expensive advertising and perhaps national newspapers such as the British have.

We are not a tight little island like Britain but nevertheless, with the advances in transportation, and technologies, national newspapers are not inconceivable. Certainly the economic base of newspapers has had little except wailing done about it. I have always felt that newspapers should charge what they are worth. The advertising would be extra. The publisher would neither eliminate it (as "PM" did) nor be dependent on it. Every other commodity charges its cost-plus-profit. Why not newspapers? (Mark Ethridge, publisher of "The Louisville Courier Journal," has suggested that newspapers charge what they're worth too.)

In "The Reporter," Louis Lyons, curator of the Nieman Foundation at Harvard University, also asks why national newspapers are not feasible. "Time and space in America, we are told, present such a national reach for a natural community of readers. But if 'The Wall Street Journal' and the 'Christian Science Monitor' can distribute nationally from several printing plants, it is hard to see why some other papers of distinction might not seek a sufficient circulation at large . . . It can be done only if the reader will pay more of the cost. He should."

Lyons, who is a very distinguished student of the press, points out that national newspapers would mitigate what he calls the chain store aspect of journalism. This is a common complaint, namely, that more and more newspapers are relying on a few packaged syndicated columnists. This means that the newspapers lose individuality and control to absentee columnists.

That's one way of looking at it. But speaking as a columnist who has been syndicated for some fourteen years, I think that the advantage of the syndicated columnist in informing the country is generally overlooked. Some of the best (as well as some of the worst) journalists in America are syndicated — Lippmann, Reston, Alsop, to name three—and they have an independence from pressure that no strictly local newspaperman, dependent on the publisher for his livelihood, can boast. Also, the syndicated columns present a variety of points of view within the same newspaper.

Two criticisms I have of newspapers I don't find elsewhere are these: first, the points of origin of too much news are Washington and Hollywood (although less of that lately) and too little from the rest of the country; second, that the press reacts rather than acts. The press is too disaster prone, covering the country as it would a police station. Or, to put it another way, it covers the corpses but not the living bodies.

Major Projects Set For W. Va. Legislature

Boost In Economy Termed Biggest Job

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Senate President - elect Howard Carson of Fayette said Tuesday three major projects faced the 1961 session of the West Virginia Legislature.

Carson, here making plans for the session which opens Jan. 11, said the biggest job facing the lawmakers was to get the Mountain State's economy "going uphill again."

He said the second project was to "create a climate attractive to prospective industrialists" and the third was to "clean-up the state."

"A drive to clean-up West Virginia would go a long way toward attractive new industry, which in turn would create new jobs," he said. Carson noted that Gov.-elect W. W. Barron had advocated such a program.

Carson would not comment on possible enactment of new taxes but said he felt West Virginia's would not be against them if the new revenue expanded essential governmental services and boosted the state's economy.

Carson was named earlier this month during a caucus of Democratic senators to succeed Sen. Ralph J. Bean, D-Hardy, as Senate president. He said he had reached no decision on important committee posts within the Senate, but hoped to have some announcements before the end of the week.

Sen. Clarence E. Martin, D-Berkeley, currently is majority leader and chairman of the judiciary committee but Carson said he was considering a plan to divide the two jobs.

Finance chairman Glenn Jackson, D-Logan, was defeated in the primary election by Dan Dahill, Logan County member of the House of Delegates.

Pay Of W. Va. Officials Lower Than U. S. Average

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A review of records compiled by the Council of State Governments shows that salaries of West Virginia's elected officials do not come up to the national averages.

However, they are not drastically below them.

From the council's records it was determined the average salary for a governor was $19,140 while West Virginia pays it's chief executive $17,500, only $1,640 yearly less.

The Mountain State is farthest behind the average in its pay for the state superintendent of schools. West Virginia allocates $12,000 yearly for this job while the average is $13,814.

Is $58 Behind

It is closer in the pay for a state treasurer than in any other, only $58 behind the national average with it's $11,000 salary.

The $12,000 paid the state attorney general by the Mountain State is $1,340 below the national average. Others are auditor $11,000, $374 below the average; agriculture commissioner $11,000, down $623 and secretary of state $11,000, down $457 from the average.

A brochure put out by Gov.-elect W. W. Barron for consideration by delegates to a pre-legislative planning conference suggested hikes in pay for elected officials. It said consideration should be given to salaries of $25,000 for the governor, $20,000 for state supreme court judges and $17,500 for members of the board of public works.

May Increase

It's doubtful the Legislature would agree to go this far even if there was a recommendation from the conference. But it's a good bet the lawmakers will hike the governor's salary to at least an equal and probably slightly than that of the State Mental Health director who draws $20,000 annually.

It its higher, then the governor would become the second highest paid state official. The President of West Virginia University, with a $30,000 annually pay check, is the highest.

There are indications among the lawmakers and some associates close to Barron that if the Legislature is incline to hike the salaries of the elected officials then some consideration should be given to increasing the pay for certain department heads.

Counties Seek Inclusion In Appraisal Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Tax Department said Wednesday it had received applications from seven more counties to be included in the statewide property appraisal program.

But a spokesman said unless the 1961 Legislature grants a request for $1.5 million to continue the reappraisal program it will end next June 30. He said presently there was not enough money to include the seven in the first phase of the work.

The seven were identified as Grant, Harrison, Kanawha, Mingo, Monroe, McDowell and Tucker Counties.

Assessment Equalization Director Wednell W. Bowyer said since the program began in 1958 property records of 32 counties have been microfilmed and real property of 15 had been re - mapped and both real and personal property of nine had been appraised.

Appraisals are now underway in 10 additional counties.

STEP Provides Jobs For 1,112

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Conservation Commission said Wednesday 1,112 persons are currently employed in parks and forests projects under the State Temporary Economic Program (STEP).

A total of 1,556 persons have worked for the commission since STEP was approved by the 1960 legislature, the commission said.

The program was enacted in an effort to put some of West Virginia's army of jobless to work at the rate of $1-an-hour.

Miss Judy Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards, 87 Gilmore Street, Keyser, was crowned queen of the annual Christmas dance held by the Keyser High School Key Club at the Loyal Order of Moose Home in Keyser December 23. Miss Edwards was crowned by Miss Beverly Strickler, last year's queen. Runnersup were April Lynn McKee, Marjorie Nichols and Cindy Welshonce. Decorations were on the Christmas theme.

Free Diagnostic Clinics Planned By Area Hospital

ROMNEY—The board of directors of Hampshire Memorial Hospital has approved the establishment of a series of free diagnostic clinics at the institution on a regularly scheduled basis.

The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of two board members and the administrator, Henry L. Harness, to work with the medical staff to do the necessary planning and organizing to get the clinics started.

The hospital's administration expects that the first free clinic to be organized will be a cancer detection clinic to be conducted by Dr. R. E. Straub, resident surgeon, and Dr. L. Walter Fix, pathologist.

The board also contemplates the future establishment of a diabetes detection clinic and a well baby clinic. Service clubs and other organizations in the community will be given an opportunity to assist in the organization and operation of the clinics.

Mr. Harness commended the board for its willingness to establish the free clinics to protect the health of the people of Hampshire county. He said the hospital is prepared to serve their needs with the finest kind of equipment and an excellent staff of doctors, nurses and technicians to provide treatment and care.

Surplus Plant Sale Negotiations Are Postponed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A meeting between officials of the General Services Administration (GSA) and representatives of the General Dynamics Corp. for sale of a surplus government plant at Huntington, W. Va., Wednesday was postponed until after the first of the year.

A spokesman for the GSA said the discussions, started Tuesday, were undertaken at the request of Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va. Originally, the government agency had discussed sale of the property with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

The property consists of 16 buildings on 9.8 acres of land. The acquisition cost to the government was $2,126,000. The plant was used during the war to build specialized electronic equipment and was declared surplus last year.

Canopy Placed Over Altar

FROSTBURG—The Feast of the Circumcision of Our Lord, will be celebrated Sunday in St. Michael's Catholic Church with masses at 7, 8, and 9 a. m. and 5:10 p. m.

The church altar for Christmas was adorned with white and red potted poinsettias and lighted candles. New improvements, installed during the past week in the sanctuary, include a large canopy over the main altar with indirect lighting and red velvet drapery in back of the altar.

The senior mixed choir sang at the high mass and the girls' choir presented a program of carols at the 9 a. m. mass Christmas. Mrs. Anthony Bollino directed the adult choir with Mrs. Genevieve Goldsworthy organist. Sister M. Johnnette served as organist for the Girls Choir.

Man Is Held For Grand Jury

PRINCETON, W. Va. (UPI) — Robert Lee White, 32, was ordered held for grand jury action Wednesday by Magistrate Bee Peck on charges of attempted extortion and arson.

White is accused of setting fire to a house owned by an elderly man on Christmas Day near here after Joseph R. Hatcher, about 80, ignored a threatening letter.

State Trooper D. L. Moye said White admitted following his arrest Tuesday night that he sent the letter to Hatcher, demanding $3,000 and threatening to burn his house if he refused.

The house that was destroyed was owned by Hatcher but occupied by a widow named Bessie Cruise. She was not at home when the blaze occurred. The loss was estimated at some $3,000. Hatcher's own home is about a quarter of a mile away.

Production Declines

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Federal - State Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday that West Virginia layer hen production last month amounted to 26 million eggs, a drop of 2 million below October. For the first 11 months of this year, the production was put at 370,000 million.

Trent Slated For Post In Administration

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov.-elect W. W. Barron's administrative assistant in the incoming Democratic state administration will be Curtis B. Trent Jr. of Logan, informed Statehouse sources said Wednesday.

Trent has been chief assistant attorney general under Barron since 1957 and is a former member of the House of Delegates from Logan County.

Another possibility for the post now held under Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood by Charles F. Straughan, also of Logan, was Fred H. Caplan, Clarksburg, also an assistant attorney general.

However, it was reported that Caplan now is in line for appointment next year by Barron as a member of the Public Service Commission.

Trent is a graduate of the West Virginia College of Law. He also attended Morris Harvey and Marshall Colleges and George Washington University.

Sheriff To Provide "Taxi" To New Year's Celebrants

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Kanawha County sheriff's office is going to offer free "taxi" service Saturday night to New Year's Eve party - goers who might have one too many.

It will be the first service offered by Sheriff - elect Dewey Kuhns.

Chief Deputy John Layne said Wednesday that he talked over the plan with Kuhns, who becomes sheriff as of 12:01 a.m. on Jan. 1, and that Kuhns was all for offering rides home to people who over-celebrate at parties.

"We decided it would be better for us to give party-goers a ride home than to have to investigate accidents," said Layne.

Meanwhile, State Police Supt. Hazen H. Fair said his policy of freeing all possible personnel for road patrol during the Christmas holiday week end would continue in effect during New Year's week end.

He, too, urged that party goers leave their cars at home or at least to leave them on a parking lot after the parties and ride home in a taxi or other public conveyance, rather than risk accidents.

Weather forecasters indicated roads would not be in as precarious condition in the state as on Christmas week end, when there were four traffic deaths.

There were four fatalities during New Year's week end a year ago. It was a three-day week end, Friday through Sunday. This year the week end also will be three days, Saturday through Monday. The legal holiday is Monday, Jan. 2, since the first day of the year falls on Sunday.

Major Projects Set For W. Va. Legislature

Boost In Economy Termed Biggest Job

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Senate President - elect Howard Carson of Fayette said Tuesday three major projects faced the 1961 session of the West Virginia Legislature.

Carson, here making plans for the session which opens Jan. 11, said the biggest job facing the lawmakers was to get the Mountain State's economy "going uphill again."

He said the second project was to "create a climate attractive to prospective industrialists" and the third was to "clean-up the state."

"A drive to clean-up West Virginia would go a long way toward attractive new industry, which in turn would create new jobs," he said. Carson noted that Gov.-elect W. W. Barron had advocated such a program.

Carson would not comment on possible enactment of new taxes but said he felt West Virginia's would not be against them if the new revenue expanded essential governmental services and boosted the state's economy.

Carson was named earlier this month during a caucus of Democratic senators to succeed Sen. Ralph J. Bean, D-Hardy, as Senate president. He said he had reached no decision on important committee posts within the Senate, but hoped to have some announcements before the end of the week.

Sen. Clarence E. Martin, D-Berkeley, currently is majority leader and chairman of the judiciary committee but Carson said he was considering a plan to divide the two jobs.

Finance chairman Glenn Jackson, D-Logan, was defeated in the primary election by Dan Dahill, Logan County member of the House of Delegates.

Pay Of W. Va. Officials Lower Than U. S. Average

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A review of records compiled by the Council of State Governments shows that salaries of West Virginia's elected officials do not come up to the national averages.

However, they are not drastically below them.

From the council's records it was determined the average salary for a governor was $19,140 while West Virginia pays it's chief executive $17,500, only $1,640 yearly less.

The Mountain State is farthest behind the average in its pay for the state superintendent of schools. West Virginia allocates $12,000 yearly for this job while the average is $13,814.

Is $58 Behind

It is closer in the pay for a state treasurer than in any other, only $58 behind the national average with it's $11,000 salary.

The $12,000 paid the state attorney general by the Mountain State is $1,340 below the national average. Others are auditor $11,000, $374 below the average; agriculture commissioner $11,000, down $623 and secretary of state $11,000, down $457 from the average.

A brochure put out by Gov.-elect W. W. Barron for consideration by delegates to a pre-legislative planning conference suggested hikes in pay for elected officials. It said consideration should be given to salaries of $25,000 for the governor, $20,000 for state supreme court judges and $17,500 for members of the board of public works.

May Increase

It's doubtful the Legislature would agree to go this far even if there was a recommendation from the conference. But it's a good bet the lawmakers will hike the governor's salary to at least an equal and probably slightly than that of the State Mental Health director who draws $20,000 annually.

It its higher, then the governor would become the second highest paid state official. The President of West Virginia University, with a $30,000 annually pay check, is the highest.

There are indications among the lawmakers and some associates close to Barron that if the Legislature is incline to hike the salaries of the elected officials then some consideration should be given to increasing the pay for certain department heads.

Counties Seek Inclusion In Appraisal Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Tax Department said Wednesday it had received applications from seven more counties to be included in the statewide property appraisal program.

But a spokesman said unless the 1961 Legislature grants a request for $1.5 million to continue the reappraisal program it will end next June 30. He said presently there was not enough money to include the seven in the first phase of the work.

The seven were identified as Grant, Harrison, Kanawha, Mingo, Monroe, McDowell and Tucker Counties.

Assessment Equalization Director Wednell W. Bowyer said since the program began in 1958 property records of 32 counties have been microfilmed and real property of 15 had been re - mapped and both real and personal property of nine had been appraised.

Appraisals are now underway in 10 additional counties.

HOLLYWOOD — Here are the money makers — the 10 stars who have brought in the most money at the boxoffice during 1960 as tabulated by Quigley Publications Motion Picture Herald. The votes come straight from the exhibitors in this country and in Canada. The winners are:

Doris Day—The champ, and the first time in many years that a woman star has led all the others.

Rock Hudson—In second spot and a repeater from several years back.

Cary Grant—A perennial favorite "in the money."

Elizabeth Taylor—Her "Butterfield 8" is a financial smash.

Debbie Reynolds — Her second time 'round in the chips.

Tony Curtis—The first time he has appeared on the list, but hardly the last.

Sandra Dee—Also her first time. Sandra was nominated as "The Star of Tomorrow" by the Herald in 1959 and lived up to her billing in 60.

Frank Sinatra—A familiar face, figure and financial item in the line-up.

Jack Lemmon—Also Jack's first appearance. Congratulations to a good actor.

John Wayne—The most durable of the money-makers who has been on the list so long, usually at the top, his name is a permanent fixture.

A holiday call came from Gregory Peck, who with Veronique and their children, is enjoying himself in Palm Springs after seven months on "Guns of Navarone."

"I have some news for you," Greg told me. "We have signed Polly Bergen for my next picture, which was called 'The Executioners,' but which we have now changed to 'Cape Fear.' That brilliant young Englishman Lee Thompson, who directed 'Navarone' and "Tiger Bay" will direct our picture for my independent company in partnership with Sy Bartlett. We'll start filming in March."

It's going to be like old home week when Sandra Dee and Juanita Moore meet on the set of "Tammy Tell Me True" for Ross Hunter at U-I. Young Sandra and Juanita, the fine Negro actress, were together in "Imitation of Life"—the picture that made a star of Sandra and won an Oscar nomination for Miss Moore in the "supporting actress" category.

Producer Ross Hunter tells me that he had a long distance call from Juanita telling him she would arrive from New York tomorrow — and coincidentally, so does Sandra from Miami. She's been in Florida spending as much time as possible with bridegroom Bobby Darin.

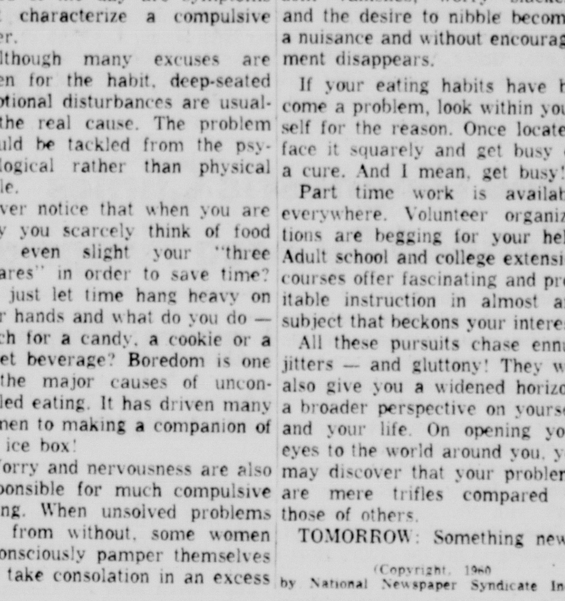

Little chance of Maureen O'Hara and Brian Keith being typed as comedy co-stars despite the laughs they're getting at the previews of Walt Disney's "The Parent Trap."

Teamed again Maureen and Brian will be seen in the newly formed Pathe-American's first picture, a stark drama called "Deadly Companions." The A. S. Fleischman novel is about two lonely desperate people caught in the backwash of the Civil War. Sam Peckinpaugh is the director.

Versatility is nothing new for Maureen or Brian. He's the brawny, he-man star of "The Westerner" TV series, and Maureen is all over the place on TV these holidays singing Irish songs.

New interests will help you resist compulsive eating habits.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Do You "Nibble?" Why?

Food should always be a means to an end, never an end in itself. The moment a woman starts living to eat, both her health and her looks are in danger. A constant craving for food and the nibbling habit indulged in at all hours of the day are symptoms that characterize a compulsive eater.

Although many excuses are given for the habit, deep-seated emotional disturbances are usually the real cause. The problem should be tackled from the psychological rather than physical angle.

Ever notice that when you are busy you scarcely think of food and even slight your "three squares" in order to save time? But just let time hang heavy on your hands and what do you do — reach for a candy, a cookie or a sweet beverage? Boredom is one of the major causes of uncontrolled eating. It has driven many women to making a companion of her ice box!

Worry and nervousness are also responsible for much compulsive eating. When unsolved problems nag from without, some women unconsciously pamper themselves and take consolation in an excess of food. But glut as they may, it will solve none of their worries but only create a new one when they discover what it does to their beauty!

The best solution for this type of overeating is more activities and more interests. When you are absorbed in some endeavor, boredom vanishes, worry slackens and the desire to nibble becomes a nuisance and without encouragement disappears.

If your eating habits have become a problem, look within yourself for the reason. Once located, face it squarely and get busy on a cure. And I mean, get busy!

Part time work is available everywhere. Volunteer organizations are begging for your help. Adult school and college extension courses offer fascinating and profitable instruction in almost any subject that beckons your interest.

All these pursuits chase ennui, jitters — and gluttony! They will also give you a widened horizon, a broader perspective on yourself and your life. On opening your eyes to the world around you, you may discover that your problems are mere trifles compared to those of others.

Church To Observe Student Day

Student Recognition Day will be observed Sunday at Central Methodist Church, South George Street, according to Rev. Chester C. Hustead, pastor.

College students of the church will participate. Sue Dye, who attends Hood College, Frederick, will give the call to worship.

Donna Hopkins, Frostburg State Teachers College, will conduct a general confession, while David Leasure, also Frostburg State, will give a Scripture lesson. Edwin Hustead, Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., will direct a prayer and intercession service.

Student Recognition Day is observed so as to honor those "seeking to become better citizens and leaders in the world by obtaining a higher education," according to Rev. Mr. Hustead.

Churchill Recovering

WESTERHAM, England (UPI) —Sir Winston Churchill is "recovering quickly" from the back injury he suffered in a fall six weeks ago, a spokesman said Tuesday. Churchill spent Christmas at his country home here "with most of his family around him," the spokesman said.

Injured Youths Said 'Poor'

Two of the four persons injured in the highway accident Saturday near Centerville on U.S. Route 220 remain in "poor" condition at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Hospital attaches said Donald Stillwagon, 20, of 118 Greene Street, city, and William E. Phillips, 20, Carpenter's Addition, Ridgeley, are still seriously injured and are not allowed visitors.

Meanwhile, Rae Anne Eichhorn, 20, of Lonaconing, has been released from the hospital.

All three were hospitalized in a one-car mishap about five miles north of Centerville. The car was being operated by Kathryn Virginia Nave, 20, RD 3, Bedford and went out of control and struck a bridge abutment. The driver was not hospitalized.

State Police Adds Three

Three State Police troopers are being added to the force at the LaVale Barracks, according to Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the local barracks.

Lt. O'Hara said the additional men will bring the personnel strength to 32. Four of these troopers work in Garrett County, from the Oakland outpost.

Troopers Leonard Franklin Glenn and James Francis Powers are being transferred here from the Frederick barracks, while Trooper Robert Bruce Cave has been working out of the Waldorf barracks.

Trooper Glenn, a native of Cumberland, was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1951, while Trooper Cave formerly resided in Luke, and was graduated from Bruce High School, Westernport. Trooper Powers formerly resided in Lonaconing and graduated in 1954 from Valley High School.

The men will begin their duties in Allegany County on Sunday.

Traffic Light Being Repaired

The traffic light at the Dingle Circle will be out of operation for the next couple of days, according to local police officials.

New parts have arrived for the traffic light and are being installed. Workmen said the installation will take about two days.

Bloodmobile Visit

The Johnstown Bloodmobile Unit will set up quarters at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, for donors Tuesday. The unit will open at the plant at noon and remain open until 6 p. m.

The average depth of the ocean is 12,450 feet.

Rebels Edge Alco In Overtime; Fort Hill Whips Alumni

Allegany Drops First; Strawther, Smith Pace Victors

South Hagerstown High's rampaging Rebels stopped a veteran Allegany High quintet last night to chalk up their seventh consecutive triumph without a defeat in an over time battle at Campobello. The score was 70 to 64.

Coach Nick Scallion's Rebels are touted the best team in the history of the school and they overcame an early Camper lead to pull the victory out of the fire with a 10-point spurt in the three-minute extra stanza.

Allegany, suffering its first loss in three games this season, had the advantage of the home floor and bounced off to a quick 8-0 lead in the opening stanza before the Rebels could get organized. Goals by Jim Gaffney, Alan Kaplon and Mervin Pope along with a pair of fouls by Wayne Shook gave the Campers the quick lead.

Allegany led 19-12 at the close of the first period in which Pope tallied nine times. The Campers retained the edge at 34-30 at intermission, but South High rallied for three goals at the beginning of the third stanza to go 36-34. The Campers tied the score at 36-all before Jim Smith, South's high-scoring forward put the Rebels ahead again where they remained until the closing seconds of the game. South led, 45-42, at the end of the third period.

Trailing 60-56 in the last minute of play, Allegany put in two quick baskets to tie the score. Jerry Pentoney's bucket eight seconds before the final whistle knotting the score at 60-all and sending the contest into overtime.

But, here the Campers ran out of steam and South High poured in 10 consecutive points in the first two minutes of the overtime stanza. A pair of goals by Smith, another by Melvin Monroe, two fouls by Ed Strawther and another goal by Bill Baker accounted for South's spurt. Trailing 70-60, Allegany scored in the final seconds on a pair of foul tosses by Pope and Pentoney's goal as the final buzzer sounded to close the gap to 70-64.

Smith and Strawther paced the Rebels attack with 43 points. The former garnered 23 tallies, 10 in the fourth period to keep the Rebels in the game against Allegany's spirited last-ditch rally.

High man for Allegany was Pope with 22 points, followed by Shook's 14.

The Campers were outscored 27-20 from the field but stayed in the ball game with a terrific performance at the foul line where Coach Chet Payne's cagers hooped 24 of 32 free throws. South High hit on 16 of 30. The lineups:

Van Brocklin Heads NFL All-Star Backfield Picks

Hornung, Moore, Brown Also Named

NEW YORK (AP)—Norm Van Brocklin, the old quarterback master of the Philadelphia Eagles, heads the National Football League all-star backfield that also includes Paul Hornung of Green Bay and Lenny Moore of Baltimore at the halfback posts and Jimmy Brown of Cleveland at fullback.

The brilliant quartet was picked for the offensive team on the annual all-star array chosen for The Associated Press by a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Although Van Brocklin and his mates beat Green Bay, 17-13, for the championship, the Packers landed six and the Eagles only three of the 22 first team positions.

The offensive and defensive teams, announced Wednesday, also included four Colts, two players each from St. Louis, Cleveland and New York, and one man from Detroit, Chicago and San Francisco. Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Washington and Dallas failed to gain a place on the first team.

Exactly one half of last year's all-stars made the first teams again. The repeaters included six on offense — Moore, end Ray Berry and tackle Jim Parker of Baltimore; guard Jim Ray Smith and Brown of Cleveland; and center Jim Ringo of Green Bay.

The defensive repeater included end Gino Marchetti of Baltimore; end Andy Robustelli and safety Jimmy Patton of New York; linebacker Bill George of Chicago and halfback Abe Woodson of San Francisco.

Colts Helped By Draft Says Don Kellett

Future Stars Among Picks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "We feel we have helped materially the places where we needed help."

So said Baltimore Colt general manager Don Kellett as the Colts finished picking 22 players Wednesday in the National Football League's college player draft.

"We've got them, now all we have to do is sign them," said Kellett. The Colts will dispatch representatives to line up their new talent as soon as possible.

They expect some competition from the American Football League and the Canadian circuit. But their first choice, Ohio State back Tom Matte, said in San Francisco Wednesday he favors the NFL over the AFL.

Other name players corralled by Baltimore are Tom Gilburg, Syracuse tackle; Jerry Hill, Wyoming halfback; Ken Gregory, star pass-catching end from little Whittier College; fullback Ed Dyas of Auburn and Paul Terhes, Bucknell quarterback.

The Colts bartered their second first-round choice to San Francisco for offensive end Dee Mackey.

"I'm very well pleased," Kellett said. "We got a placekicker in Dyas and a punter in Gilburg."

"We are drafting for what we need," said coach Weeb Ewbank. "Mackey will help. Tom Brown can play offense or defense, and so can Gilburg. Matte is an outstanding back."

Brown, a guard on Minnesota's Rose Bowl team, was chosen as a future by the Colts two years ago.

The Colts went strongly for beef, picking up only two "name" players and six futures in Wednesday's concluding session of the two-day draft.

The two players many fans will recognize are halfback Bob Clemens of Pitt and fullback Tom Weisner of Wisconsin.

The futures — players with college eligibility left — are Clemens, end Steve Jastrzembski of Pitt, tackles Bob Hunt of Southern Methodist, Wilson Allison of Baylor and Joe Novsek of Tulsa and halfback Al Kimbrough of Northwestern.

Two other futures chosen Tuesday are tackles Ronnie Osborne of Clemson and Pete Nicklas of Baylor.

Twigg Scores 23 Points As Varsity Team Wins First

Coach Jimmy Eckhard's Fort Hill Sentinels got on the winning track for the first time this season yesterday when the high school varsity quint turned back an Alumni aggregation by a 53-43 score.

In a game which marked the 25th anniversary of basketball at Fort Hill, the Sentinels hopped off to a 17-3 first quarter lead and coasted to victory. The win snapped a two-game losing streak for the Fort Hillians.

George Twigg was the big gun for Fort Hill as he pumped in 23 points for the varsity on 11 goals and 1-2 at the foul line. High scorers for the Grads, who lost for the eighth straight year, were Thurl Roy and Charles, each of whom scored eight tallies.

Twenty-three players saw action in the listless game which saw Fort Hill leading 17-3, 30-16 and 47-29 at the quarters. Glenn Shipway, Fort Hill center, was the only player ejected on personal fouls.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, former mentor for Fort Hill basketball teams, was master of ceremonies at festivities held prior to the game last night in honor of the 25th anniversary of the sport at the school. The program was sponsored by the Fort Hill Booster Club.

In a preliminary game the Fort Hill Jayvees defeated the Fort Hill Hi-Y quint, 62-34. The lineups:

Irish Defeat Illinois, 69-66

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) —Notre Dame, leading almost all the way, took Illinois, 69-66, in a consolation game of the Hoosier Classic here Wednesday night.

Illinois closed the gap to four points near the end of the contest but couldn't maintain the pace. With both squads even on field goals, Notre Dame's win came on the free-throw line.

At halftime Notre Dame led 41-34. High scorers for the winners were John Dearie with 22 points and Tony Reo with 18. Dave Downe was high for Illinois with 20.

CORNELL COACH — Tom Harp, 33, backfield coach for Army at West Point for the past five years, has been selected by Cornell University as its 16th head football coach. He succeeds George K. (Lefty) James at Cornell on Lake Cayuga in Ithaca, N. Y. He was given a three-year contract. (AP Photofax).

Harp Is Named Cornell Coach

Army Mentor To Replace James

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)— Tom Harp, a builder of All-America halfbacks, Wednesday was chosen from among 125 candidates to succeed George (Lefty) James as head football coach at Cornell University.

James was fired as coach of the one-time Ivy League champions after the Big Red team won only two of nine during the past season.

Harp, who at 33 will be the youngest head football coach in the Ivy League, has been backfield coach at Army for the last five years during which time he was instrumental in developing All-America halfbacks Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson.

A native of Barnesville, Ohio, Harp said he accepted the Cornell position because "it was a definite challenge and it was an opportunity I was looking forward to."

He pointed out that Army did not play any of the Ivy League teams in recent years, "so I'm not in any position to comment now on the calibre of football at Cornell or in the league in general."

"I do know they have had some difficulties at Cornell," Harp added, "and I'm ready to get to work there as soon as possible."

Harp said he plans to assume his new duties around Jan. 5 and will "make some changes" in the Cornell staff "after I get a chance to talk with the present assistant coaches."

Chargers Land Four On Mythical Eleven

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Chargers, who meet the Houston Oilers Sunday in Houston for the American Football League championship, placed four men on the 22-man offensive and defensive all-star teams picked for The Associated Press by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Quarterback Jack Kemp and halfback Paul Lowe, the Chargers' breakaway threat, made the first team on offense. They were joined in the backfield by halfback Abner Haynes of Dallas and fullback Dave Smith of Houston.

Dallas also placed four men on the two teams as did Buffalo. Guard Bill Krisher and Haynes made the offensive team while end Mel Branch and linebacker Sherill Headrick of the Texans are on defensive unit.

Buffalo's four men all are defensive stalwarts — back Richie McCabe, end Laverne Torczon, tackle Charles McMurtry and linebacker Archie Matsos.

Houston was represented by tackle Al Jamison and Smith on the offensive team and by back Mark Johnston on defense. New York put end Art Powell and guard Bob Mischak on the offensive club and linebacker Larry Grantham on the defensive team. Denver had end Lionel Taylor on offense and tackle Bud McFadin and safetyman Austin Consoulin on defense.

Rebels Edge Alco In Overtime; Fort Hill Whips Alumni

Allegany Drops First; Strawther, Smith Pace Victors

South Hagerstown High's rampaging Rebels stopped a veteran Allegany High quintet last night to chalk up their seventh consecutive triumph without a defeat in an over time battle at Campobello. The score was 70 to 64.

Coach Nick Scallion's Rebels are touted the best team in the history of the school and they overcame an early Camper lead to pull the victory out of the fire with a 10-point spurt in the three-minute extra stanza.

Allegany, suffering its first loss in three games this season, had the advantage of the home floor and bounced off to a quick 8-0 lead in the opening stanza before the Rebels could get organized. Goals by Jim Gaffney, Alan Kaplon and Mervin Pope along with a pair of fouls by Wayne Shook gave the Campers the quick lead.

Allegany led 19-12 at the close of the first period in which Pope tallied nine times. The Campers retained the edge at 34-30 at intermission, but South High rallied for three goals at the beginning of the third stanza to go 36-34. The Campers tied the score at 36-all before Jim Smith, South's high-scoring forward put the Rebels ahead again where they remained until the closing seconds of the game. South led, 45-42, at the end of the third period.

Trailing 60-56 in the last minute of play, Allegany put in two quick baskets to tie the score. Jerry Pentoney's bucket eight seconds before the final whistle knotting the score at 60-all and sending the contest into overtime.

But, here the Campers ran out of steam and South High poured in 10 consecutive points in the first two minutes of the overtime stanza. A pair of goals by Smith, another by Melvin Monroe, two fouls by Ed Strawther and another goal by Bill Baker accounted for South's spurt. Trailing 70-60, Allegany scored in the final seconds on a pair of foul tosses by Pope and Pentoney's goal as the final buzzer sounded to close the gap to 70-64.

Smith and Strawther paced the Rebels attack with 43 points. The former garnered 23 tallies, 10 in the fourth period to keep the Rebels in the game against Allegany's spirited last-ditch rally.

High man for Allegany was Pope with 22 points, followed by Shook's 14.

The Campers were outscored 27-20 from the field but stayed in the ball game with a terrific performance at the foul line where Coach Chet Payne's cagers hooped 24 of 32 free throws. South High hit on 16 of 30. The lineups:

Grads Bow To Sentinels Five, 53-43

Twigg Scores 23 Points As Varsity Team Wins First

Coach Jimmy Eckhard's Fort Hill Sentinels got on the winning track for the first time this season yesterday when the high school varsity quint turned back an Alumni aggregation by a 53-43 score.

In a game which marked the 25th anniversary of basketball at Fort Hill, the Sentinels hopped off to a 17-3 first quarter lead and coasted to victory. The win snapped a two-game losing streak for the Fort Hillians.

George Twigg was the big gun for Fort Hill as he pumped in 23 points for the varsity on 11 goals and 1-2 at the foul line. High scorers for the Grads, who lost for the eighth straight year, were Thurl Roy and Charles, each of whom scored eight tallies.

Twenty-three players saw action in the listless game which saw Fort Hill leading 17-3, 30-16 and 47-29 at the quarters. Glenn Shipway, Fort Hill center, was the only player ejected on personal fouls.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, former mentor for Fort Hill basketball teams, was master of ceremonies at festivities held prior to the game last night in honor of the 25th anniversary of the sport at the school. The program was sponsored by the Fort Hill Booster Club.

In a preliminary game the Fort Hill Jayvees defeated the Fort Hill Hi-Y quint, 62-34. The lineups:

Irish Defeat Illinois, 69-66

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) —Notre Dame, leading almost all the way, took Illinois, 69-66, in a consolation game of the Hoosier Classic here Wednesday night.

Illinois closed the gap to four points near the end of the contest but couldn't maintain the pace. With both squads even on field goals, Notre Dame's win came on the free-throw line.

At halftime Notre Dame led 41-34. High scorers for the winners were John Dearie with 22 points and Tony Reo with 18. Dave Downe was high for Illinois with 20.

Downes Leaves For U.S. Bout

LONDON (UPI)—British middleweight champion Terry Downes left Wednesday for the United States and his Jan. 14 title fight in Boston with world champion Paul Pender.

CORNELL COACH — Tom Harp, 33, backfield coach for Army at West Point for the past five years, has been selected by Cornell University as its 16th head football coach. He succeeds George K. (Lefty) James at Cornell on Lake Cayuga in Ithaca, N. Y. He was given a three-year contract. (AP Photofax).

Harp Is Named Cornell Coach

Army Mentor To Replace James

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)— Tom Harp, a builder of All-America halfbacks, Wednesday was chosen from among 125 candidates to succeed George (Lefty) James as head football coach at Cornell University.

James was fired as coach of the one-time Ivy League champions after the Big Red team won only two of nine during the past season.

Harp, who at 33 will be the youngest head football coach in the Ivy League, has been backfield coach at Army for the last five years during which time he was instrumental in developing All-America halfbacks Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson.

A native of Barnesville, Ohio, Harp said he accepted the Cornell position because "it was a definite challenge and it was an opportunity I was looking forward to."

He pointed out that Army did not play any of the Ivy League teams in recent years, "so I'm not in any position to comment now on the calibre of football at Cornell or in the league in general."

"I do know they have had some difficulties at Cornell," Harp added, "and I'm ready to get to work there as soon as possible."

Harp said he plans to assume his new duties around Jan. 5 and will "make some changes" in the Cornell staff "after I get a chance to talk with the present assistant coaches."

Chargers Land Four On Mythical Eleven

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Chargers, who meet the Houston Oilers Sunday in Houston for the American Football League championship, placed four men on the 22-man offensive and defensive all-star teams picked for The Associated Press by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Quarterback Jack Kemp and halfback Paul Lowe, the Chargers' breakaway threat, made the first team on offense. They were joined in the backfield by halfback Abner Haynes of Dallas and fullback Dave Smith of Houston.

Dallas also placed four men on the two teams as did Buffalo. Guard Bill Krisher and Haynes made the offensive team while end Mel Branch and linebacker Sherill Headrick of the Texans are on defensive unit.

Buffalo's four men all are defensive stalwarts — back Richie McCabe, end Laverne Torczon, tackle Charles McMurtry and linebacker Archie Matsos.

Houston was represented by tackle Al Jamison and Smith on the offensive team and by back Mark Johnston on defense. New York put end Art Powell and guard Bob Mischak on the offensive club and linebacker Larry Grantham on the defensive team. Denver had end Lionel Taylor on offense and tackle Bud McFadin and safetyman Austin Consoulin on defense.

Petersburg Cage Tourney Gets Under Way Tonight

Vikings To Battle Franklin, Jackets Tackle Circleville

Petersburg High School's Vikings will put a 5-0 record on the line when they face the Franklin Panthers and the Circleville Indians will oppose the Moorefield High Yellowjackets in the opening round games of the Holiday Basketball Tournament tonight at Petersburg High School.

Coach Carroll Michael's undefeated Vikings will play Franklin at 7 o'clock while the Moorefield-Circleville semi-final is slated to get under way at 8:30.

The championship game is set for 8:30 p. m., Friday and will be preceded by the consolation game between Thursday night's losers at 7 p. m.

Officials for the two-day tournament are John and Junior Halterman of Moorefield.

Franklin's record is 1-5, Moorefield is 3-1 and Circleville, boasting the highest scoring player in the tri-state area in Orville Harper, who has registered 182 points in six games, has won two and lost four.

Thomas Sites, principal of Petersburg High School, is in charge of arrangements for the tourney.

Colts And Eagles To Play Basketball

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI)— The deposed National Football League champions, the Baltimore Colts, will play the newly crowned champions, the Philadelphia Eagles, in a basketball game here Friday night.

The coaches of the football-basketball teams are a team in themselves, father and son. Freddy Schupak, Sr., equipment manager of the Eagles, will coach the Philadelphia five while Freddy Schupack, Jr., equipment manager for Baltimore, coaches the Colts.

Cresaptown, Congregational Teams Upset

St. Michael's And St. Joseph's Win

FROSTBURG—Cresaptown Methodist and Congregational saw unblemished records marred in the Fearer Memorial Basketball League here last night as a rash of upsets marked play in the church loop. Meanwhile St. Joseph's and St. Michael's kept their winning streaks going by registering their sixth straight triumphs.

Cresaptown bowed to Frostburg Methodist for its first loss in six games, 44-38; Congregational lost to Calvary Baptist, 35-22, for its first loss in six starts and Calvary's first win of the season; Brethren won its first game, 38-30, over St. Paul; Salem recorded its first triumph of the year, 27-26, over Eckhart Baptist; St. Joseph's defeated Eckhart Methodist for its sixth straight win, 19-14; and St. Michael's made its record 6-0 with a 44-8 shellacking of English Baptist.

Other scores were D&W 48, Midland Methodist 17; and Presbyterian 21, Welsh 15. The lineups:

Fur, Fin and Campfire

By JACK SHERIDAN

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnesota, Mississippi and Missouri, college football's three "mighty M's," rate the edge in three of the top bowl games coming up on the New Year's weekend.

In the others, the nod here goes to Arkansas, Florida, New Mexico State, The Citadel, East All Stars and the Blue All Stars in just about as fancy a set of year-enders anyone could want.

The only one that looks like a mis-match is in the Sugar Bowl where Mississippi, unbeaten but once tied, is a 10 point favorite over 7-3 Rice. Even Minnesota, the nation's No. 1 team, doesn't rate that much of an edge over Washington in the Rose Bowl.

Around the leading bowls:

THE ROSE BOWL

Minnesota (8-1) over Washington (9-1) — Washington whomped Wisconsin in the Rose festival last Jan. 1 but Minnesota has only one thing in common with those disappointing Badgers — lack of speed. Minnesota is beefy and agile enough to grind out short gainers of the type that add up to first downs then touchdowns. The Gophers are mountains on defense but they'll have their hands full stopping the passes of Bob Hivner (and perhaps Bob Schloredt) if the Huskies can protect their thrower.

THE ORANGE BOWL

Missouri (9-1) over Navy (9-1) —It's "stop Joe Bellino or else" for big, mobile Missouri. Navy's all-America halfback is a dandy and Navy quarterback Hal Spooner is a better passer than generally rated. But Missouri pours on blocking power for runners like Donnie Smith, Mel West and Norris Stevenson. And several of the lads are back hoping to avenge last year's Orange Bowl defeat (14-0) by Georgia.

THE SUGAR BOWL

Mississippi (9-0-1) over Rice (7-3)—the Rebs have muscle, depth and a sharp quarterback in Jake Gibbs. Gibbs runs as well as he passes and that's a - plenty. Rice, despite a good defense, lost to Georgia Tech, Arkansas and Baylor—two by three points and one by six. If the Owls don't wear out in the second half, they could make it tough but apparently lack the depth to go all the way.

THE COTTON BOWL

Arkansas (8-2) over Duke (7-3) — U.C.L.A. knocked some of the luster off Duke's record with a 27-6 victor on national television but it's well to remember the Blue Devils handed Navy its only defeat. Duke has two passers to work with end Tee Moorman but Arkansas, a grim defender, also has a precise attack with a dandy quarterback in George McKinney.

THE GATOR BOWL

Florida (8-2) over Baylor (8-2) —One of the tightest of the bowl games. Both can pass and a fairly high score might come out of it. Picking Florida is guesswork.

THE SUN BOWL

NEW MEXICO State (10-1) over Utah State (9-1) — Another dandy featuring those rip-snortin' New Mexico Staters, led by Pervis Atkins and Bob Gaiters. What they lack in defense they make up for on the scoreboard.

Others:

East over the West in San Francisco on more beef, much of it from the Big 10.

Blue over the Gray at Montgomery, Ala., with Bernie Allen of Purdue outpassing Norm Snead of Wake Forest.

Citadel (7-2-1) over Tennessee Tech (8-2) in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

NFL Completes Two-Day Long Draft Session

280 Players From 130 Schools Picked

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League teams Wednesday completed a college player draft of 280 players from 130 schools and immediately set out to overcome a competitive handicap of some six weeks in signing the stars.

Although Commissioner Pete Rozelle refused to complain or say anything officially, it was obvious that the older league suffered somewhat from its attempt to cooperate with the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Rozelle scheduled the NFL draft for the end of December. He went along with the college groups request not to draft or attempt to sign collegians in postseason games. The infant American Football League, however, drafted in split sessions held late in November and early December.

As a result, AFL teams have been beating the bushes, signing players. Their activities had a definite effect on the NFL draft. Coaches and general managers took twice as long — some 20 hours over a two-day period — to complete their task. They drafted only after long distance telephone calls of assurance that players selected had not been signed by the rival AFL, and were interested in playing in the NFL.

The San Francisco 49ers led the draft parade with 26 selections in the 20 rounds as a result of choices acquired from other clubs in previous trades. St. Louis and Baltimore each picked 22 and Cleveland, Green Bay and Los Angeles 21 each. Pittsburgh was low with only 14 choices.

Dixie Classic Begins Today

Terps Face N.C. In Opening Round

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Four North Carolina teams and four from outside the state go after the Dixie Classic basketball tournament title Thursday in what shapes up to be another family feud.

Not since the big tournament was inaugurated 12 years ago has an outside team won the trophy. Defending the never-stained Dixie honor, as uaual, will be Duke, Wake Forest, North Carolina and North Carolina State.

The hopeful invaders of North Carolina State's 12,000-seat Reynolds Coliseum for the three-day stand are Maryland, Villanova, Marquette and Wyoming. The experts have put each of the visitors in the underdog role.

The Maryland Terps (5-1) open the tournament at 2 p. m. against North Carolina (4-2). North Carolina State (6-1) and Villanova (4-2) play at 4 p. m., Wake Forest (5-2) and Marquette (5-2) at 7:30, and Duke (7-0) and Wyoming (3-3) at 9 p. m.

Some 72,000 will watch the 12 games winding up with the title affair Saturday night. Each team, win or lose, takes home an equal share of the profits, plus expenses.

Duke's Blue Devils, sixth ranked in the latest Associated Press poll, have been installed as favorites. N. C. State, playing on its home floor and 10th ranked in the nation, ranks close behind. The Wolfpack has won the tournament seven times.

Closed Circuit

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — New York's Madison Square Garden, long the mecca of boxing, has surrendered to the electronic age and will have closed circuit television of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title bout March 13, it was announced Wednesday.

Tontz Is Victor In Mid-Atlantic Tennis Tournament

SALISBURY (AP) — Third-ranked Russell Tontz, a lefthanded Baltimorean with a wicked slice on his serve, won the junior championship of the Middle Atlantic Indoor Tennis tournament Wednesday with a 6-0, 6-4, 6-1 victory over unseeded Ron Lilley of Salisbury.

In the 15 - and - under final, second-seeded Len Schloss of Baltimore scored a 6-0, 6-4 victory over top-ranked Dick Dell of Bethesda, Md.

Tom Murphy of Kensington, Md., second-seeded in the 13-and-under group, beat top-seeded Raymond Buck Lew of Baltimore 6-3, 6-4, for that title.

Tontz experienced a little trouble only in the second set in beating Lilley for the 18-and-under championship.

Lilley had won a shot at the title by polishing off second-seeded Lou Dobies of Baltimore and fourth-ranked Mike Long of Salisbury in earlier rounds.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Hank Peters, farm director of the Kansas City Athletics met with the prospective owner of the new Honolulu baseball club here Wednesday to discuss spring training and exhibition games of the two clubs.

Meeker Dies In Vets Hospital

SEATTLE (AP) — Herbert L. (Butch) Meeker, a mighty mite who made football history at Washington State College more than three decades ago, died in a veterans hospital here Wednesday of cancer.

The 56-year-old Meeker was the scourge of Pacific Northwest gridkirons in the late 20s as quarterback for the Cougars of WSC.

He was only 5 feet 5 inches and weighed around 150 pounds at the height of his career.

Formal name for Texas Tech's athletic teams is Matadors but the teams are known as the Red Raiders.

Cresaptown, Congregational Teams Upset

St. Michael's And St. Joseph's Win

FROSTBURG—Cresaptown Methodist and Congregational saw unblemished records marred in the Fearer Memorial Basketball League here last night as a rash of upsets marked play in the church loop. Meanwhile St. Joseph's and St. Michael's kept their winning streaks going by registering their sixth straight triumphs.

Cresaptown bowed to Frostburg Methodist for its first loss in six games, 44-38; Congregational lost to Calvary Baptist, 35-22, for its first loss in six starts and Calvary's first win of the season; Brethren won its first game, 38-30, over St. Paul; Salem recorded its first triumph of the year, 27-26, over Eckhart Baptist; St. Joseph's defeated Eckhart Methodist for its sixth straight win, 19-14; and St. Michael's made its record 6-0 with a 44-8 shellacking of English Baptist.

Other scores were D&W 48, Midland Methodist 17; and Presbyterian 21, Welsh 15. The lineups:

Fur, Fin and Campfire

By JACK SHERIDAN

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnesota, Mississippi and Missouri, college football's three "mighty M's," rate the edge in three of the top bowl games coming up on the New Year's weekend.

In the others, the nod here goes to Arkansas, Florida, New Mexico State, The Citadel, East All Stars and the Blue All Stars in just about as fancy a set of yearenders anyone could want.

The only one that looks like a mis-match is in the Sugar Bowl where Mississippi, unbeaten but once tied, is a 10 point favorite over 7-3 Rice. Even Minnesota, the nation's No. 1 team, doesn't rate that much of an edge over Washington in the Rose Bowl.

Around the leading bowls:

THE ROSE BOWL

Minnesota (8-1) over Washington (9-1) — Washington whomped Wisconsin in the Rose festival last Jan. 1 but Minnesota has only one thing in common with those disappointing Badgers — lack of speed. Minnesota is beefy and agile enough to grind out short gainers of the type that add up to first downs then touchdowns. The Gophers are mountains on defense but they'll have their hands full stopping the passes of Bob Hivner (and perhaps Bob Schloredt) if the Huskies can protect their thrower.

THE ORANGE BOWL

Missouri (9-1) over Navy (9-1) —It's "stop Joe Bellino or else" for big, mobile Missouri. Navy's all-America halfback is a dandy and Navy quarterback Hal Spooner is a better passer than generally rated. But Missouri pours on blocking power for runners like Donnie Smith, Mel West and Norris Stevenson. And several of the lads are back hoping to avenge last year's Orange Bowl defeat (14-0) by Georgia.

THE SUGAR BOWL

Mississippi (9-0-1) over Rice (7-3)—the Rebs have muscle, depth and a sharp quarterback in Jake Gibbs. Gibbs runs as well as he passes and that's a - plenty. Rice, despite a good defense, lost to Georgia Tech, Arkansas and Baylor—two by three points and one by six. If the Owls don't wear out in the second half, they could make it tough but apparently lack the depth to go all the way.

THE COTTON BOWL

Arkansas (8-2) over Duke (7-3) — U.C.L.A. knocked some of the luster off Duke's record with a 27-6 victor on national television but it's well to remember the Blue Devils handed Navy its only defeat. Duke has two passers to work with end Tee Moorman but Arkansas, a grim defender, also has a precise attack with a dandy quarterback in George McKinney.

THE GATOR BOWL

Florida (8-2) over Baylor (8-2) —One of the tightest of the bowl games. Both can pass and a fairly high score might come out of it. Picking Florida is guesswork.

THE SUN BOWL

NEW MEXICO State (10-1) over Utah State (9-1) — Another dandy featuring those rip-snortin' New Mexico Staters, led by Pervis Atkins and Bob Gaiters. What they lack in defense they make up for on the scoreboard.

Others:

East over the West in San Francisco on more beef, much of it from the Big 10.

Blue over the Gray at Montgomery, Ala., with Bernie Allen of Purdue outpassing Norm Snead of Wake Forest.

Citadel (7-2-1) over Tennessee Tech (8-2) in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

NFL Completes Two-Day Long Draft Session

280 Players From 130 Schools Picked

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League teams Wednesday completed a college player draft of 280 players from 130 schools and immediately set out to overcome a competitive handicap of some six weeks in signing the stars.

Although Commissioner Pete Rozelle refused to complain or say anything officially, it was obvious that the older league suffered somewhat from its attempt to cooperate with the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Rozelle scheduled the NFL draft for the end of December. He went along with the college groups request not to draft or attempt to sign collegians in postseason games. The infant American Football League, however, drafted in split sessions held late in November and early December.

As a result, AFL teams have been beating the bushes, signing players. Their activities had a definite effect on the NFL draft. Coaches and general managers took twice as long — some 20 hours over a two-day period — to complete their task. They drafted only after long distance telephone calls of assurance that players selected had not been signed by the rival AFL, and were interested in playing in the NFL.

The San Francisco 49ers led the draft parade with 26 selections in the 20 rounds as a result of choices acquired from other clubs in previous trades. St. Louis and Baltimore each picked 22 and Cleveland, Green Bay and Los Angeles 21 each. Pittsburgh was low with only 14 choices.

Dixie Classic Begins Today

Terps Face N.C. In Opening Round

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Four North Carolina teams and four from outside the state go after the Dixie Classic basketball tournament title Thursday in what shapes up to be another family feud.

Not since the big tournament was inaugurated 12 years ago has an outside team won the trophy. Defending the never-stained Dixie honor, as usual, will be Duke, Wake Forest, North Carolina and North Carolina State.

The hopeful invaders of North Carolina State's 12,000-seat Reynolds Coliseum for the three-day stand are Maryland, Villanova, Marquette and Wyoming. The experts have put each of the visitors in the underdog role.

The Maryland Terps (5-1) open the tournament at 2 p. m. against North Carolina (4-2). North Carolina State (6-1) and Villanova (4-2) play at 4 p. m., Wake Forest (5-2) and Marquette (5-2) at 7:30, and Duke (7-0) and Wyoming (3-3) at 9 p. m.

Some 72,000 will watch the 12 games winding up with the title affair Saturday night. Each team, win or lose, takes home an equal share of the profits, plus expenses.

Duke's Blue Devils, sixth ranked in the latest Associated Press poll, have been installed as favorites. N. C. State, playing on its home floor and 10th ranked in the nation, ranks close behind. The Wolfpack has won the tournament seven times.

Closed Circuit

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — New York's Madison Square Garden, long the mecca of boxing, has surrendered to the electronic age and will have closed circuit television of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title bout March 13, it was announced Wednesday.

Tontz Is Victor In Mid-Atlantic Tennis Tournament

SALISBURY (AP) — Third-ranked Russell Tontz, a lefthanded Baltimorean with a wicked slice on his serve, won the junior championship of the Middle Atlantic Indoor Tennis tournament Wednesday with a 6-0, 6-4, 6-1 victory over unseeded Ron Lilley of Salisbury.

In the 15 - and - under final, second-seeded Len Schloss of Baltimore scored a 6-0, 6-4 victory over top-ranked Dick Dell of Bethesda, Md.

Tom Murphy of Kensington, Md., second-seeded in the 13-and-under group, beat top-seeded Raymond Buck Lew of Baltimore 6-3, 6-4, for that title.

Tontz experienced a little trouble only in the second set in beating Lilley for the 18-and-under championship.

Soviets Name No. 1 Athlete

MOSCOW (AP)— Yuri Vlasov, Russia's heavyweight weight-lifter who won a gold medal at the Rome Olympics, was named the Soviet's No. 1 athlete of 1960 Wednesday. Sports officials, writers and broadcasters participated in the poll.

Meets With Owner

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Hank Peters, farm director of the Kansas City Athletics met with the prospective owner of the new Honolulu baseball club here Wednesday to discuss spring training and exhibition games of the two clubs.

Meeker Dies In Vets Hospital

SEATTLE (AP) — Herbert L. (Butch) Meeker, a mighty mite who made football history at Washington State College more than three decades ago, died in a veterans hospital here Wednesday of cancer.

The 56-year-old Meeker was the scourge of Pacific Northwest gridkirons in the late 20s as quarterback for the Cougars of WSC.

He was only 5 feet 5 inches and weighed around 150 pounds at the height of his career.

Formal name for Texas Tech's athletic teams is Matadors but the teams are known as the Red Raiders.

Market Closes Higher Despite Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks picked up a little steam Wednesday and moved upstream despite the unsettling cross-currents of profit-taking and tax-selling.

The market tried to get a full-fledged year-end rally going in the morning but the attempt proved abortive although American Telephone and the railroad stocks shone brightly throughout.

Volume rose some 350,000 shares above Tuesday's pace to 3,620,000 while the broadest market since Dec. 15, 1959, amounted to 1,277 separate issues crossed the tape. These included 579 gainers and 449 losers. New highs outnumbered new lows by 34 to 14.

The Dow-Jones industrial average tacked on 2.37 to 615.75 largely due to 2¼ point gains for DuPont and Owens-Illinois while Union Carbide dropped the same amount. American Telephone chipped in with a gain of 1¾ to satisfy its 1,900,000 stockholders in continued response to the rights offering and dividend boost plus added comment that the stock now deserved "growth" status. The stock rose to a new all-time high.

The rail stocks achieved the best percentage gain with a rise of 1.17 to 131.01. Great Northern climbed 2¼ points. Utilities added 0.32 to 99.38 with Pacific Gas ahead 1½ and American Natural Gas up ¾ following news of a 2½-for-1 split and dividend boost.

Aircraft stocks started out well enough in added response to Tuesday's pledge by Vice President-elect Johnson that the Kennedy administration will have a "vigorous and accelerated" space program. Disillusion set in following news of project cancellations including one for Republic Aviation which dropped 1⅛.

Market Closes Higher Despite Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks picked up a little steam Wednesday and moved upstream despite the unsettling cross-currents of profit-taking and tax-selling.

The market tried to get a full-fledged year-end rally going in the morning but the attempt proved abortive although American Telephone and the railroad stocks shone brightly throughout.

Volume rose some 350,000 shares above Tuesday's pace to 3,620,000 while the broadest market since Dec. 15, 1959, amounted to 1,277 separate issues crossed the tape. These included 579 gainers and 449 losers. New highs outnumbered new lows by 34 to 14.

The Dow-Jones industrial average tacked on 2.37 to 615.75 largely due to 2¼ point gains for DuPont and Owens-Illinois while Union Carbide dropped the same amount. American Telephone chipped in with a gain of 1⅜ to satisfy its 1,900,000 stockholders in continued response to the rights offering and dividend boost plus added comment that the stock now deserved "growth" status. The stock rose to a new all-time high.

The rail stocks achieved the best percentage gain with a rise of 1.17 to 131.01. Great Northern climbed 2¼ points. Utilities added 0.32 to 99.38 with Pacific Gas ahead 1½ and American Natural Gas up ¾ following news of a 2½-for-1 split and dividend boost.

Aircraft stocks started out well enough in added response to Tuesday's pledge by Vice President-elect Johnson that the Kennedy administration will have a "vigorous and accelerated" space program. Disillusion set in following news of project cancellations including one for Republic Aviation which dropped 1⅛.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement at the death of our beloved husband and father, Chester K. Light. We thank Rev. Everett Culp , the pallbearers, those who sent flowers, and all who donated their cars for the funeral. To all who assisted in any way we are grateful.

WIFE AND CHILDREN,
HIS SISTERS

SEPTIC TANKS CL

Bumper 1960 Crops Boost Surpluses

By BERNARD BRENNER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's farmers in 1960 smashed all previous production records, and surpluses of wheat and corn piled higher and higher in government bins.

For consumers, the rising volume of farm production and a slight drop in average farm prices helped offset some of the effect of another round of small increases in food marketing costs. Agriculture Department reports showed retail food prices from July through September were up about 1 per cent over the same period in 1959.

Experts who had predicted farm income would tumble again in '60, following a 15 per cent drop in 1959, were fooled. Farm prices for the first nine months of 1960 were 2 per cent below 1959, and the gap was narrowing in the final months of the year. Net farm income for 1960 was expected to be equal to or slightly above the $11.3 billion of 1959, with little change forecast for 1961.

Net farm income in 1953, first of the Eisenhower administration years, was $13.9 billion.

Agriculture Department estimates for 1960 indicate crop production will be up about 2.5 per cent from 1959 and livestock production down about 1 per cent. Overall, farm output will be up to a new record, about 29 per cent above the volume farmers turned out only a deacde ago.

The big crops in 1960, harvested from a steadily-shrinking number of farms, again boosted the government's investment in surpluses piled up under price support programs.

In mid-summer the Agriculture Department owned or had made loans on $8.8 billion worth of crops that nobody else wanted to buy at the moment. By next summer, this total is expected to be somewhere between $9.5-$10 billion, largely because of a steady increase in surpluses of wheat and corn.

Cotton surpluses, which have been dropping since 1956, shrank again in 1960. By next summer, the cotton carry-over will be down below 7 million bales—less than half the amount on hand in 1956. But the wheat stockpile by next summer will be up to 1.5 billion bushels, more than enough to meet all domestic and export demand for a year—even if farmers destroyed the entire 1961 crop. The corn surplus, boosted by an all-time record harvest of nearly 4.4 billion bushels in 1960, will be up in '61 to about 2 billion bushels.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, winding up eight years in one of the cabinet's hottest seats, tried again in 1960 to persuade the Democratic Congress to solve the wheat surplus problem his way—by granting authority for lower support prices and relaxing or eliminating federal production controls. But Democrats who favor higher supports and tighter controls rejected Benson's proposals again. The result was another deadlock and no action.

Sources close to President-elect John F. Kennedy have indicated that one of his early moves in 1961 will be aimed at getting new legislation to curb the wheat surplus. Kennedy was elected on a platform pledging the new administration to boost farm income and to favor cutbacks in production when farmers themselves are willing to accept stiffer controls.

The abbreviation T.N.T. stands for the high explosive trintrotoluol, of the nitro-glycerine class.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

The successful player must not only see to it that his own choice of bids and plays is always proper, but must at times save his partner from indiscretions committed in the defense of a hand. An interesting case in point is recorded today.

Against the four heart contract, West made the normal opening of the jack of spades, which turned out to be unfortunate. The less attractive appearing lead of a club would have settled the issue then and there. The jack of spades was covered by the queen, king, and ace. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps and then played a spade to the nine. This was taken with the ten and the shift was to the three of clubs, taken by the ace in dummy. A heart was led to the closed hand and a club was discarded on the eight of spades. Declarer exited with a club. This was taken with the jack and the king of clubs continued, to force dummy into the lead.

Declarer then decided to lead the jack of diamonds. Had East elected to win with the ace and exit with a low diamond, declarer would have been obliged to lose another trick in the suit. But East actually played the queen, for some reason or other, and declarer won with the king. Had West retained his ten of diamonds, the contract would have been fulfilled, since he would have been obliged to win the next trick in that suit with no safe exit. The lead of either a club or a spade would provide declarer with a ruff and a discard. On the king of diamonds, however, the ten was jettisoned by West and East was able to win the next two tricks with the ace and the eight.

East Favored On Saturday

West Expected To Go To Air

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When you face a pair of defensive tackles weighing 240 and 245 pounds, a good idea is to go around or over them.

So you can expect the West squad to sweep the ends and do a lot of passing on Saturday against the behemoths of the East anchored by 240-pound Joe Rutgens of Illinois and 245-pound Ken Rice of Auburn.

Both were No. 1 pro draft choices, proving they have agility as well as heft which complicates the job of the West's Coach Billy Barnes.

He worked his squad in secret Wednesday putting in "some new wrinkles for the offense."

Fans in Kezar Stadium, home of the San Francisco professionals, could well see a collegiate all-star version of the spread formation the 49ers put to good use late in their campaign.

The weatherman was expected to cooperate with the underdog West's wide open offense since he forecast no rain for the rest of the week.

In the passing department, Barnes has quarterback Bill Kilmer from UCLA and Rich Mayo of the Air Force. In addition, halfback Keith Lincoln from Washington State has been ever dangerous both running and passing.

Aiming for even more speed in the backfield, Barnes moved halfback Jerry Hill of Wyoming from halfback to fullback.

Seattle Victor Over Washington State

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) —Seattle's Chieftains, capitalizing on a fast break offense and a ball hawking defense, defeated Washington State, 72-61, in the opening game of the eight-team Far West basketball classic Wednesday.

Four Chieftains scored in double figures as they topped Washington State. Eddie Miles, a 6-4 sophomore forward, had 19, Dave Mills added 12 and Tommy Shaules and Richie Brennan each had 11.

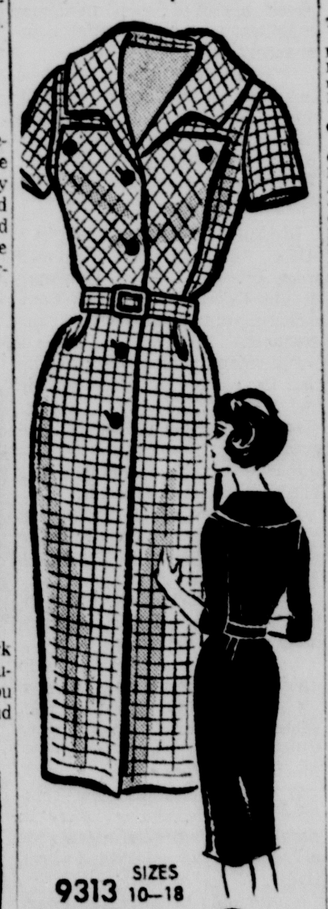

Xavier Whips Yale, 72 To 39

DETROIT (UPI) —Xavier's Musketeers, operating a zone with deadly skill, gave bewildered Yale a convincing lesson Wednesday night and merrily romped to a 72-39 victory in the Motor City Tournament's consolation game.

Xavier held a 40-17 halftime advantage and continued to roll it up after the intermission.

Bill Kirvin led the way for Xavier with 16 points and Frank Pinchback contributed 13. Bill Madden was high for Yale with 12. Xavier's record is now 6-3, and Yale's is 3-4.

Duke, Deacons, Clemson Lead In ACC Shooting

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Unbeaten Duke, Wake Forest and Clemson are the Atlantic Coast Conference's early shooting deadeyes, with the Blue Devils No. 1 from the floor with an average of 45.9 per cent. Wake Forest has hit 45.8 per cent, Clemson 45.7 per cent.

Maryland's Terps, once-defeated, top the conference in free throw shooting at 78.0 per cent, and also in defense with an average yield of 59.8 points.

N.C. State is No. in the ACC in scoring at 79.4 points a game, and also in average margin over the opposition, 9.9 points a game.

South Carolina, second in free throw accuracy at 71.9 per cent, is first in team reboundings with 52.6 recoveries a game.

North Carolina is second in average margin over the opposition, 8.9 points a game.

Arizona State Upsets Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Fired-up Arizona State of Tempe upset Oregon, 54-53, in the opening round of the Far West basketball classic Wednesday.

A free throw by 5-10 guard Rex Dernovich put Arizona State ahead 54-52 with 2:36 remaining to give the Sun Devils their victory margin.

MANILA (UPI) — A fire destroyed the Aguinaldo Echague department store here Tuesday night, causing damage estimated at one million dollars. Police said there were no casualties. Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Dirty scrub cloths and work clothes can go in with your regular machine laundry load if you soak them first in hot suds, and rinse.

A tomato will keep better if it is dropped into hot water for a few minutes before being stored in the refrigerator. This also makes peeling easier.

Reverse the position of rugs every couple of months in order to distribute wear more evenly.

Bumper 1960 Crops Boost Surpluses

By BERNARD BRENNER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's farmers in 1960 smashed all previous production records, and surpluses of wheat and corn piled higher and higher in government bins.

For consumers, the rising volume of farm production and a slight drop in average farm prices helped offset some of the effect of another round of small increases in food marketing costs. Agriculture Department reports showed retail food prices from July through September were up about 1 per cent over the same period in 1959.

Experts who had predicted farm income would tumble again in '60, following a 15 per cent drop in 1959, were fooled. Farm prices for the first nine months of 1960 were 2 per cent below 1959, and the gap was narrowing in the final months of the year. Net farm income for 1960 was expected to be equal to or slightly above the $11.3 billion of 1959, with little change forecast for 1961.

Net farm income in 1953, first of the Eisenhower administration years, was $13.9 billion.

Agriculture Department estimates for 1960 indicate crop production will be up about 2.5 per cent from 1959 and livestock production down about 1 per cent. Overall, farm output will be up to a new record, about 29 per cent above the volume farmers turned out only a deacde ago.

The big crops in 1960, harvested from a steadily-shrinking number of farms, again boosted the government's investment in surpluses piled up under price support programs.

In mid-summer the Agriculture Department owned or had made loans on $8.8 billion worth of crops that nobody else wanted to buy at the moment. By next summer, this total is expected to be somewhere between $9.5-$10 billion, largely because of a steady increase in surpluses of wheat and corn.

Cotton surpluses, which have been dropping since 1956, shrank again in 1960. By next summer, the cotton carry-over will be down below 7 million bales—less than half the amount on hand in 1956. But the wheat stockpile by next summer will be up to 1.5 billion bushels, more than enough to meet all domestic and export demand for a year—even if farmers destroyed the entire 1961 crop. The corn surplus, boosted by an all-time record harvest of nearly 4.4 billion bushels in 1960, will be up in '61 to about 2 billion bushels.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, winding up eight years in one of the cabinet's hottest seats, tried again in 1960 to persuade the Democratic Congress to solve the wheat surplus problem his way—by granting authority for lower support prices and relaxing or eliminating federal production controls. But Democrats who favor higher supports and tighter controls rejected Benson's proposals again. The result was another deadlock and no action.

Sources close to President-elect John F. Kennedy have indicated that one of his early moves in 1961 will be aimed at getting new legislation to curb the wheat surplus. Kennedy was elected on a platform pledging the new administration to boost farm income and to favor cutbacks in production when farmers themselves are willing to accept stiffer controls.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

The successful player must not only see to it that his own choice of bids and plays is always proper, but must at times save his partner from indiscretions committed in the defense of a hand. An interesting case in point is recorded today.

Against the four heart contract, West made the normal opening of the jack of spades, which turned out to be unfortunate. The less attractive appearing lead of a club would have settled the issue then and there. The jack of spades was covered by the queen, king, and ace. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps and then played a spade to the nine. This was taken with the ten and the shift was to the three of clubs, taken by the ace in dummy. A heart was led to the closed hand and a club was discarded on the eight of spades. Declarer exited with a club. This was taken with the jack and the king of clubs continued, to force dummy into the lead.

Declarer then decided to lead the jack of diamonds. Had East elected to win with the ace and exit with a low diamond, declarer would have been obliged to lose another trick in the suit. But East actually played the queen, for some reason or other, and declarer won with the king. Had West retained his ten of diamonds, the contract would have been fulfilled, since he would have been obliged to win the next trick in that suit with no safe exit. The lead of either a club or a spade would provide declarer with a ruff and a discard. On the king of diamonds, however, the ten was jettisoned by West and East was able to win the next two tricks with the ace and the eight.

East Favored On Saturday

West Expected To Go To Air

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When you face a pair of defensive tackles weighing 240 and 245 pounds, a good idea is to go around or over them.

So you can expect the West squad to sweep the ends and do a lot of passing on Saturday against the behemoths of the East anchored by 240-pound Joe Rutgens of Illinois and 245-pound Ken Rice of Auburn.

Both were No. 1 pro draft choices, proving they have agility as well as heft which complicates the job of the West's Coach Billy Barnes.

He worked his squad in secret Wednesday putting in "some new wrinkles for the offense."

Fans in Kezar Stadium, home of the San Francisco professionals, could well see a collegiate all-star version of the spread formation the 49ers put to good use late in their campaign.

The weatherman was expected to cooperate with the underdog West's wide open offense since he forecast no rain for the rest of the week.

In the passing department, Barnes has quarterback Bill Kilmer from UCLA and Rich Mayo of the Air Force. In addition, halfback Keith Lincoln from Washington State has been ever dangerous both running and passing.

Aiming for even more speed in the backfield, Barnes moved halfback Jerry Hill of Wyoming from halfback to fullback.

Seattle Victor Over Washington State

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) —Seattle's Chieftains, capitalizing on a fast break offense and a ball hawking defense, defeated Washington State, 72-61, in the opening game of the eight-team Far West basketball classic Wednesday.

Four Chieftains scored in double figures as they topped Washington State. Eddie Miles, a 6-4 sophomore forward, had 19, Dave Mills added 12 and Tommy Shaules and Richie Brennan each had 11.

Xavier Whips Yale, 72 To 39

DETROIT (UPI) —Xavier's Musketeers, operating a zone with deadly skill, gave bewildered Yale a convincing lesson Wednesday night and merrily romped to a 72-39 victory in the Motor City Tournament's consolation game.

Xavier held a 40-17 halftime advantage and continued to roll it up after the intermission.

Bill Kirvin led the way for Xavier with 16 points and Frank Pinchback contributed 13. Bill Madden was high for Yale with 12. Xavier's record is now 6-3, and Yale's is 3-4.

Duke, Deacons, Clemson Lead In ACC Shooting

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Unbeaten Duke, Wake Forest and Clemson are the Atlantic Coast Conference's early shootin' deadeyes, with the Blue Devils No. 1 from the floor with an average of 45.9 per cent. Wake Forest has hit 45.8 per cent, Clemson 45.7 per cent.

Maryland's Terps, once-defeated, top the conference in free throw shooting at 78.0 per cent, and also in defense with an average yield of 59.8 points.

N.C. State is No. in the ACC in scoring at 79.4 points a game, and also in average margin over the opposition, 9.9 points a game.

South Carolina, second in free throw accuracy at 71.9 per cent, is first in team reboundings with 52.6 recoveries a game.

North Carolina is second in average margin over the opposition, 8.9 points a game.

Arizona State Upsets Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Fired-up Arizona State of Tempe upset Oregon, 54-53, in the opening round of the Far West basketball classic Wednesday.

A free throw by 5-10 guard Rex Dernovich put Arizona State ahead 54-52 with 2:36 remaining to give the Sun Devils their victory margin.

Fire Destroys Store

MANILA (UPI) — A fire destroyed the Aguinaldo Echague department store here Tuesday night, causing damage estimated at one million dollars. Police said there were no casualties. Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Dirty scrub cloths and work clothes can go in with your regular machine laundry load if you soak them first in hot suds, and rinse.

A tomato will keep better if it is dropped into hot water for a few minutes before being stored in the refrigerator. This also makes peeling easier.

Reverse the position of rugs every couple of months in order to distribute wear more evenly.

Local Jug Store Robbed By 2 Men

$134 Taken While Woman Clerk Is Held At Gunpoint

City police last night were investigating an armed robbery reported by a local store clerk who said two young men took $134.56 from the business establishment.

Mrs. Louise Emerick, 510 Patterson Avenue, clerk at Barton's J&K Jug Store, corner of North Centre and Valley streets, told city police she was alone in the store at 7:56 p. m. when the two men entered.

Description Scanty

She said one of them held a gun on her and told her to sit in a chair behind a cooler in the store.

Meanwhile, the young man's companion helped himself to the money in the cash register, she said.

There were no customers in the store at the time of the robbery.

After the two men took the money they told the store clerk to remain seated for five minutes until they got away.

Police were unable to get a full description of the two men, reportedly in their 20s. Officer Clarence Valentine, who made the initial investigation, said one of the men was dressed in dark clothing and a cap.

The other man, he said, had on a short grey coat, black hat, and had dark hair and a dark complexion. The police officer said it is believed the two men escaped in an automobile.

Mode Of Travel Checked

Early last night they checked out any possibility the men may have fled from the area on foot. Maryland State Police were notified and given a partial description of the two men.

At least one automobile was being checked out last night by police, who said the two men are of medium build.

Soon after the two men left the store, the clerk telephoned local police. Assisting Officer Valentine with the initial investigation were Sgt. Robert Gilpin and Officer Donald Davis.

Baptist Rally January 2, 3 In Baltimore

Local Ministers Plan To Attend

Local and area Baptist ministers are planning to join ministers throughout Maryland to rally for their annual conference on evangelism at Seventh Baptist Church, North Avenue at St. Paul Street, Baltimore on January 2 and 3.

They include Rev. Archie McIntyre Jr., pastor of Second Baptist Church here, who will be on the program; Rev. W. Randolph Keefe Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church; Rev. T. Clifton Johnson, First Baptist; Rev. Luman Evans, pastor of Christ Memorial Baptist Church, Westernport; Rev. Henry G. Laube, pastor of First Baptist Church in Westernport; and Rev. Dallas Evans, pastor of the Keyser Baptist Church.

Rev. Mr. McIntyre is chairman of the evangelistic committee for the Western Baptist Association and secretary of the Pastor's Conference in Maryland. Rev. Mr. Evans is missionary for the association.

The ministers, laymen and women of the churches will listen to sermons and take part in discussions on how to add new converts to the churches in 1961. A goal of 3,850 baptisms in churches of the Baptist Convention of Maryland has been set for next year.

Three out-of-state speakers will include Rev. Dr. C. E. Autrey, secretary of evangelism of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, Dallas, Texas; Rev. Dr. Robert E. Naylor, president of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Tex.; and Rev. Dr. Jess C. Moody, pastor of First Baptist Church, Owensboro, Ky.

Rev. Dr. Roy D. Gresham of Baltimore will preside. He is executive secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Baptist State Mission Board. Music will be directed by Roderick Thompson, minister of music of the Seventh Baptist Church.

Several Maryland Baptist pastors and denominational workers are on the program. Sessions will be held at 7 p. m. Monday and at 9:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. Tuesday.

River Compact Case Argued Before Court

No Immediate Decision In Sight

By L. BUDD THALMAN

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arguments on the validity of Maryland's controversial Potomac River Compact with Virginia dragged through five hours in Baltimore Circuit Court Monday without any decision being reached.

Hyman A. Pressman, attorney for Southern Maryland watermen who oppose the pact, argued on his motion for a summary judgment and Joseph S. Kaufman, assistant attorney general, argued in favor of a similar motion by the state.

The arguments, before Judge Anselm Sodaro, will continue Thursday at 10 a. m.

Challenges Pact

Pressman has challenged the Nov. 8 compact referendum on the grounds that it was improperly advertised. He also maintains certain provisions of the compact are unconstitutional.

The compact, which would set up a bi-state commission for the regulation of fishing in the border river, replaces a 1785 pact which was declared void by the Maryland Legislature in 1958. It was drawn up by a commission of five Marylanders and five Virginians and approved by both legislatures.

Petitioned onto the ballot by Southern Maryland watermen, it was approved by some 40,000 votes in the referendum. Should it survive this court test, it still requires congressional approval and the signature of the President.

Questions Compliance

Pressman charged the state had "failed miserably to substantially comply" with the advertising provisions of the law which required the text of the compact to appear at least once in two or more newspapers in the counties and in all daily newspapers in Baltimore City.

Pressman said of 50 papers in which the text should have been printed, it appeared only in the Baltimore Sun of Oct. 5.

"The question is whether publication in one Baltimore City newspaper and no county papers amounts to substantial compliance," Pressman said.

The attorney said this amounted to only "about two per cent compliance."

He stressed that the courts have never approved such minimum compliance as "substantial compliance."

"I would like to stress that in this case we have more than failure to inform . . . The evidence will show the voters were misinformed by an official of the state" Pressman said.

Cites Letter

Pressman said he referred to a letter addressed to watermen from Dr. H. C. Byrd, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, urging support of the compact.

Pressman said Byrd's claim that the compact covered nothing but fishing rights was "a misstatement backed up by the governor."

Pressman said the compact was unconstitutional because it:

1. Authorizes a joint commission of Maryland and Virginia to police the conduct of Marylanders on the Maryland-owned river.

2. Empowers Virginia courts to try Marylanders for commission of crimes on the river.

3. Has a faulty title failing to meet constitutional requirements.

4. Abdicates the Maryland Legislature's power to pass further legislation with regard to the Potomac River after Dec. 1, 1958.

5. Delegates to the joint commission the legislative power to change maximum punishments for offenses on the Maryland-owned river.

6. Attempts to usurp the power of future legislatures by illegally binding them to make an annual appropriation of $50 000 for improvements in the river.

Cites Popular Will

Kaufman, after a short summary of the historic and legal background of the compact, urged that the court should "not defraud 449,000 voters of this state who voted for or against the compact."

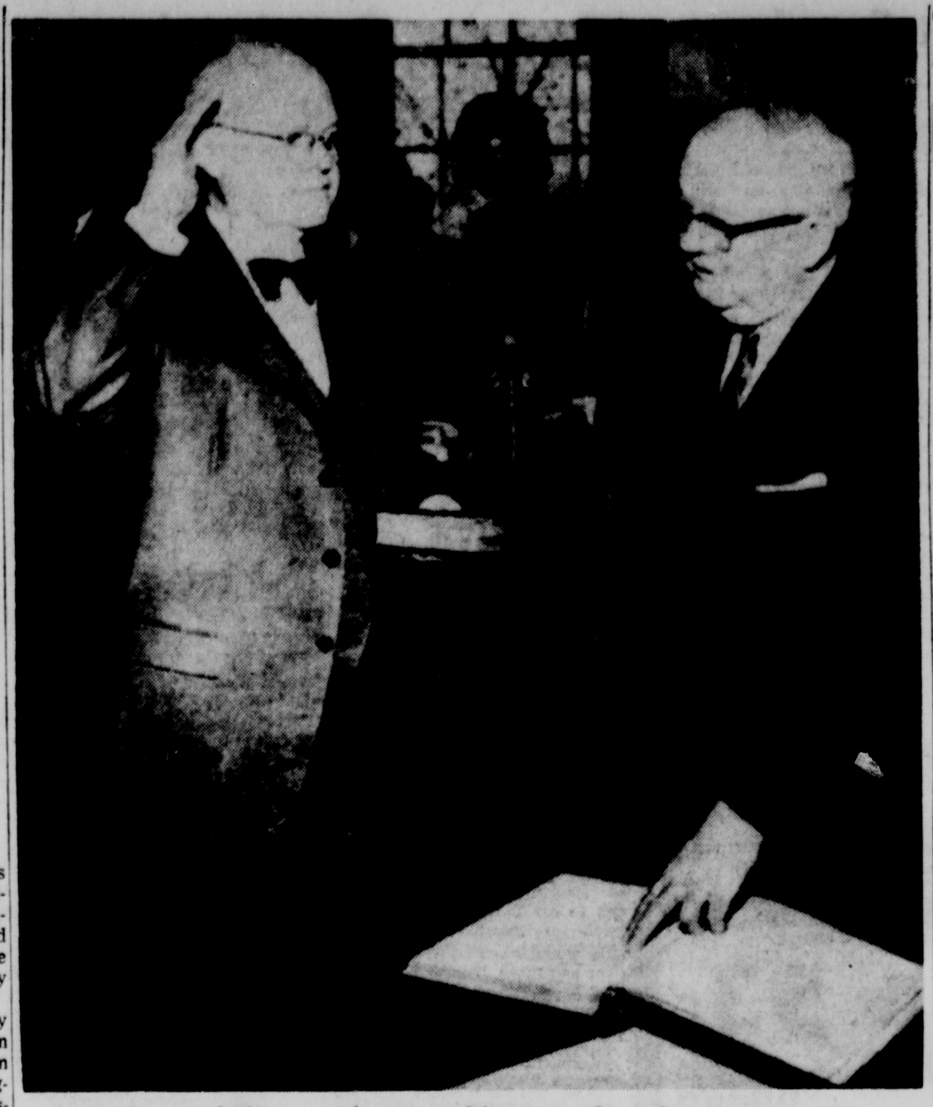

"We consider this beating a dead horse," Kaufman said.

He pointed out that of 16 questions on the Nov. 8 ballot, the compact vote was surpassed only by two others — both dealing with farm assessments.

The size of the vote itself indicates a full and free expression of the popular will," Kaufman said.

Kaufman said the referendum had received considerable public-

Baltimore Pike Firemen, Allied Groups Elect

Donald Ware Heads Company Next Year

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company, its ladies auxiliary and the Teen-Age Firettes, a junior fire company organization, have elected new officers.

Donald Ware will be president of the company for the next year, succeeding Carl Mallow, who served two terms and did not seek re-election. Mr. Mallow became secretary.

Other officers are Leo Ruppert, vice president; Robert Shubert, financial secretary; Delbert Gable, treasurer; Calvin Athey, one-year trustee; Leo Ruppert, two-year trustee, and Kenneth Donahoe, three-year trustee.

Chief Harry DeHaven was re-elected to his 11th term as fire chief. Edwin Gnegy was elected first assistant chief; Kenneth Michael, second assistant; Dewey Smith, sergeant at arms, and Roy Gross and James Michael, patrolmen.

Delegates to the convention of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will be James Michael, Orville Fier, Carl Mallow, Donald Ware and Edwin Gnegy. Alternates are Harry DeHaven, Delbert Gable, Leo Ruppert, Kenneth Michael and Frank Heavner.

Mrs. Betty Mallow has been elected president of the company's auxiliary. Mrs. Velma Gnegy will be vice president, Mrs. Catherine Ware, secretary; Mrs. Betty Roche, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Rice, financial secretary, and Mrs. James Michael, chaplain and sunshine chairman; Mrs. LaVern Ruppert, Mrs. Leona Rice and Mrs. Lola Michael, flag bearers.

The fire company and auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers at the Moose Home in Cumberland Saturday, January 28, at 7 p. m.

The Teen-Age Firettes Tuesday night elected Teddy Clayton president, Mary Rice vice president, Sharon Gnegy, secretary, Eugene Bridges treasurer, Barbara Donahoe, chaplain, and Eileen Donahoe, sunshine girl. Adult advisors, chosen subject to approval by the fire company, are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware, Mrs. Leo Ruppert and Hillary Donahoe. Assistants are Mrs. George Donahoe and Gerald Michael.

Installation of Firettes officers will take place at the fire hall at a date to be determined.

One Acid Victim 'Fair', Other 'Good'

Homer R. Foster, 30, of Bedford Road, who was injured in an industrial accident Tuesday at Works Seven of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, was reported in "fair" condition last night at Memorial Hospital.

Killed in the accident was Harold Lee (Ronnie) Albera, 23, of Braeburn, Pa., who died as a result of breathing fumes of deadly acid.

Another man also was injured in the accident and was admitted to the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

He is George T. Barker, 34, of RFD 1, Sarver, who suffered hydrofluoric acid burns of the forearms and legs. He was reported in "good" condition last night.

Mr. Foster was severely burned about the eyes and face.

Chamber Analyzes Plan To Change Idle Pay Law

An analysis of proposed changes in Maryland's unemployment compensation laws has been mailed to members by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The report was prepared after studies by the Chamber's Legislative committee and a meeting with the Legislative Council, which is sponsoring the proposed legislation.

The position of the Chamber on the seven proposals follows:

Proposal No. 1: Second round of benefits, adds Sec. 4 (f) to prevent a claimant who has drawn 26 weeks of benefits from one employment from drawing another round of 26 weeks from this same employment. This situation can now occur.

Proposal No. 2: Waiting period for benefits, adds Sec. 4 (g) to provide that all claimants must wait one week before drawing any benefits. Now benefits are payable at once, without any waiting period.

Proposal No. 3: Pension payments, workmen's compensation benefits, adds Section 6 (h) and (i) to disqualify or reduce benefits, to eligible claimants who also receive pension payments, workmen's compensation or certain other payments.

The Chamber said it felt the first three proposals should be supported by businessmen throughout the state.

Proposal No. 4: Maximum weekly benefit amount, amends Sec. 3 (b) (1) to increase the present maximum of $35 to $38.

The Chamber's comment: "It is our estimate that the increase of $3 in the present payments will cost the fund approximately 4½ million dollars per year. The problem of unemployment compensation today is the solvency of the fund. Any step to increase benefits would seem inconsistent."

Proposal No. 5: Payments for dependents, amends Sec. 3 (c) to limit payments to claimants for dependents to those dependents for whom the claimant furnishes their chief support.

Comment: "There is no justification for making these payments based on the number of dependents which the claimant has. It is our opinion therefore, that dependency payments should be eliminated entirely. In any event, administration of this amendment would be extremely difficult, if not impossible. Administrative costs are also paid directly by the employers through F. U. C. F."

Proposal No. 6: Disqualifications for voluntary quits, misconduct, failure to accept work, amends Sections 6 (a), (c) and (d) to provide that claimants in these cases must become re-employed and earn 10 times their weekly benefit amount before any benefits are payable. Now the claimant is penalized a total of one to 10 weeks, after which

Man Is Sentenced For Non-Support

William P. Adams of Fort Ashby, W. Va., was sentenced to 90 days in the County Jail Tuesday in Juvenile Court on a non-support charge.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found Adams guilty of non-support of his wife and four minor children who reside in Cumberland.

Magistrate Fatkin said the jail term would be suspended on condition Adams post a $500 performance bond within 10 days.

Cloudy And Cold Forecast Today

Mostly cloudy skies and cold temperatures with highs in the low or mid-30s and a chance of light snow this afternoon or tonight is the weather forecast for today.

The unofficial temperature here last night was about 30 degrees. No snow was reported falling in the area. State Police at Bedford said the weather in that area was fairly nice. Everett reported it was cold and a little windy.

'Dear Crossings' Protect Students

Not one Miami child was hurt crossing a school zone street in the last year, following a major shift in the city's protection system, according to the Maryland Municipal News.

Traffic lights that are turned red by pedestrians have replaced crossing guards and signs saying "Dear Crossing" have been installed instead of 15-miles-per-hour speed warnings. The whole crosswalk, signs and signal lights are painted fluorescent red-orange with a glow visible for 600 feet.

January Docket Will Be Called

The January docket for Allegany County Circuit Court will be called at 10 a.m. Tuesday, January 3, according to Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

This is the second year that the January term will be a non-jury term. That means that no grand jury is impaneled to investigate crime and no new petit jurors are summoned. The October petit jurors remain on call until the April term of court.

Ridgeley Infant Injures Hand

Steven M. Jack, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Jack, 8 Silver Street, Ridgeley, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night with a bad laceration of his right hand.

The hospital said the youngster was injured when he caught his hand between a door and the frame of the house.

Flat Rate Customers Dwindling

The Water Department will just about be out of the flat rate business by the end of the week.

The department last week sent letters to some 175 flat rate customers, notifying them that arrangements for meter installations must be made by January 1.

James F. Twigg, chief clerk, said the department has sold 25 meters this week and that another 25 customers have made arrangements for the installations.

He estimated there are less than 100 customers who have made no arrangements for getting meters.

Customers who have not made arrangements for meters by January 1 face a possible penalty charge and a contemplated boost in the charge for meters from $30 to $43.

The Water Department had about 830 flat rate customers last July, when a new rate schedule banned such service after January 1.

The department has been discouraging the flat rate plan for a number of years in the interest of water conservation.

Customers who make arrangements for meters are being placed on the lower meter rates immediately. It will take several months to install all of the new meters.

Church Will Honor Youth

College students and servicemen who are home for the holidays will be given a special recognition Sunday during the 11 a.m. service at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

A book entitled "The Student at Prayer," will be presented to the following students, Terry Broadwater, Marian Ferguson, Robert Funk, Lois Glessner, Joy Laber, Carla Sue Long, Martin W. Johnson.

Patricia McGill, Thomas Ramsey, James Richardson, Mrs. Janice Stank, Kitty Sindy and Irvin Ullery.

The servicemen who will receive a book are Dale W. Broadwater, G. N. Dawson, Z. T. Dawson, Jack Lee Holler, Donnelly L. Kidwell.

Gary J. McKenzie, Robert J. Norris, Richard I. Phillips, Melvin B. Riffey, Spates Robyler, James Shirey and Edward E. Ullery.

Aboard Destroyer

Robert A. Judy, machinist's mate 3C, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac N. Judy of 309 Pulaski Street, was aboard the destroyer USS McGowan when she was turned over to the Spanish Navy this month in Barcelona as part of the U. S. Mutual Defense Assistance Program to that nation.

Building Trades Council Gets New Charter

The Cumberland Building and Construction Trades Council yesterday received a new charter.

The charter, dated December 9, will be formally presented at a meeting of the council January 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

The council is composed of AFL-CIO craft unions in Allegany and Garrett counties, and the charter includes eight locals:

Iron Workers Local 568, Electrical Local 307, Plasterers and Cement Finishers Local 296, Operating Engineers Local 37.

Carpenters Local 1024, Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 489, Painters Local 947 and Roofers Local 34.

It will be the third charter issued to the council. The original document was issued in the 1920's and a new charter was drawn up in 1939.

4-H Older Youth Yule Party Set

The annual Christmas party sponsored by the 4-H Older Youth of Allegany County will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

James Heavner and Patty King, co-chairmen of the party said there will be square dancing and refreshments for the boys and girls.

Sailor Promoted

Walter H. Waugaman Jr., aviation fire control technician 3C, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Waugaman, 117 Harrison Street, was promoted to his present rate while serving with Heavy Photographic Squadron 62 at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla.

2 Feared Dead In Mine Blast

Rescuers Trying To Reach Men Trapped Underground

Two young coal miners from the Newburg, W. Va. area were trapped 1,600 feet from the surface yesterday morning when a gas explosion rocked a small coal mine near Newburg.

Sheriff C. S. Harriman of Preston County, identified the two miners as Truman Burke and James Tarleton, both about 24 years old.

The sheriff said both men are presumed dead, but rescue operations were still being continued late last night in an effort to reach the entombed miners.

The explosion occurred about 8:30 a.m. in a small mining operation owned by Sanford Phillips, who also resides in the Newburg section.

Mr. Phillips told authorities he had just left the mine entrance with a cart full of coal when he heard the explosion.

"Like A Gust Of Wind"

The mine owner stated the explosion sounded more like a "gust of wind" than a blast. Coal dust was thrown out from the mine entrance onto the snow for a distance of 300 feet.

The blast, which is believed to have been touched off when accumulated gas ignited, also moved several tons of earth above the mine entrance and melted much of the snow on the ground in the area close to the mine.

The mine is located half a mile off Route 92, about five miles north of Newburg, and is one of the small coal operations in that section.

Mr. Phillips told authorities coal in the mine had been cut last Friday, but removal operations were not started until this morning because of the holiday.

West Virginia state mine inspectors, who had been at the scene of the explosion all day, feared both of the two young miners were dead. They reported the inside of the mine shaft was fairly clear, although the explosion had ripped and buckled rails in the shaft.

Rescue Teams Working

Sheriff Harriman said rescue teams reached within about 100 feet from where the men were working, but were hampered considerably by the gas fumes caused by the blast.

Rescue teams from Morgantown, W. Va., reached the scene last night with self-contained breathing apparatus and had gone into the mine in an effort to reach the miners.

It was reported that there was no fire or electricity being used in the mine at the time of the blast and that the two miners were using safety lamps while they worked.

Rescue workers also reported they had recovered a lunch bucket and coat belonging to the trapped miners.

Several troopers from the West Virginia State Police detachment also were at the mine in effort to keep spectators from the accident scene.

Local Bakery Owner Dies

Garland McClure Paxton, 58, owner and operator of Packie's Bakery in South Cumberland, died yesterday in Allegany County Infirmary.

Mr. Paxton, who had been in ill health for eight months, resided at 7 Linda Way in LaVale.

Mr. Paxton had been in the bakery business here for 28 years, and also operated a store on Greene Street.

A native of Cumberland, he was a son of the late Amon M. and Helen (Frantz) Paxton. His wife, Jeannette (Symons) Paxton, died in July.

Mr. Paxton was a member of Potomac Park Evangelical United Brethren Church and of Lodge 63, BPO Elks.

Surviving are two children, Mrs. Nancy McGettigan, LaVale, and Gerald E. Paxton, Potomac Park; two brothers, Carl, Pittsburgh, and William Paxton, LaVale, and five grandchildren.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

WVU Prepares For 94th Anniversary

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia University's 94th anniversary will be observed with more than 200 functions around the state, and elsewhere, next February.

A spokesman said Wednesday President Elvis J. Stahr would address at least three of the birthday celebrations, on Feb. 3 at Gary, Feb. 11 at Charles Town and Feb. 12 at Blackwater Falls State Park.

The anniversary date is Feb. 7. On that day in 1867, the legislature established the Agriculture College of West Virginia. The following year the name was changed to West Virginia University.

Shooting Match Is Canceled

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company will not hold its regular Friday evening shooting match this week because of the holidays.

The next match will be held at 7:30 p. m. January 6.

Trial Is Set Next Week In Local Entry

Clark And Miller Face Charges

Two young men will be tried next week in Allegany County Circuit Court on charges of breaking and entering of the Hirsch Brothers building on Cumberland Street December 19.

The men, William A. Clark, 27, of 498 Goethe Street, and Frederick C. Miller, 23, Bowman's Addition, are being held in the County Jail in default of $500 bond each.

The two men were given a preliminary hearing December 22 in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who ordered them held for the April term of the grand jury.

However, Clark and Miller requested an immediate trial and Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason filed criminal information against the two men yesterday in court here.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris scheduled the trial for Friday, January 6 and appointed Miller Bowen, local attorney, to represent the two men.

City Police arrested the men December 21 and after being questioned they admitted breaking into the building and attempting to break into the safe.

Taxpayers To Get Credit For Holidays

A City Finance Department ruling made yesterday extends for three days the time in which citizens can pay their tax bills and escape a service charge.

The ruling was announced by Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder.

Mrs. Roeder said the tax office was closed a day and a half for the Christmas holiday and will be closed under the same schedule for the New Year holiday.

She said it is only fair that taxpayers should be given a three-day extension in the time for paying bills.

Final notices, listing the amount of delinquent taxes owed, are sent out by January 1, and a 50-cent fee is charged to meet the cost of preparing and mailing the notices.

The extension means that any citizens who pay their taxes on or before January 6 will be excused from paying the final notice service charge.

Tax collections, Mrs. Roeder said, have been very good.

On November 30, the City of Cumberland had collected $1,128,363.38, or 90.5 per cent of its tax levy.

Part of the $118,636.62 still to come in is represented by taxes on the personal property of corporations, which cannot be billed until assessments are certified by the State Tax Department.

Boys On Probation For Entry, Theft

Two local teen-agers who were arrested earlier this week by City Police in connection with the theft of $35 from a local man were placed on continued probation yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin said the man from whom the money was taken, John Alderton, 407 Pulaski Street, did not wish to press charges against the youths and the money which was stolen had been recovered.

City Police picked up the two boys, aged 15 and 17, on Monday and released them to the custody of their parents to await the hearing.

The money was taken from a bedroom in the Alderton residence last weekend.

Gets Trailer Permit

William Thompson, RD 5, city, has been issued a permit to locate a 45-foot house trailer at Hersh's Trailer Court in Cresaptown. The permit was issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Rev. Dr. Roy D. Gresham of Baltimore will preside. He is executive secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Baptist State Mission Board. Music will be directed by Roderick Thompson, minister of music of the Seventh Baptist Church.

Several Maryland Baptist pastors and denominational workers are on the program. Sessions will be held at 7 p. m. Monday and at 9:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. Tuesday.

River Compact Case Argued Before Court

No Immediate Decision In Sight

By L. BUDD THALMAN

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arguments on the validity of Maryland's controversial Potomac River Compact with Virginia dragged through five hours in Baltimore Circuit Court Monday without any decision being reached.

Hyman A. Pressman, attorney for Southern Maryland watermen who oppose the pact, argued on his motion for a summary judgment and Joseph S. Kaufman, assistant attorney general, argued in favor of a similar motion by the state.

The arguments, before Judge Anselm Sodaro, will continue Thursday at 10 a. m.

Challenges Pact

Pressman has challenged the Nov. 8 compact referendum on the grounds that it was improperly advertised. He also maintains certain provisions of the compact are unconstitutional.

The compact, which would set up a bi-state commission for the regulation of fishing in the border river, replaces a 1785 pact which was declared void by the Maryland Legislature in 1958. It was drawn up by a commission of five Marylanders and five Virginians and approved by both legislatures.

Petitioned onto the ballot by Southern Maryland watermen, it was approved by some 40,000 votes in the referendum. Should it survive this court test, it still requires congressional approval and the signature of the President.

Questions Compliance

Pressman charged the state had "failed miserably to substantially comply" with the advertising provisions of the law which required the text of the compact to appear at least once in two or more newspapers in the counties and in all daily newspapers in Baltimore City.

Pressman said of 50 papers in which the text should have been printed, it appeared only in the Baltimore Sun of Oct. 5.

"The question is whether publication in one Baltimore City newspaper and no county papers amounts to substantial compliance," Pressman said.

The attorney said this amounted to only "about two per cent compliance."

He stressed that the courts have never approved such minimum compliance as "substantial compliance."

"I would like to stress that in this case we have more than failure to inform . . . The evidence will show the voters were misinformed by an official of the state" Pressman said.

Cites Letter

Pressman said he referred to a letter addressed to watermen from Dr. H. C. Byrd, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, urging support of the compact.

Pressman said Byrd's claim that the compact covered nothing but fishing rights was "a misstatement backed up by the governor."

Pressman said the compact was unconstitutional because it:

1. Authorizes a joint commission of Maryland and Virginia to police the conduct of Marylanders on the Maryland-owned river.
2. Empowers Virginia courts to try Marylanders for commission of crimes on the river.
3. Has a faulty title failing to meet constitutional requirements.
4. Abdicates the Maryland Legislature's power to pass further legislation with regard to the Potomac River after Dec. 1, 1958.
5. Delegates to the joint commission the legislative power to change maximum punishments for offenses on the Maryland-owned river.
6. Attempts to usurp the power of future legislatures by illegally binding them to make an annual appropriation of $50,000 for improvements in the river.

Cites Popular Will

Kaufman, after a short summary of the historic and legal background of the compact, urged that the court should "not defraud 449,000 voters of this state who voted for or against the compact."

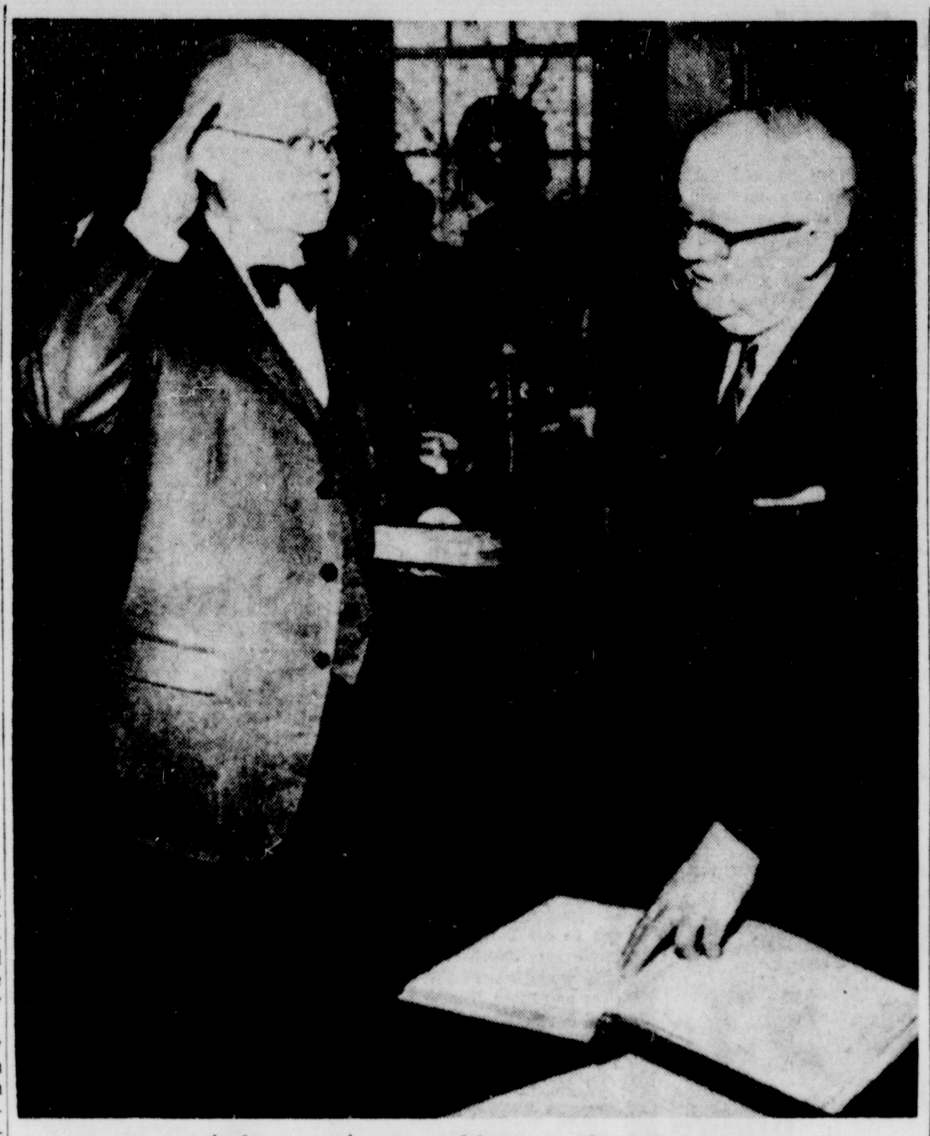

"We consider this beating a dead horse," Kaufman said.

He pointed out that of 16 questions on the Nov. 8 ballot, the compact vote was surpassed only by two others — both dealing with farm assessments.

The size of the vote itself indicates a full and free expression of the popular will," Kaufman said.

Kaufman said the referendum had received considerable public-

New Appellate Judge

Judge Charles C. Marbury, left, was sworn in by Governor J. Millard Tawes yesterday as a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals. The ceremony in the governor's reception room at Annapolis was witnessed by 75 to 100 friends of Judge Marbury, who has been on the Prince Georges County Circuit Court bench since 1941. He will begin service on the state's highest court immediately. (AP Photofax)

Baltimore Pike Firemen, Allied Groups Elect

Donald Ware Heads Company Next Year

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company, its ladies auxiliary and the Teen-Age Firettes, a junior fire company organization, have elected new officers.

Donald Ware will be president of the company for the next year, succeeding Carl Mallow, who served two terms and did not seek re-election. Mr. Mallow became secretary.

Other officers are Leo Ruppert, vice president; Robert Shubert, financial secretary; Delbert Gable, treasurer; Calvin Athey, one-year trustee; Leo Ruppert, two-year trustee, and Kenneth Donahoe, three-year trustee.

Chief Harry DeHaven was re-elected to his 11th term as fire chief. Edwin Gnegy was elected first assistant chief; Kenneth Michael, second assistant; Dewey Smith, sergeant at arms, and Roy Gross and James Michael, patrolmen.

Delegates to the convention of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will be James Michael, Orville Fier, Carl Mallow, Donald Ware and Edwin Gnegy. Alternates are Harry DeHaven, Delbert Gable, Leo Ruppert, Kenneth Michael and Frank Heavner.

Mrs. Betty Mallow has been elected president of the company's auxiliary. Mrs. Velma Gnegy will be vice president, Mrs. Catherine Ware, secretary; Mrs. Betty Roche, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Rice, financial secretary, and Mrs. James Michael, chaplain and sunshine chairman; Mrs. LaVern Ruppert, Mrs. Leona Rice and Mrs. Lola Michael, flag bearers.

The fire company and auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers at the Moose Home in Cumberland Saturday, January 28, at 7 p. m.

The Teen-Age Firettes Tuesday night elected Teddy Clayton president, Mary Rice vice president, Sharon Gnegy, secretary, Eugene Bridges treasurer, Barbara Donahoe, chaplain, and Eileen Donahoe, sunshine girl. Adult advisors, chosen subject to approval by the fire company, are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware, Mrs. Leo Ruppert and Hillary Donahoe. Assistants are Mrs. George Donahoe and Gerald Michael.

Installation of Firettes officers will take place at the fire hall at a date to be determined.

Chamber Analyzes Plan To Change Idle Pay Law

An analysis of proposed changes in Maryland's unemployment compensation laws has been mailed to members by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The report was prepared after studies by the Chamber's Legislative committee and a meeting with the Legislative Council, which is sponsoring the proposed legislation.

The position of the Chamber on the seven proposals follows:

Proposal No. 1: Second round of benefits, adds Sec. 4 (f) to prevent a claimant who has drawn 26 weeks of benefits from one employment from drawing another round of 26 weeks from this same employment. This situation can now occur.

Proposal No. 2: Waiting period for benefits, adds Sec. 4 (g) to provide that all claimants must wait one week before drawing any benefits. Now benefits are payable at once, without any waiting period.

Proposal No. 3: Pension payments, workmen's compensation benefits, adds Section 6 (h) and (i) to disqualify or reduce benefits, to eligible claimants who also receive pension payments, workmen's compensation or certain other payments.

The Chamber said it felt the first three proposals should be supported by businessmen throughout the state.

Proposal No. 4: Maximum weekly benefit amount, amends Sec. 3 (b) (1) to increase the present maximum of $35 to $38.

The Chamber's comment: "It is our estimate that the increase of $3 in the present payments will cost the fund approximately 4½ million dollars per year. The problem of unemployment compensation today is the solvency of the fund. Any step to increase benefits would seem inconsistent."

Proposal No. 5: Payments for dependents, amends Sec. 3 (c) to limit payments to claimants for dependents to those dependents for whom the claimant furnishes their chief support.

Comment: "There is no justification for making these payments based on the number of dependents which the claimant has. It is our opinion therefore, that dependency payments should be eliminated entirely. In any event, administration of this amendment would be extremely difficult, if not impossible. Administrative costs are also paid directly by the employers through F. U. C. F."

Proposal No. 6: Disqualifications for voluntary quits, misconduct, failure to accept work, amends Sections 6 (a), (c) and (d) to provide that claimants in these cases must become re-employed and earn 10 times their weekly benefit amount before any benefits are payable. Now the claimant is penalized a total of one to 10 weeks, after which

2 Feared Dead In Mine Blast

Rescuers Trying To Reach Men Trapped Underground

Two young coal miners from the Newburg, W. Va. area were trapped 1,600 feet from the surface yesterday morning when a gas explosion rocked a small coal mine near Newburg.

Sheriff C. S. Harriman of Preston County, identified the two miners as Truman Burke and James Tarleton, both about 24 years old.

The sheriff said both men are presumed dead, but rescue operations were still being continued late last night in an effort to reach the entombed miners.

The explosion occurred about 8:30 a.m. in a small mining operation owned by Sanford Phillips, who also resides in the Newburg section.

Mr. Phillips told authorities he had just left the mine entrance with a cart full of coal when he heard the explosion.

"Like A Gust Of Wind"

The mine owner stated the explosion sounded more like a "gust of wind" than a blast. Coal dust was thrown out from the mine entrance onto the snow for a distance of 300 feet.

The blast, which is believed to have been touched off when accumulated gas ignited, also moved several tons of earth above the mine entrance and melted much of the snow on the ground in the area close to the mine.

The mine is located half a mile off Route 92, about five miles north of Newburg, and is one of the small coal operations in that section.

Mr. Phillips told authorities coal in the mine had been cut last Friday, but removal operations were not started until this morning because of the holiday.

West Virginia state mine inspectors, who had been at the scene of the explosion all day, feared both of the two young miners were dead. They reported the inside of the mine shaft was fairly clear, although the explosion had ripped and buckled rails in the shaft.

Rescue Teams Working

Sheriff Harriman said rescue teams reached within about 100 feet from where the men were working, but were hampered considerably by the gas fumes caused by the blast.

Rescue teams from Morgantown, W. Va., reached the scene last night with self-contained breathing apparatus and had gone into the mine in an effort to reach the miners.

It was reported that there was no fire or electricity being used in the mine at the time of the blast and that the two miners were using safety lamps while they worked.

Rescue workers also reported they had recovered a lunch bucket and coat belonging to the trapped miners.

Several troopers from the West Virginia State Police detachment also were at the mine in effort to keep spectators from the accident scene.

Trial Is Set Next Week In Local Entry

Clark And Miller Face Charges

Two young men will be tried next week in Allegany County Circuit Court on charges of breaking and entering of the Hirsch Brothers building on Cumberland Street December 19.

The men, William A. Clark, 27, of 498 Goethe Street, and Frederick C. Miller, 23, Bowman's Addition, are being held in the County Jail in default of $500 bond each.

The two men were given a preliminary hearing December 22 in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who ordered them held for the April term of the grand jury.

However, Clark and Miller requested an immediate trial and Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason filed criminal information against the two men yesterday in court here.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris scheduled the trial for Friday, January 6 and appointed Miller Bowen, local attorney, to represent the two men.

City Police arrested the men December 21 and after being questioned they admitted breaking into the building and attempting to break into the safe.

Taxpayers To Get Credit For Holidays

A City Finance Department ruling made yesterday extends for three days the time in which citizens can pay their tax bills and escape a service charge.

The ruling was announced by Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder.

Mrs. Roeder said the tax office was closed a day and a half for the Christmas holiday and will be closed under the same schedule for the New Year holiday.

She said it is only fair that taxpayers should be given a three-day extension in the time for paying bills.

Final notices, listing the amount of delinquent taxes owed, are sent out by January 1, and a 50-cent fee is charged to meet the cost of preparing and mailing the notices.

The extension means that any citizens who pay their taxes on or before January 6 will be excused from paying the final notice service charge.

Tax collections, Mrs. Roeder said, have been very good.

On November 30, the City of Cumberland had collected $1,128,363.38, or 90.5 per cent of its tax levy.

Part of the $118,636.62 still to come in is represented by taxes on the personal property of corporations, which cannot be billed until assessments are certified by the State Tax Department.

Boys On Probation For Entry, Theft

Two local teen-agers who were arrested earlier this week by City Police in connection with the theft of $35 from a local man were placed on continued probation yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin said the man from whom the money was taken, John Alderton, 407 Pulaski Street, did not wish to press charges against the youths and the money which was stolen had been recovered.

City Police picked up the two boys, aged 15 and 17, on Monday and released them to the custody of their parents to await the hearing.

The money was taken from a bedroom in the Alderton residence last weekend.

Gets Trailer Permit

William Thompson, RD 5, city, has been issued a permit to locate a 45-foot house trailer at Hersh's Trailer Court in Cresaptown. The permit was issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Flat Rate Customers Dwindling

The Water Department will just about be out of the flat rate business by the end of the week.

The department last week sent letters to some 175 flat rate customers, notifying them that arrangements for meter installations must be made by January 1.

James F. Twigg, chief clerk, said the department has sold 25 meters this week and that another 25 customers have made arrangements for the installations.

He estimated there are less than 100 customers who have made no arrangements for getting meters.

Customers who have not made arrangements for meters by January 1 face a possible penalty charge and a contemplated boost in the charge for meters from $30 to $43.

The Water Department had about 830 flat rate customers last July, when a new rate schedule banned such service after January 1.

The department has been discouraging the flat rate plan for a number of years in the interest of water conservation.

Customers who make arrangements for meters are being placed on the lower meter rates immediately. It will take several months to install all of the new meters.

Building Trades Council Gets New Charter

The Cumberland Building and Construction Trades Council yesterday received a new charter.

The charter, dated December 9, will be formally presented at a meeting of the council January 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

The council is composed of AFL-CIO craft unions in Allegany and Garrett counties, and the charter includes eight locals:

Iron Workers Local 568, Electrical Local 307, Plasterers and Cement Finishers Local 296, Operating Engineers Local 37.

Carpenters Local 1024, Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 489, Painters Local 947 and Roofers Local 34.

It will be the third charter issued to the council. The original document was issued in the 1920's and a new charter was drawn up in 1939.

4-H Older Youth Yule Party Set

The annual Christmas party sponsored by the 4-H Older Youth of Allegany County will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

James Heavner and Patty King, co-chairmen of the party said there will be square dancing and refreshments for the boys and girls.

Sailor Promoted

Walter H. Waugaman Jr., aviation fire control technician 3C, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Waugaman, 117 Harrison Street, was promoted to his present rate while serving with Heavy Photographic Squadron 62 at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian L. Knippenberg, 129 Race Street, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. James I. McNeill, RFD 1, Ridgeley, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lee Ritchey, Mt. Savage, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sampsell, 111 Pennsylvania Avenue, a son Tuesday.

Church Will Honor Youth

College students and servicemen who are home for the holidays will be given a special recognition Sunday during the 11 a.m. service at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

A book entitled "The Student at Prayer," will be presented to the following students, Terry Broadwater, Marian Ferguson, Robert Funk, Lois Glessner, Joy Laber, Carla Sue Long, Martin W. Johnson.

Patricia McGill, Thomas Ramsey, James Richardson, Mrs. Janice Stank, Kitty Sindy and Irvin Ullery.

The servicemen who will receive a book are Dale W. Broadwater, G. N. Dawson, Z. T. Dawson, Jack Lee Holler, Donnelly L. Kidwell.

Gary J. McKenzie, Robert J. Norris, Richard I. Phillips, Melvin B. Riffey, Spates Robyler, James Shirey and Edward E. Ullery.

Aboard Destroyer

Robert A. Judy, machinist's mate 3C, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac N. Judy of 309 Pulaski Street, was aboard the destroyer USS McGowan when she was turned over to the Spanish Navy this month in Barcelona as part of the U. S. Mutual Defense Assistance Program to that nation.

One Acid Victim 'Fair', Other 'Good'

Homer R. Foster, 30, of Bedford Road, who was injured in an industrial accident Tuesday at Works Seven of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, was reported in "fair" condition last night at Memorial Hospital.

Killed in the accident was Harold Lee (Ronnie) Albera, 23, of Braeburn, Pa., who died as a result of breathing fumes of deadly acid.

Another man also was injured in the accident and was admitted to the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

He is George T. Barker, 34, of RFD 1, Sarver, who suffered hydrofluoric acid burns of the forearms and legs. He was reported in "good" condition last night.

Mr. Foster was severely burned about the eyes and face.

Man Is Sentenced For Non-Support

William P. Adams of Fort Ashby, W. Va., was sentenced to 90 days in the County Jail Tuesday in Juvenile Court on a non-support charge.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found Adams guilty of non-support of his wife and four minor children who reside in Cumberland.

Magistrate Fatkin said the jail term would be suspended on condition Adams post a $500 performance bond within 10 days.

Cloudy And Cold Forecast Today

Mostly cloudy skies and cold temperatures with highs in the low or mid-30s and a chance of light snow this afternoon or tonight is the weather forecast for today.

The unofficial temperature here last night was about 30 degrees. No snow was reported falling in the area. State Police at Bedford said the weather in that area was fairly nice. Everett reported it was cold and a little windy.

'Dear Crossings' Protect Students

Not one Miami child was hurt crossing a school zone street in the last year, following a major shift in the city's protection system, according to the Maryland Municipal News.

Traffic lights that are turned red by pedestrians have replaced crossing guards and signs saying "Dear Crossing" have been installed instead of 15-miles-per-hour speed warnings. The whole crosswalk, signs and signal lights are painted fluorescent red-orange with a glow visible for 600 feet.

January Docket Will Be Called

The January docket for Allegany County Circuit Court will be called at 10 a.m. Tuesday, January 3, according to Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

This is the second year that the January term will be a non-jury term. That means that no grand jury is impaneled to investigate crime and no new petit jurors are summoned. The October petit jurors remain on call until the April term of court.

Ridgeley Infant Injures Hand

Steven M. Jack, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Jack, 8 Silver Street, Ridgeley, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night with a bad laceration of his right hand.

The hospital said the youngster was injured when he caught his hand between a door and the frame of the house.

Local Bakery Owner Dies

Garland McClure Paxton, 58, owner and operator of Packie's Bakery in South Cumberland, died yesterday in Allegany County Infirmary.

Mr. Paxton, who had been in ill health for eight months, resided at 7 Linda Way in LaVale.

Mr. Paxton had been in the bakery business here for 28 years, and also operated a store on Greene Street.

A native of Cumberland, he was a son of the late Amon M. and Helen (Frantz) Paxton. His wife, Jeannette (Symons) Paxton, died in July.

Mr. Paxton was a member of Potomac Park Evangelical United Brethren Church and of Lodge 63, BPO Elks.

Surviving are two children, Mrs. Nancy McGettigan, LaVale, and Gerald E. Paxton, Potomac Park; two brothers, Carl, Pittsburgh, and William Paxton, LaVale, and five grandchildren.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

WVU Prepares For 94th Anniversary

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia University's 94th anniversary will be observed with more than 200 functions around the state, and elsewhere, next February.

A spokesman said Wednesday President Elvis J. Stahr would address at least three of the birthday celebrations, on Feb. 3 at Gary, Feb. 11 at Charles Town and Feb. 12 at Blackwater Falls State Park.

The anniversary date is Feb. 7. On that day in 1867, the legislature established the Agriculture College of West Virginia. The following year the name was changed to West Virginia University.

Shooting Match Is Canceled

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company will not hold its regular Friday evening shooting match this week because of the holidays.

The next match will be held at 7:30 p. m. January 6.
